On the repeal of the Embargo.

REPUBLICAN EMBARGO, FAREWELL!

R EMEMBER those Heroes who fought for the nation,
E ach man took his sword, and exalted his station—
P roud England they fought, and conquered withal;
U nited we stand—but divided we fall.
B eing thus all united, and firm in our cause,
L et Liberty smile—we'll support our laws:
I n home-manufacture let's sit down and sing,
C olumbia's Republic will ne'er own a king.
A s we fight so we'll conquor, by wealth and renown,
N or forget what our Washington gain'd at York-Town.
E very friend to his country come join in my song,
M ay the Republic of America continue still strong:
B ut there's a work to be done, which let no man neglect,
A nd I call your attention—Columbians reflect;
R ural happiness we crave, for that we'll contend,
G OD grant us his aid, to be our firm friend;
O h! Americans stand—each his country defend.
F or modern offences let's have reparation,
A nd not contend for Berkley, or his mighty station:
R eturn to blest Commerce, let our Seamen all go,
E ach to enjoy his freedom and pleasure below:
W e'll gain free admission to each foreign port,
E ver being mindful of old Johnny Bull's sport:—
L et each Tar drink a toast to this glorious event—
L ong live the Republic in its greatest extent.

AMUSEMENT.

Two blades came home late from a grog shop one night, and went to bed; one of them, by drinking a little too deep, had got a vertigo or swiming in the head, and fancying the bed whirled over and over, tumbled out on the floor and lay still.——His bed-fellow hearing nothing of him for some time, calls out 'Jemmy, and why don't you come to bed!' 'Faith Paddy,' said he, 'let it come round again, and I'll try.'

In Chancery, June 9, 1809.

Joshua Duer, vs. Spencer Owens, Jonathan Owens, Eli Smullen, and Sarah, his wife, Patty Owens, Jas. Owens, Huldah Owens, and Eben Owens.

THE object of the bill filed in this cause is to obtain a decree for the sale of the real estate of Peter Owens, deceased. The bill states that the said Peter Owens died intestate, leaving the following children his heirs at law: Spencer Owens, Jonathan Owens, Sarah Smullen, Patty Owens, James Owens, Huldah Owens, and Eben Owens; and that the said Peter Owens hath not left personal estate sufficient for the payment of his debts. The bill also states, that Spencer Owens and Jonathan Owens, two of the said heirs, reside out of the state of Maryland.

It is thereupon, on motion of the complainant, adjudged and ordered, that he cause a copy of this order to be inserted three weeks before the 12th day of July next, in Smith's paper at Easton, to the end that the said Spencer Owens, and Jonathan Owens, the absent defendants, may have notice of this application and of the object of the bill, and may be warned to appear in person, or by a solicitor in this court, on or before the 13th day of November next, to shew cause, if any there be, wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed.

AVENA ELATIOR,* LINNÆI.

Superior to all other Grasses for Upland, Meadow and Pasture.

THE Rev'd Doctor Henry Muhlenburg, of Lancaster county, in the State of Pennsylvania, in a letter to Doctor Mitchell, of New-York, gives the following account of this celebrated grass: "I have cultivated this grass a number of years from imported seed, and find it, after a great many trials, of pretty near all other grasses, the earliest, latest, and best grass for green fodder and hay. It blooms in the middle of May, the same time with red clover, and the seed ripens a month after. Horses are fond of the hay; horned cattle prefer it to all other grasses. It will grow best in a clover soil, and the leaves are from two to four feet high before it blossoms. In the blossom, the stock rises from five to seven feet.—It ought to be cut in blossom, and will yield an abundance of sweet, good hay; may be cut three times a season; if suffered to grow old, it will become strawlike. The seed may be sown in the fall or spring, and must be bruthed in, or lightly harrowed."†

The above account, from the experience of Nicholas Ridgely, Esq. the Chancellor of this State, George Cummins, Esq. both very respectable farmers, and myself, is fully verified. From the information of these gentlemen, who have cultivated this grass a greater length of time than I have, I am warranted to say that no pasturing, however severe, can destroy it. This grass is perennial, when once sown will produce perpetually unless the ground be broken. If sown alone it requires at least two bushels to the acre. On land in a high state of cultivation, the produce, after the first year, will be from two to three tons to the acre, from the first cutting, and little less from the second, if seasonable.

Seed may be had of James Bowie, Easton, from Doctor Daniel Sullivane, New-Market, and from Messrs. Loockerman and Chaplain, Cambridge, from whom agriculturists may be supplied, and a sample of the grass, with its age from the time of sowing, may be seen.

This is an upland grass, and will thrive wherever wheat, rye, oats or barley will flourish. Three or four pounds of clover seed to the acre, may be sown with the tall meadow oats; for by the time this grass comes to maturity, the clover will be on the decline.
