C. & P. Telephone Co. Delivers New Directories

The latest issue of Queen Anne's County's most widely read book has been delivered to all telephone users ,according to a statement by J.R. Swann, C and P's Queenstown manager .

A special feature included in this issue is a supplemental directory showing Chestertown telephone numbers which remain to be changed between now and January 17, 1954, as part of a service improvement and expansion program in Kent County.

Pointing out the importance of consulting the new directory, Swann said, "There have been hundreds of number changes since the last issue and faster service can be obtained by using the new book."

Growth in the communications system to keep pace with expansion and growth in Kent and Queen Anne counties is indicated by an increase in the size of the directory from 136 to 148 pages. A total of 7,300 listings are shown in the alphabetical section.

For the convenience of customers, the "Blue Book, which is a personal telephone number booklet for recording frequently called numbers, may be obtained from any business office.

Republicans to Have Ticket in 1954 Primaries

The Republicans will have a ticket in next year's county elections for the first time in nearly 20 years.

That was a promise made by Capt. Philip W. Reeves, newly re-elected chairman of the Queen Anne's County Republican Club.

At the third annual meeting of the Republican Club, held in the Goodwill Fire House, at Centreville, Chairman Reeves stated that "registration of Republicans had doubled in this county, and we will have a ticket in next year's county election.

Other officers named at the meeting were: J.W. Thompson, Jr., vice-chairman: and Mrs. Ben Hayden, secretary-treasurer. There were also 22 directors named from the seven election districts in the county, as follows:
