APOLLO'S FOUNT.

Vive la Bagatelle,

THE FIRST OF JANUARY, 1808.

TUNE—"Yankee Doodle.

I HAIL new Eighteen hundred eight,
Perhaps renown'd in story;
Though none can see COLUMBIA's fate,
I'll sing her days of glory.
CHORUS—Yankee doodle is the tune,
Its notes are so delighting!
Then join chorus every one,
Who means to join in fighting.
2—Our Yankee boys from former wars,
Came home both smart and funny,
They'd INDEPENDENCE sealed with scars,
Although they had no money.
They Yankee doodle sung aloud,
Yankee doodle dandy,
While girls came dancing in a crowd,
And blush'd like cherry brandy,
3—Each told his lass the scenes of war,
And dangers past recounted:
While trickled down the pearly tear,
At hearing ills surmounted,
But Yankee doodle joining hands,
Yankee doodle dandy,
Began to form their honest plans,
To taste their joys more handy,
4—They regimental garbs laid by,
Resumed the frock and trowsers?
And while bright hope illum'd each eye,
They built them huts or houses.
Then Yankee play away,
Yankee doodle dandy,
Should wars return in future day,
You'll find young soldiers handy.
5—Some settled down on Dadda's farm,
Some mov'd out to Kentucky?
While others western lands did charm,
Each thought himself most lucky.
While Yankee doodle cheer'd each heart,
Yankee doodle dandy,
Nor fear'd from those dear scenes to part,
As sweet as sugar candy.
6—By honest toil they cleared their lands,
Bred cows, and sheep, and horses:
They happy live in social bands,
All nursing lads and lasses.
But Yankee doodle growing wise,
Yankee doodle dandy,
Looks out for storms that may rise,
From foes afar or handy.
7—An ancient proverb went about,
The people said twas true, sir,
It said "when rogues and knaves fall out,
"The honest get their due sir?"—
Sing Yankee doodle honest heart,
Yankee doodle dandy,
While Johny Bull and Bonaparte,
Steal all our ships so handy.
8—They act upon another rule,
Perhaps 'twill prove a wrong scent,
"This world's a cheat—and he's a fool,
"Who does not have a hand in't.
Now, Yankee doodle, keep in port,
Yankee doodle dandy,
That's the way to spoil their sport,
And make them lean and scrandy.
9—Some few our honest course would stop,
Who spout aloud most hearty,
With ROYAL noses snivel'd up,
Can smell a strong FRENCH party.
But Yankee doodle never mind,
Yankee doodle dandy,
Rogues & knaves shall quickly find,
Republicans are handy.
10—But why this dreadful scent assails,
The sunny Muse supposes,
If no discordant whim prevails,
'Tis smelt through BRITISH noses.
But Yankee doodle hold avast,
Yankee doodle dandy,
All honest men are learning fast,
Who guard their rights most handy.
11—We've spirits choice, a littlle band,
With ROYAL hopes inflated,
Had justice grasp'd with IRON band,
They had been ELEVATED.
Yankee doodle crooked times,
Yankee doodle dandy,
When LAW can squint at blackest crimes,
And ease away so handy.
12—In vain we've strove by doing right,
To live with all in peace, sir;
But Yankees one and all will fight,
Ere they will brook disgrace, sir.
Yankee doodle stand erect,
Yankee doodle dandy,
No peace my boys, can we expect,
Unless to fight we're handy.
13—A bran new scheme is now the toast,
By Britain brought to light, sir;
If knavish deeds of age can boast,
Then force can make them right, sir.
Yankee doodle, now we fight.
Yankee doodle dandy,
Keep your muskets clean and bright,
And learn to use them handy.
14—Then Yankees bold, brush up each gun,
Despising fear or dangers;
Each to the nearest sea-port run,
To meet those honest strangers.
Yankee doodle, bold advance,
Those softer scenes have past on,
Virginia boys began this dance.
As Yankees erst at Boston.
15—But stay and hear what Congress say;
"If knaves would still be cheating,
"Honor's the word: we're all away,
"To give our foes a beating."
Yankee doodle sally forth,
Yankee doodle dandy,
Vermont boys face to the North,
Those line our coasts who're handy. Nat. Intel.

Attention.

THE establishment of a Volunteer Company in the town of Easton, it being the metropolis and the most populous town on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, will strike every person with its great usefulness and utility—In every little village almost we see something of the kind going on, and it is hoped that the young men of Easton and its vicinity, will not be lacking in that public and patriotic spirit which has so generally prevailed throughout the state.

The volunteers of Easton will therefore take notice, that there is now about fifty in number, which is sufficient to elect their officers, provided they are prompt in their attendance. It is therefore proposed that they meet at the Court House, in Easton, on Saturday the 16th of January, instant, in order to elect a captain, lieutenant, and ensign—It is now believed and expected that as soon as the officers are chosen, commissions will be granted them, and every hope entertained of the company's going into compleat operation, in a very short time. Those young men who are desirous of signalizing themselves as volunteers, are invited to come forward on that day, and manifest their dispositions by enrolling with us. In behalf of the company.
