MATTERS POLITICAL.

Pointers for the Voters to Consider Carefully.

In the past ten days or two weeks the political situation in Baltimore city has been rapidly assuming a more favorable aspect for the Republican party, and to-day it is conceded by many of the most conservative judges that there will be a repetition of the campaign in 1895, when party lines were entirely forgotten and Democrats and Republicans alike combined to rescue the State from the hand of the grasping Gorman and Rasin Ring.

A large proportion of the better element of the sound money democrats under the leadership of Mr. Harry A. Parr, a prominent democratic business man, and a Committee of forty comprising such men as John K. Cowen of the B. & O. Railway, Mr. Wm. Cabell Bruce, former mer President of the State Senate, Mr. Wm. Keyser, Mr. Chas. D. Fisher, General Lawrason Riggs, Ex-U. S. District Attorney Wm. L. Marbury and many other leading and professional business men, have openly announced themselves for Governor Lowndes and the Republican ticket. Their following consist of a large and influential number of the independent vote of Baltimore City, which the Democrats have used every effort in their power to try and secure, and up to the time of Mr. Wm. Cabell Bruce's open letter in the News; giving in detail Col. Smith's unsuccessful attempts to frustrate all bills for good government introduced at Annapolis while they were brother Democrats in the Senate, they thought they had secured them with their suave promises of what they would do for the cause of a good government, which has always been a lest cause when the Democratic party was in power.

This was the first thorn in the side of the Democrats but the thorns have followed so fast and furious that many of the Democratic war heelers and bosses acknowledge that Baltimore City is hopely lost, and unless something unforseen happens, Governor Lowndes will carry Baltimore City by one of the largest majorities ever known in its history.

Around the Democratic Headquarters you will find nothing but long faces and the cry of every heeler and boss is, "We must have more money, or we are lost."

The Republican Party and the Farmer.

The Republican party in Maryland has proved itself by deed, not words, the sincere friend of the agricultural classes. From whatever point criticism may come during the present campaign surely no harsh word can justly be levelled at it from among the ranks of the farmers. They knew too well that no administration within their memory has done so well by them as that at the head of which is Lloyd Lowndes and even a tiller of the soil of Democratic proclivities, unless his spirit of fairness is dwarfed by the tensest partisanship, must hesitate before he speaks ill of it.

There was the re-assessment law, for years the unfulfilled pledge of the Democratic party, which the Republican lrgislature of 1896 among its first note placed on the Statute book. It is ample tribute to pay to this measure to say that it has made the reduction of the State tax rate from 17½ to 16 cents a matter that will probably be settled by the next General Assembly, provided it is Republican.

A Bureau of Immigration to develop and populate the untilled and uninhabited lands of the State, was an outgrowth of Republican legislation. What this Bureau has accomplished is evidenced by the honest and thrifty colonies of Dutch that have been planted in the lower courties of the Eastern Shore within the last few years.

Farmer's "Institutes" were established by the Legislature of 1896. Anyone who has attended these meetings need not be told that they accomplished the mission for which they were created—the interchange of opinion among agriculturists and practical talks on farming subjects by experts.

The Maryland Horticultural Department was created by a Republican Legislature. Here the aid of science is being constantly enlisted in making experiments of real worth to agriculturalists, especially with reference to the diseases of insects which play havoc among the crop.

This is the record of the Republican party with the farmers in its four years' of government in Maryland. Can the Democrats match it?

Mr. Ganns on Lowndes.

In speaking of the coming election Mr. Edgar A. Ganns, the well known Baltimore lawyer who for years has been one of the Democrats ablest speakers, pays Governor Lowndes the following tribute:

"I have known the politics of this State for some years, and I do not know of any State administration that will compare with the four years during which Governor Lowndes has been the head of our affairs.

"Every one knows of the great public laws which have been passed during that time, and every one ought to know of the most admirable administration of the State finances as shown in the dignified, masterly speech of Comptroller Goldsborough.

"If the State administration has been for the last four years better beyond comparison than previous administrations, why should the men who have made it so not be continued in office?"

Truly they should and will!

While all this talk is going around the country about getting Admiral Schley to accept the Vice-Presidential nomination to be the running mate of the king of Mountebank, Wm. Jennings Bryan, the people who are engineering this grand scheme seem to forget entirely that besides being the victor of Santiago, he is, and always has been a Republican and believed in Republican principals, and having his name coupled to Bran's is probably as repulsive to him as it is to his admirers.

No Issues, No Principles.

It was well, indeed, that Democrats have held no political meetings this year if the addresses made on Saturday were fair samples of Democratic thunder. It was the same old gag—what the Republican party did during the war! That and sympathy for the colored voter was absolutely the only issues discussed and they did not enthuse at all.

No aggressiveness, not one fault to find with the Republican record in the county and no truthful complaint against that in the State, no issues, no principles of their own to advocate or announce and no ground for again asking the support or confidence of the people. No reason alleged why the people should not go on with and complete the grand work of reform and repudiation from boss rule that was begun in 1895. Nothing was given to the audience but stale platitudes. Their hearers asked for bread and were given stones.

No More Boss Rule.

Voters of Talbot, not one principle is given or offered you by the Democratic ticket to vote for but the restoration and maintenance in this county and State of the old ring and boss rule you determined four years ago to throw off forever.

Gorman, to day, has more power in Talbot county than any score of Democratic citizens of this county. No Democratic ticket has for years been nominated without his counsel and consent, and none can now, so long as his present grip on the party remains.

