

what agony she tried to put on, she disgusts me, more and more each day, Though I should not say so, in a lady's presence.

I am in splendid health, and have not caught another cold.
I shall try to creep out on Saturday night, rain or shine.
Remember me to all, till next, I will bring those buttons out with me, which she has been so long waiting for. Hoping to see you soon I will give this in charge of Monsieur Morrison. and Remain as ever

Your true friend
