

generally close to his loving Grand Ma, talking little but hearing much, he had a slight fever yesterday evening but is now quite well and lively.

Nothing new here same old place so you may know that nothing much is going on.

We together with Aunt Kitty write in love to you Brother Johnny and in a word to all relations and friends at the same time feeling very grateful to them for their kind treatment toward you. Grand Mother desires her particular love given to her dear sister as well as the rest of her relations.

The next letter that you receive will be from Sister Ann Maria & Sister Elizabeth.

It is getting late and I must close by giving you farewell,

Your ever fond and loving Son
James Revell

Dear Brother John,

As father has not answered your short postscript to Mother's letter I must mention it. I am glad that you are well. we want to see you very <sup>much</sup> ~~bad~~ and thought you have not been absent long - Little sis Mary says you must not forget that something which you said in your letter you intended to bring her, - I have no more time to say any thing <sup>else</sup> ~~more~~ Brother Johnny, but you must believe that I am your dear Brother
Jimmy,
