Shore Road Leg To be Opened Soon

The State Roads Commission expects to open a 4.2 miles section of the Eastern Shore expressway from Queenstown to Route 213, 2 miles south of Centreville within the next two weeks.

All surveys are completed from that point to Warwick Del., a distance of 33.5 miles, according to Russell S. McCain, State roads chairman.

The commission's engineering department is now preparing plans and right-of-way plats to carry the new road 4.5miles beyond Route 213. They will be available to the right--of-way deartment about Feb. 1. Mr. McCain said.

Meanwhile, the commission has entered into contracts with three firms of consultants to prepare plans and right-of-way plats from that point to Warwick, the remainder of the expressway.

A deadline date for completion of this work has been set for the middle or the latter part of February to coincide with those for the section being handled by the commission's own staff.

Mr. McCain said that the commission will advertise for bids on construction of the entire expressway stretch in April or May of 1954.

Low Bids on Route 50, Queenstown and Wye Mills

James Julian, Inc., Elsmere, Del., is the apparent low bidder at $484,323 on adding a second set of lanes to U.S. Route 50 between Queenstown and Wye Mills in Queen Anne's county.

George & Lynch, of Wilmington, Del., was second low at $499,964, and seven other bids ran as high as $564,000, the State Roads Commission announced.

Addition of another pair of lanes for about 3.6 miles will provide a dual highway for the transcontinental route from the east end of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge to its intersection with U.S. Route 213, just north of Wye Mills.

Part of the existing two-lane highway also will be rebuilt under the contract.

Work has already begun on Route 50, between Queenstown and Wye Mills.

Volunteers Needed for Kent Island Spotters Post

An Air Force sergeant from the Baltimore Filter Center, Air Defense Command told a large gathering at the Stevensville High School Parent-Teachers meeting Monday evening of the great need for air defense spotters.

Master Sergeant John F. Lewis spoke on the Ground ObserverCorps and civil defense, stressing the need for volunteers to man the dve spotter posts in Queen Anne's County.

He also showed a motion picture entitled, "Civil Defenre and Air Defense."

The speaker was obtained through the efforts of the county Civil Defense headquarters and Mr. and Mrs. Robert White, supervisors of the spotter post on Kent Island.Anyone wishing to volunteer their services for the post should contact Mr. or Mrs. White.

An election of officers was held during the business session and Ralph Hoyt was named president. Others are: Orem Thompson, vice-president; Mrs. Louis Crouch, secretary and Mrs. Frank Britt, treasurer.

Wood Fund Nears The Halfway Mark

Reaching for the halfway mark, the Jeff Davis Post No. 18, Rehabilitation Fund mounted to $2,255.84 last week, according to chairman William E. Roe, third.

Contributions from the Grace Methodist Church, Centreville, of $75; and from the Grace Gleaners of the Grace M.P. Church, for $25 were acknowledged along with smaller checks from individuals.

The fund, started by the American Legion Post, will help the family of Kenneth Wood whose daughter almost lost her life in an automobile accident on Feb. 28 .She has had numerous operations and is under constant nursing care.
