A Florida man lectured on lynching to just 40 persons in the biggest hall in Washington. The lynching would have drawn about a thousand times as many persons.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good" is a proverb brought to mind by the fact that the Thaw case has inspired a philanthropist to give $250,000 to an organization for the protection of young women.

"The devil is never troubled with a car shortage," says an exchange. Of course not. The devil is not a shipper. He is a receiver. Incidentally, a great many people go into the hands of the receiver.

A flourishing branch of the Ananias Club is evidently located in Nashville. One of the residents of the Tennessee metropolis asserts in the public prints that he had a cold for ten days, and that no one suggested a remedy for it.

A man in Philadelphia whose wife was killed by a ferocious dog declined to destroy the animal on the ground that it was worth fifty dollars. Which tends to throw some light on the market value of wives in the Quaker City.

Railroad officials are dolefully predicting hard times if the legislatures of the various states do not stop railroad legislation. They ignore the fact that to the people and concerns crushed out by rebates and other favoritism the hard times have already come.

Montana has passed a railroad commission law that outdoes in stringency everything else of the kind. The commission has power to alter rates even if no complaint is made. Politicians who get on that commission will be assured of distinguished consideration.

The Ice Trust announces that it wants the Hudson River purified, now that the fact has been made public that it is cutting therefrom contaminated ice. But why not begin the general process by "purifying" the trust? There must be ways and means of doing it, and doing it to a turn, at that.

The bill which passed the House of Representatives authorizing the use of ordinary postage stamps for special delivery will be a great convenience, if it becomes a law. It will promote the use of the special-delivery system. Most persons who write letters keep 2-cent postage stamps, while but few keep the special-delivery stamps, and they ususually cannot be obtained except at the postoffice. Under this bill, which has passed the House, when a person desires to speed a letter it will be only necessary to put five 2-cent stamps on it, in addition to the regular postage, and mark it for special delivery.

A bill introduced in the Connecticut legislature provides that every bachelor in the state over twenty-one shall be subject to annually increasing tax, and that bachelors over forty shall be chloroformed. It is hard to see why such half-way measures as these are adopted. It would simplify the matter to compel all men over twenty-one to marry, with the provision that it would be a criminal offense for a woman to refuse a suitor, and wedding tours might be thrown in by the state for the impecunious. When the freak legislator starts out to regulate other people's affairs for them, he might as well do it thoroughly. In the meatime, reform might go further still and chloroform the freak legislator himself.

Proceedings which all humane people will indorse are those which are to be brought by the government against several railroads for disobeying the law providing for the humane transit of cattle. Besides the intrinsic cruelty of confining living animals for long periods in cars without food or water, another grave fact urges the enforcement of the law and the punishment of its violators in the danger of human health from this treatment of animals intended for food supply. Science is doing noble work in finding out causes and so fighting disease, but discoveries and treatment will be of little effect while dangerous causes are allowed to exist, undermining the public health with impunity.

The divorce business in Dakota is getting to be a cold proposition when the wife's fondness for ice-cream is made the basis for a decree.

A Kansas preacher says he wants every line of the Thaw testimony published. Does he desire it for Sunday-school literature or only for private consumption?

That this is the children's century was judicially affirmed by the Supreme Court of Mississippi, which affirmed in a suit for damages brought by the parents of a boy injured by an electric light attached to a tree that the small boy, in the pursuit of happiness, guaranteed by the Constitution, has an inalienable right to climb a tree.

One of the most remarkable causes of divorce is that alleged by a woman in Rochester, who balked to the point of separation when her husband proposed to buy a coffin, bring it home and lie in it, to see how he would look as a corpse. As he added to this gruesome proposal that he would have no objection to see what kind of a corpse she would make also, it is hardly to be wondered at that she left for more cheerful surroundings.

"Everybody Should Know" says C. G. Hays, a prominent business man of Bluff, Mo., that Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the quickest and surest healing salve ever applied to a sore, burn or wound, or to a case of piles. I've used it and know what I'm talking about. Guaranteed by J.S. Denny and W.E. Collier. 25c.

Here is the cheapest good gun yet made. By the omission of the take down feature we have been able to greatly reduce the cost of production and at the same time have kept the gun up to the famous high Marlin standard of strength, safety and durability. Notice the clean simplicity of this gun. The workmanship and finish are perfect. The weight is only 7 pounds. The full choke barrels are especially bored for smokeless as well as black powder and so chambered that 2¾ inch or 2½ inch shells may be used. Several improvements in the operating parts make it the easiest, most reliable and best working gun in existence. A Mother Testifies

This is to certify that my daughter was down for almost one year with a cold. The doctors finally pronounced it consumption. We had given up hope for her recovery. I was given a sample bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. I gave it all to her in about three hours. It stopped the cough, and gave her rest. I sent next day and bought a 50c. bottle and began giving it. In three month's time she was well. There can not be too much said in favor of Foley's Honey and Tar. It saved my child's life. Mrs. George Batson, Fountain Grove, Mo.