Elect the present Democratic State and local tickets and you perpetuate Gorman and Rasin power, and none need ever aspire to any houor or place who does not first secure the consent of this corrupt power. Your county officers chosen under this condition of things will be at the mercy and in the control of their masters and the people, without regard to party, will suffer. Vote for a government of, for and by the people.

A Tame Mass-Meeting.

The only real, genuine enthusiasm at the Democratic mass-meeting was during J. Frank Turner's short speech. He worked more enthusiasm and old-time Democratic applause in twenty minutes than was brought forth by all the rest of the proceedings, which were so tame that even the air was stagnant.

It will be noticed that the Talbot leaders and campaign managers never bring J. Frank Turner forward. He has never been asked to make an address at a mass-meeting in Easton, but the masses of the people always call for him.

This is significant in that it shows that the wishes of the people are not considered by Talbot bosses and managers. They have relegated the people to the rear, and the people's favorites, and in this campaign of "still hunt" the best element of their party is allowed no part or lot, not even information as to what is going on. Voters, consider what this means and vote to end such practices forever.

Lincoln's Turned Head.

Gen. McKaigs reference to the scoundrelly trick perpetuated some years ago by rascally Democratic Election Supervisors in changing the Republican emblem upon the official ballot, brought forth rounds of applause from the regulars at the Democrat meeting last Saturday. How do self-respecting Democrats, who believe in good clean government like the prospect of Talbot county again falling into the hands of those who would pollute the very source and fountain head of the purity of the ballot? No wonder that many who went to hear the merits of the campaign discussed, left in disgust and shame.

Will you trust the affairs of your State and county to the aiders and abettors of that criminal act; to men who have the effrontery to boast shamelessly of its successful perpetuation? The candidate who would applaud that act is only waiting an opportunity to be guilty of a similar one himself. The Custom House will not be his reward the next time.

The Same Old Thing.

"I came all the way to Easton to attend this meeting," remarked one Democrat to another last Saturday, "hoping to hear the issue discussed, and to find some reason for not leaving my party to which I have always been attached, but I find that our ablest imported orators only talk about the same old thing that I have heard over and over and over and over for the past twenty years at every Democrat meeting in this county." * * * *

"John Walter Smith is as great a claimer as Admiral Sampson, he claims to be the father of every set

WANAMAKER'S.

Philadelphia, Monday, October 23, 1899.

Bicyles $18

We are selling hundreds of bicycles in October. Why?

The thousands of riders who are enjoying their Continentals, know the reason well. No wheel has been more thoroughly tested by Philadelphia riders. No other wheel runs easier or wears better.

Yet, Continentals, while these few last, $18.

That's reason enough. Men's 24-inch frames, without brake.

Women's 20-inch frames, with lever brake, $18.

Ask to see the Morrow coaster brake. It makes riding twice as easy for some people.

Linens

Full-bleached Irish damask table linen, 68 inches wide, 65c a yard. We are proud: of it; the price; the variety of pretty floral designs. And yet it is only one of many interesting items of extreme value to all housekeepers, in our household linen department.

A Scotch damask dinner set (one cloth and a dozen napkins), $4.

The cloth is 68x86 inches, woven in pretty patterns, with a border all the way around; the napkins are 20 inches square.

It is about on a par with the 68 inch Irish damask table cloth, at 65 cents a yard—of real value, as an item of news, to housekeepers.

Trimmed Hats

Velvet hats trimmed with grebe breasts, $5 and $6.

Grebe breasts make an effective trimming to go with velvets that are so much used this season in hat trimming.

Instead of trimming a number of these five and six dollar hats after some particular model, our trimmers vary the idea in every hat; give individuality to each one; and what a fine collection it gives us to offer you! $5 and $6.

Golf Capes

More golf capes here this morning. The supply can little more than meet the demand—so many are wanted this season; and the blankets and good double-faced cloths are scarce. The foreign arrivals, together with the capes we have had made from our own blankets, have thus far given us ample assortments—hundreds where others show dozens. Two new sorts:

Heavy chinchilla cloth, plain color outside, trimmed down front and around bottom with the reversed side plaid; the hood also reversed; high flared collar. $15.

New Scotch Highland plaids. $12.50. Many other sorts. $8 to $30.

Women's Wear

Petticoats of black sateen, lined with flannelette, corded ruffle, lined with canvas, 75c. A better sort for $1.

Petticoats of satin-striped sateens, in black and colors, with deep umbrella ruffle neatly corded, lined with percaline. $2.

Short Knit Petticoats, cotton, cream color and striped, edges crocheted in contrasting color. 18c.

Wrappers of printed flannelette, in stripes and figures, neatly made and braided, lined to waist. 85c and $1.

Dressing Sacks of Eiderdown, in red, pink, blue and gray, edges crocheted, ribbon at neck, frogs down front. $1.

Night Gowns of Muslin, square yoke, with clusters ot plaits, neck and sleeves trimmed with embroidery. 50c.

Muslin Petticoats, with deep umbrella ruffle of cambric. 75c.

Blankets

Two good chances to buy blankets below usual prices.

One is our regular $5 blanket, ninety per cent. wool, with a light spool-cotton warp, which adds strength; 72x84 inches, weight 5½ lbs. $4.

The other is marked "California," is made right up in New England. We call it the "Wynnewood." It is generally being sold for $6 and $6.50 in Philadelphia. Our price is $5; 78x86 inches; weight 6 lbs.
