

danger was past and the doctor said he would live for some time yet, but on Sunday morn he died just before he died he said his back hurt him and I lifted him up and a pillow was placed under his back and he in about five minutes died so calm and peacefully that it was a long time before we would believe him dead, on the Tuesday b4 he died I stopped in the office where he was employed and he was quite weak and I helped him home and he staid home untill Saturday and he went to work that day and returned home about three o'clock in the afternoon at at six laid on his bed from which he never arose until taken from there a corpse, I do not sorrow for him or some sorrow without hope for I believe he is with those who have mastered their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb. my heart now goes out to Jennie Pugh the girl he was to marry poor girl she under-ful her loss and has had all her earthly hopes and plans dashed to the ground for she could not have loved him
