Tomato and Pea Canner's Price Cut

Leon Henderson, Price Administrator,announced yesterday that can ners' prices on standard quality canned tomatoes and peas would be reduced below Department of Agriculture support prices, to relieve a "squeeze" on distributors and retailers.

The support prices, in effect since last December 19, are 95 cents a dozen cans for tomatoes and $1.10 a dozen for peas. Under the ceiling soon to be issued by OPA, the canners' price will be cut back to about 92 cents for tomatoes and between $1 and $1.05 for peas.

Henderson said that any certified canner who bought his raw materials at Department of Agriculture support prices would be allowed to continue selling peas and tomatoes to the department at the old levels.

No change will result in the price charged consumers, it was pointed out.

Early Marketing of Hogs Is Urged

Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture urged farmers today to send a big share of their new herb of hogs to market earlier than usual this fall to avent a serious shortage of pork.

He also informed them that, once the run of pigs becomes heavy, it must be kept at a steady flow to avoid swamping the slaughter houses.

Wickard, who already had adjusted lease-lend pork prices to bring small processors back into normal operation to relieve a scarcity of meats in some areas, confered with war board chairman and extension service officials from ten mid-Western States on steps to ensure adequate livestock production for the nation and its allies in the month ahead.

The Secretary reported that American farmers were raising about 20,000,000 more hogs than last year, an increase of almost twenty-five per cent, and that the number of cattle on farms and ranches was the largest on record.

DENTON COUPLE OWN ODD SHELLS

A curio cabinet in the home of Norman Wilson, at Ridgely, is a constant reminder of a vacation spent in Florida in 1938.

Made of wood, by his own hands, the cabinet contains numberless shells, ranging from minitures to four inches, which Mr. Wilson collected on the Florida Keys.

Mr. Wilson points with pride to his cat's paw shells, his Chinese alphabet shells, his Boston baked beans, horse's eyes, and Devil's row boats. On a middle shelf stands a row of shells shaped like bombs, as if nature was giving man the hint to prepare for war.

Another collector in the family is Mrs. Wilson, whose hobby is pitchers. Mr. Wilson has carved pitchers large and small, from a cedar stump to add to her collection.

Use Tax Stamp Must Appear on All Vehicles

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue advises that reports received indicate that most persons subject to the Auto Use Tax for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1942, have complied with the law and have purchased the required Federal Stamps.

Friday was the deadline for purchasing stamps at the postoffices throughout the State. From now on they can only be purchased from the office o fthe Collector of Internal Revenue at the Customs House, Gray and Lombard streets, Baltimore.

Collectors of Internal Revenue are authorized to accept cash, postoffice money orders and certified checks in payment of Use Tax Stamps.

Any person operating a motor vehicle on the highway without the Use Tax Stamp affixed thereto is subject to penalty of $25.00 and or thirty days in prison for failure to purchase stamp and to have stamp affixed to vehicle. The Commissioner further states that it is the intention of the Internal Revenue Service to vigorously pursue to a conclusion any violation.

How to Can With Less Sugar

Sugar rationing need not discourage Maryland housewives who desire to can fruits this summer as there are a number of ways in which they can reduce the amount of sugar needed, according to Miss Margaret McPheeters, specialsist in nutrition for the University of Mary land extension service.

She points out that there are many fruits such as berries, cherries, currants and plums, which need no sugar and can be canned in their own juice. Extra juice may be obtained for sweetening purposes by crushing, heating and straining certain fruits. To sweeten with juice it is first brought to a boil and then poured over the fruit which has already been placed in a jar. The lid is then adjusted and the jar is processed.

Another way to conserve the amount of sugar used is to sugar the fruit down and let it stand for several hours. Use only two tablesspoon fuls of sugar or one of sugar and one of syrup or honey to each quart of fruit. Heat slowly to a boil, fill jars, adjust lids and process.

Still another method of conserving sugar is to make a syrup of pure fruit juice from real ripe fruit (instead of water) using half sugar and half honey syrup. If desired, all syrup or honey may be used in place of the sugar, although it should be remembered that syrup made with corn syrup will be less sweet than that made with honey.

Miss McPheeters says that in sweetening power approximately 1 cup of sugar is equal to one cup of honey, 1 cup of maple sugar or syrup, 1½ cups of molasses, 1½ cups or sorghum, 1½ cups of cane syrup or 2 cups of corn syrup.

Syrups, molasses, and honey add water as well as sweetening and flavor, so reduce other liquids called for in the recipe from ¼ to ½ cup for each cup of syrup, molasses, or honey used, depending upon the thickness of the syrup or honey.

"A Man Of Action"

For Republican Judge

Edward D. E. Rollins of Elkton, candidate for Associate Judge, must be one of those Republicans that hit from the shoulder. He is a World War Veteran and has been elected States' Attorney for three terms which means something as Cecil County is placed in the Democratic column. His political Agent, Wallace Williams claims: "As a Leader in his profession, as a Public Servant, in Peace and War, he has proven worthy." His announcement in another column will tell the whole story, read and reflect.

Mr. Joseph Anthony, one of the head men of the Friel Lumber Company, was sent home Tuesday suffering with strep infection in his legs. His physician advised him to remain in bed for several days.

That the hot wave has been disastrious to chicken raisers. One poultry raiser estimated his los at $20,000.

That a man and wife of Pikesville, near Baltimore, took two days to make the trip from Love Point to Rehoboth Beach a short distance of only 84 miles. If Lee LeCompte, Stowell of Federalsburg, and Mike could call back a few years they could make the run after dinner on dirt roads and take in the scenery.
