That Chicago woman who kissed the whole college fraternity can get a permanent job most anywhere as a picnic chaperone.

Last Sunday was the 400th anniversary of the death of Christopher Columbus, and not one of us thought to write a skit about him. Alas, how soon we are forgotten!

A Japanese philosopher committed suicide by jumping into the crater of a volcano. Needless to add, no searching parties have as yet been organized to recover the remains.

More than 250,000 American women have signed petitions, protesting against the retention of Senator Smoot from Utah. It is astonishing how many "moteless" women there are in this country!

The belief that the French duel has heretofore reached the acme of harmlessness is erroneous. A new genius has arisen who thinks his honor satisfied by writing a letter to his antagonist asking him to consider himself dead.

Mr. Rockefeller is to give a million to found reformatories to educate youth. This will teach them to grow up good and useful citizens, and not degenerate into wicked process servers to make miserable the lives of good trust magnates.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company is preparing to build a 700-foot skyscraper in New York. No matter what their ultimate destination may be, those insurance sharks are going to try to live as near Heaven as brick and steel will let them.

A Populist has recently been elected mayor of Omaha. When such surprises as this occur the prophet who says that crinoline will never be in fashion again is taking long chances. We may next hear again of a Western statesman who does not possess a full-dress suit.

Among the bits of testimony adduced to show that a certain New York man was insane is the fact that he called girls "lovey dovey." There will be wholesale enlargement of asylums if a strict construction were placed upon every manifestation of insanity of this variety.

A public official in Cleveland says he has discovered a cure for crime in poetry. Reading poetry, he asserts, will make even hardened criminals weep. His theory may be true, but it cannot be put into practical operation on account of the clause in the Constitution forbidding cruel and unusual punishment.

The idiot who rocks the boat will soon be making his annual appearance in the papers, accompanied by the usual list of victims. Civilization has tried many ways to exterminate this pest of society, but without avail. Now that the season is just beginning, a term or two in jail for the first offenders may check the playfulness of others of his ilk.

It is announced that the Pennsylvania Railroad graft investigation started on account of the company itself is to be strictly private. It may be remembered that the insurance companies' own investigations were carried on in the same way, and it is well known that nothing came of them but attempts at concealment. The way to stop graft is to turn on the light of publicity.

Wednesday's Decoration Day exercises were favored with ideal weather, and thousands thronged the cemeteries to honor with various tributes the memory of the Union dead. Addresses, hymns and other suitable proceedings marked the desire of veterans, their children and the general public to show that past deeds are held still in remembrance. Flowers were abundant, testifying eloquently to the sentiment inspired by the day. Processions of soldiers with martial music recalled to mind the nature of the contest in which the dead had won posthumous distinction. Such demonstrations signify that it is desired to show respect for men who courageously upheld the cause they deemed right. Those who opposed each other in the Civil War were equally convinced that their cause was a righteous one. The one side can now respect the motives of the other and share appreciatively in its acts of national remembrance.

That decision of the New York court that it is not a crime to make a campaign contribution brought many a sucker out of the shadow of the goal.

Some of the grafters have come out of the Pennsylvania Railroad investigation as much begrimed as if they had just emerged from a bituminious coal hole.

A strange fear has arisen that the unsophisticated inhabitants of the Prohibition States will consume denatured alcohol for the genuine article.

Young Rockefeller has disbanded his Bible class until October, possibly under the mistaken impression that the devil takes a vacation in the summer time.

The Presbyterian General Assembly has refused to elect one of its members to an office because he smokes tobacco. Thus another ambition goes up in smoke.

An Alarming Situation

frequently results from neglect of clogged bowels and torpid liver, until constipation becomes chronic. This condition is unknown to those who use Dr. King's New Life Pills; the best and gentlest regulators of stomach and bowels. 25c. J. S. Denny.

If you knew the value of Chamberlain's Salve you would never wish to be without it. Here are some of the diseases for which it is especially valuable: sore nipples, chapped hands, burns, frost bites, chilblains, chronic sore eyes, itching piles, tetter, salt rheum and eczema. Price 25 cents per box. Sold by B. E. Cockey & Co.

Constipation makes the cold drag along. Get it out of you. Take Kennedy's Laxative Honeyand Tar cough syrup. Contains no opiates. J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store.
