

Aberdeen

Sept. 23^d

Dear Miss Susie:

You have not grown into obllivion with me as you might suppose; but I have been waiting, trying to see how many scholars you might get. I am afraid Miss Sue. that it is not as bright as I thought for when I saw you. I think you could get eight or ten pupils. But the trouble is, ~~a place~~ to obtain a place to board & a piano. No one seems disposed to purchase one untill after their children have graduated in music.

The Lady with whom I boarded is anxious
