

You are one of those positive characters - that one meets with once in a life time - ~~so I expect a~~
~~thing~~ A character I wish I had in the strictest sense of the word. So you must tell me if you don't think me blessed, in possessing such a friend.

I believe every ones Conscience tells them when they do wrong. And what a world we would have - if every one obeyed its warnings. I often try to get it cease for a time & did you never find that Conscience had patience, and ones patience can be worn out after a time - so take care, Conscience Stock, of that very valuable article, may be limited. Speaking of rigid weather - I thought this morning when I first woke, I was in the Arctic regions - I have not suffered as much this winter