...ornia judge has just de...d that a man doesn't have to get out of the way of an automobile; but the man knows better.

An exchange says that "Harry Thaw is going to be acquitted on the instalment plan." This seems a pity when he is so able to pay cash.

Since prohibition swept over Georgia they call it the jug-jag, but that is no difference from the plain everyday kind, except that it is not so easily measured.

The lack of mentality of some of the popular songs is striking. "I've a pain in my sawdust" is a title that would indicate the writer was something of a blockhead.

A Boston woman lecturer thinks we are living in too much luxury. This is cruel, when, in consequence of the financial stringency, the most ... have sold our racing automo... ...ve cut down our diamond and champagne bills fully one-half.

The news from Georgia is not dry. The latest bit of information gleaned from the daily papers is that a Colonel Bum is running for office on the Prohibition platform. One would suppose that he will have some trouble living down the impression made by such a name.

The former Ice King of New York ...id to be a fugitive and his vast ...ne is believed to be practically ...t out. A judge in Ohio sentenced himself to the workhouse to see by practical experience what was the punishment he inflicted on others. The precedent he established is a dangerous one. If all men in authority are going to put themselves in the other man's place, there is going to be a great disturbance of peace of mind and physical comfort.

That a Massachusetts county has raised the price of marriage licenses from fifty cents to one dollar may be taken as another indication of the increased price of living. It seems a particularly mean thing to do just at the beginning of leap year, when the duty of providing this important document may be expected to devolve upon the woman in the case.

A Chicago physician has come to the rescue of the man who nods in church by attributing the drowsy feeling to bad ventilation. No doubt many worthy church members who start out as fit as a fiddle, who hear the first prayer with attention, listen to the music with pleasure and then settle back to give heed to the pastor's exhortations with the intention of missing nothing, are nonplused by the desire for sleep which sets in about the time "secondly" is reached. Eyelids droop, shoulders sink down into the pew, and there follows the fateful nod which causes a stern look from his better-half. He arouses himself, bringing all of his will power to his aid, only to hear a droning hum instead of a voice, and soon he is going—going—gone. When taxed with his remissness he pleads guilty, and seldom thinks of looking about for an excuse. To him the hand held out from Chicago must seem like a rope thrown to a drowning man. Nobody can be blamed for getting sleepy in a poorly ventilated room. Of course, the ladies never indulge in a siesta on such occasions; but there are other things in the congregation besides the minister to arouse their interest. A study of the style of hats and wraps is as exhilarating as coffee, and cannot be expected to grow monotonous because the air is char... ...nic acid gas. On ...n's explana... ...plausible. The Pittsburg engineer who has sued to collect a fee of $494,105 for a year's services appears to have mistaken his vocation. He should be a trust-company receiver.

"The best way to find out what your friends are really worth is to have need of them," says an exchange. This is also the best was to get rid of ideals and illusions.

Business men of Toledo were recently sentenced to jail for forming an ice trust. They had previously been sentenced to the workhouse and had fought the sentence. Some people are never satisfied.

Coming events cast their shadows before. The fashion columns are full of advance notes about the Easter bonnet and the shadow is cast athwart the bank account of the head of the house.

The latest American heiress to wed a coronet seems to have made a good bargain. She gets her title, and the nobleman she is to marry agrees to settle in this country and go to work. Here is a satisfactory and patriotic settlement of the whole question.

Mr. Bonaparte says that the only way to punish the trusts is to fine them. This is a very good solution —on paper—but there is a certain case on record where a fine has been imposed, but never collected, that seems to be evidence of the futility of such a plan.

REPEATING SHOT GUN
NEW MODEL No 17

Here is the cheapest good gun yet made. By the omission of the take down feature we have been able to greatly reduce the cost of production and at the same time have kept the gun up to the famous high Marlin standard of strength, safety and durability. Notice the clean simplicity of this gun. The workmanship and lines are perfect. The weight is only 7 pounds. The full choke barrels are especially bored for smokeless as well as black powder and so chambered that 2¾ inch or 2⅝ inch shells may be used. Several improvements in the operating parts make it the easiest, most reliable and best working gun in existence. We are glad to make it possible for every lover of guns and bird shooting to get the high grade repeating shot gun at so low a price.
