

cheerful self to read it. and I had the blues terribly, and needed a stimulant: but you must be tired of this so I will not inflict ^a ~~you~~ longer. note upon you. I think I hear you exclaiming "if this is a note, I do n't know what is a letter."

Nannie is not very well. she and I are the invalids. I did not go to sleep in the rocking chair last night although sorely tempted to do so. I sat there about half an hour, dreaming with my eyes open - then went into the dining room. did not retire till 12.

Good bye - and believe me ever Your friend

Lizzie.

Mr. M. F. Revell
Annapolis, Md.