19th Rugged with strong breeze and a heavy irregular sea every thing in commotion, went 200 miles, the last 24 hours,
20th Rugged yesterday and cloudy with a strong breeze clear today but still rugged. 295 miles in 48 hours.
22nd Rainy but more moderate, were unable to get observations.
23d Clear and moderate, Embraced the opportunity of washing. made 320 miles in 48 hours.
24th Moderate with occasional rain squalls through through the day. Having had a hog killed we had a quantity of the meat chopped, and today I have been making it into sausage meat, filling eight good sized bags. made 140 miles the last 24 hours
25th Strong breezes with a heavy sea the usual accompaniment here. from New Zealand to Cape Horn is a long tedious route especially at this season of the year. As we were to have roast pork for dinner, I thought I would have a luxury in the shape of stewed apple for sauce. as we had a few apples left. so I prepared them sent and borrowed a sauce pan of the cook. stewed them very nicely sweetened them and was just preparing to take them up. when there came an "extra roll" which was a little more than I could manage. and my apple sauce was spattered all around on the cabin floor, and the sauce pan went into the pantry. consequently our dinner was eaten minus the apple. Made 194 miles the last 24 hours.
26th. Fine weather but a heavy swell from the Southward they I must have had a hard gale further South than we are, made 180 miles the last 24 hours,
27th Quite moderate made 180 miles in 24 hours.
28th Thick and rainy, with a moderate breeze obtained no observations.
29th. Calm in the forenoon, dark weather, with the Barometer down very low in the afternoon a severe gale sprang up very suddenly. We lay to. 12 hours. no observations.
30th. Good weather with a heavy sea the effects of yesterday's gale. Found by observations we had made. 480 miles the last three days.

31st. variable, head winds and calms for the most of the day. pleasant with the exception of a snow squall just before dark.
April 1st. Minnie had been making great dependence upon this day. and was bitterly disappointed that it came on Sunday. but she has made arrangements with some of the officers to postpone it until tomorrow. Fine weather in the morning with a head wind. one or two snow and hail squalls in the afternoon, head winds and calms during the day. made 100 miles on our course for the last 48 hours.
2nd. Fine weather, but calm for the most of the day towards night a slight breeze sprang up from the North. had a very nice day for washing much finer than we could reasonably expect in this region. made 44 miles the last 24 hours.
3d. Weather the same as yesterday. Raised a ship on our weather bow apparently steering to the North. A welcome sight, we have been alone on the deep as it were for several weeks. made 86 miles in 24 hours.
4th. A fair wind once more, quite a strong breeze until noon when it moderated. Squalls of rain quite common during the day. made 150 in 24 hours. Saw another ship today going as we are.
5th. Fine weather in the morning. Saw a ship steering to the Northward towards night a strong breeze sprang up from the South which soon amounted to a gale. so that we were obliged to lie to through the night. made 50 miles the last 24 hours.
6th. Very changeable weather calms snow squalls and winds or puffs, rather from every point in the compass not more than ten minutes from any one direction. Saw three ships in the morning, two headed to the North, and one as we are. Towards night we drew near enough to signalize ~~them~~, and found it to be an Englishman. made 38 miles the last 24 hours.
7th. The same weather as yesterday, very disagreeable cold, snowy and icy. every now & two during the day the decks have been covered with snow. Minnie engage
