YACHT CLUB CALL

One Hundred Guests from Pennsylvania Entertained

Steaming majestically up the broad Chester river Sunday afternoon a fleet of fourteen cruisers and four schooners of the Corinthian Yacht Club of Essington, Pa. dropped anchor off beautiful old Eversley on the third stop of its annual spring cruise to pay a visit to the home of Mrs. Alice E. Wilmer mother of two promient members of the fleet, Dr. Harry B. Wilmer, fleet captain, of Germantown, Pa., and Mr. Van Wilmer, of Philadelphia.

The fleet contituting a part of Philadelphia's largest yacht club and one of the most prominent on the Atlantic Seaboard, began its annual Spring cruise Friday morning when under the command of Voice-Commodore Ernest DuPont it left its moorings at the Essington anchorage for Chesapeake Bay waters. The Fleet passed through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal and made its first anchorage off Town Point, below Chesapeake City. On Saturday it moved on down the bay to Annapolis, where it anchored for the second stop and on Sunday moved across the bay to Chester River and the shores of Eversley. Monday morning it was underway at 9 o'clock, headed for Gibson Island. Tuesday's schedule called for a visit to Wye River and a return to Essington on Wednesday

At five o'clock Sunday afternoon one hundred guest were graciously received on the broad veranda of the old Eversley mansion by Mrs. Alice Wilmer, assisted by Mrs. Van Wilmer, Mrs. Harry Wilmer, Mrs. Howard Wood, and Mrs. Alice Turpin at six o'clock a dinner given by Dr. Harry Wilmer, Captain of the fleet, Dr. Maurice Piersol, Fleet Surgeon: Mr. Ralph Earle, Rear Commodore, and Col. Edwin M. Chance was served on the lawn. Special entertainment had been arranged in the nature of Spence Hammond famous negro boy Quenette and by five members of the Orpheus Club of Philadelphia, Dr. Harry Wilmer, Andrew McCown, Jack Ott, Henry Doughten and Joseph Simms, all members of the fleet The spacious lawn with its brilliant setting, surrounded by towering old trees and shrubbery in gorgeous bloom, presented a scene of delightful southern hospitality that was enjoyed until a late hour.

While practically all of the yachts are known along the Atlantic coast, one in particular, the "Antares," beautiful and palacial schooner of Col. Edwin Chance, deserves special mention. This beautiful schooner has crossed the Atlantic on several occasions. On her decks European Royalty has been entertained and famous yachtsmen the world over have visited her with pleasure. But probably her most renown cruise was that to the South Sea Islands on which expedition Dr. William Beebe went in search of hidden life of the southern seas.

The speeder in an automobile is a menace and the slow driver is generally a nuisance. But we believe Grasonville motorists as a rule will agree that the worst menace of all is the "road hog"—the driver who takes his half of the road in the middle. Road hogging has many phases. Driving to the left of the center of the highway, fighting for right of way at street intersections, passing at high speeds on curves and hills, making turns without giving signals of intention, parking on the highways cutting in and out of moving traffic are some of the practices of those who drive selfishly. The result, each year, is tremendous destruction of life and property and injuries to many thousands of people, Authorities have pointed out for many years that the whole accident problem resolves about selfishness, discourtesy and lack of consideration for others using the roads. If laws eventually are passed that will deprive many of the right to drive offenders, in this class will have no reason to complain.

HIGHER MILK PRICES

One Cent Boost is Now Ordered in Philadelphia

Several hundred Queen Anne's county milk producers are vitally interest in a conference between officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Inter-State Milk Producers Association, thru whom an agreement is expected will effect a material improvement in prices paid here for fluid milk

According to dispatches from Philadelphia this morning, the price of milk in that city soon will be definitely fixed at 13 cents a quart for grade "A" milk and ten cents a quart for grade "B" milk an increase of one cent in each instance over present prices.

Officials of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, with H. N. Woolman and R. J. Harbison, representing the Interstate Milk Producers Association, started work on an agreement.

The Interstate Milk Producers Association has 22,000 members in this State, New Jersey and Delaware. Under the terms of the new agreement, price cutters will be subject to fine. If the agreement involves 75 per cent of the producers and district, as it is declared to, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, under the Farm Relief act, is empowered to approve it and force independent producers and distributors to obey its terms.

Milk prices in New York and Chicago, under agreements similar to the one being drawn in Washington for this area were boosted one cent a quart recently.

Mr. Woolman, head of the Supplee Willis-Jones Milk Co., upon his return recently from Washington, said he hoped the agreement will result in the elimination of cut-price competition

The Government does not want to take the position of fixing price if it can be avoided," he declared However, if there are any who will not cooperate, the Secretary has the right to license producers and distributors, and the law then gives him authority to deal with those who jump over the traces.

Saturday, June 17, is to be a big day for hound lovers from four states and horsemen from several Maryland counties. They will come together at Sudlersville. Horses are being hardened for the running races which will be an added attraction of the day, and the races will get underway at 9 30 a. m., to be followed by the trials.

Short Course for Women

Many Queen Anne's county women will be interested in the announcement of the eleventh annual Rural Women's Short course which will be held this year during the week of June 19 at the University of Maryland, according to Miss Venia M Kellar, State Home Demonstration Agent who will be in charge. The course will continue through the 24 and will include many interesting features.

Courses will be offered in clothing and food nutrition, home furnishing, music, recreation, public speaking, flower gardening, and poultry. Morning classes will be arranged that there will be three subjects and two electives from which each student may choose.

The elective this year will be child training and care, and home industries, which will include tourist's homes and markets.

Monday evening there will be an informal reception or get-together on the campus. The program will be in the nature of a trip through Maryland with representatives from each county presenting songs or poems. The following evening there will be a reception by President and Mrs. Raymond A. Pearson, of the University of Maryland. On Wednesday and Thursday evenings, musical entertainment will be offered by trained choruses from the counties.

Friday, the last day of the course, classes will end at 10 o'clock to permit preparation for the biggest program of the week—that of presenting certificates to those who have attended the Short Course for four years. According to Miss Kellar, approximately 10 women will be recipients of the award this year.

Ridgely Can't Be Wet

Should Caroline county, the only county on the Eastern Shore of Maryland that was exempted from the recent law permitting the sale of beer until the question should be submitted to a vote of the people at a special election, choose at that time to make the sale of beer legal, or should the delegates to a constitutional convention voting for the citizen of the citizens of the States as to the retention or repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, favor the repeal the business section of Ridgely would yet be handicaped in the sale of "ardent spirits" by a provision embodied in the deeds of sale from the original owners of the Maryland and Baltimore City Land Association, which promoted the town.

This provision, recorded on the land records at the Courthouse in Denton, in the deeds of lots sold at that time is as follows: "Provided, that if ardent spirits shall at any time hereafter be manufactured or sold upon said premises here by conveyed, with the knowledge and consent of the party, grantee his heirs, or assigns, the said premise shall immediately be forfeited and revert again with all improvements thereon to the parties grants, their heirs or assigns."
