Dear Lucie.

I was delighted to receive your short but interesting note; I happened to be spending the day with Florie when your letter was handed to her, and I was quite surprised to see a note directed to me; and still more so, when I saw it was from you.

So Mr. Dr. Goodman has departed this life, I was surprised to hear that he died so wealthy, as I did not think he had any thing at all; now his family will revel over what he has struggled so hard
