APOLLO'S FOUNT.

A MATRIMONIAL THOUGHT.

BY M. BRAMBLE, ESQ.

In the blithe days of honey moon,
With KATE's allurements smitten,
I lov'd her late, I lov'd her soon,
And call'd her dearest kitten.—
But now my kitten's grown a cat,
And cross like other wives,
O, by my soul, my honest Mat,
I fear she has nine lives!

EPIGRAM.

Young Corydon, a forward blade,
The offspring of a 'squire,
Address'd a lovely blooming maid
Whose father was a dyer.
"A dyer's daughter!" cries his dad,
"What, marry her! O fie!"
"Why not, sir?" says the honest lad,
"You know we all must dye."

A very avaricious Priest, seeing a poor boy of a very promising appearance, in a deplorable condition, called him to his door, and giving him a mould piece of bread, asked him if he could read; to which he answered in the negative; to the questions whether he could say the Belief and Lord's prayer, the answer was the same. Well, said the Priest, I will teach you that; say after me; "Our father? said the poor boy; what, your father as well as mine? Yes, certainly. Then we are brothers: To be sure we are, was the reply. Why then rejoined the boy, pulling the crust from his coat, how could you give your poor brother this mouldy piece of bread.

The pith of the following toast (which we suppose must have been drank at an association of schoolmasters) deserves notice.

"The fair daughters of Maine—May they add virtue to beauty; subtract envy from friendship; multiply amiable accomplishments by sweetness of temper; divide time by sociability; and reduce scandal to its lowest denomination.

A young gentleman, of good morals, was unwarily drawn into a gaming house, where he was so lucky as to win all the cash the gamesters had. Upon leaving the place, he was beset at the door by a number of beggars, who generally attended to ask alms of the fortunate gamesters. He directed them to a neighboring tavern, where he feasted them; and sent for such people as keep ready made clothes, clad them all complete, and gave them each a sum of money according as he thought their necessities required.

On his arrival at home, his father, who had been very uneasy at his long absence, inquired where he had been, and what doing! He said I have been fulfilling the Scripture. The naked have I clothed; fed the hungry; and the rich I have sent empty away.

NICE, a negro woman, about 22 years old, black, or very dark complexion—It is supposed they are together, as they have lived as man and wife. Dennis is near six feet high, very artful, but of pleasing countenance, and uncommon fine features. The above reward will be given by the subscriber, to any person who will deliver them to him, and all reasonrble charges that may accrue.

JAMES WALTER, sen.

January 5, 1808. 8—3q

500 dollars reward.

BROKE Jail in August, 1806, in Snow Hill, Worcester County, JOHN WORRILOW, who was committed on a charge for burglary, or house breaking, and has been seen several times in the county since, and also in the City of Baltimore, Washington, Norfolk, and Richmond, and has threatened the lives of several persons in the county. It is supposed to be the same person that shot JUDGE ROBINS, near Denton, in Caroline county, in consequence of his having been active in apprehending him, for the above charge.

John Worrilow is about five feet five or six inches high, aged about twenty-five years, of light complexion and slender make; is somewhat marked with the small pox; has a little lisp in his speech; has lost a small piece off the end of one of his fingers; has round shoulders, and walks with long and irregular steps; is also very talkative.

He is a blacksmith by trade, and when travelling about the country, frequently makes application to labour as a journeyman for a short time. He has sometimes passed by the name of JOHN RIGGIN. Whoever shall take up the said John Worrilow, bring him to Snow Hill, and deliver him to me, shall receive the above reward.
