

it was urgent necessity that caused me to risk my slight knowledge as I did.
My patient was a poor old man - and I have him now on his feet - and at work.
Trace will never forgive her - for staying at home - to think she was afraid to come up. And worse again - my good old friend.
Your Father, came to town and could not even stay over night with us - all right - you just wait - see if we don't pay you up with interest. There are very few weddings in town - that is among any one I know - I should not refuse to attend a good and social one at any time providing it come soon. Tell Mark not to forget me - his Mother-in-Law (prospectus) can keep him and his bride at ease - why not marry at once and move down to Merry Point or if we must go according to the times (Peninsula Inferno) Really Sir, I can not imagine how I could survive the shock, of having to remain so long absent - from bright smiles and soothing whispers - how it does make my heart flutter and my poor brain whirl to think over those happy - happy days - but all is past and gone - I must seek other faces and try find one congenial in all things to my fickle temperament.
