STAR OF

General Advertiser.

EASTON:—TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 3, 1810.

Washington City, June 29.

On Tuesday last, THEODORE Count PAHLEN, Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary to the United States from his Majesty the Emperor of al the Russias, was presented to the President of the United States, to whom he delivered his letters of credence.

Count PAHLEN is accompanied by Mr. POLETICA as Counsellor of Legation, Mr. IVANOFF as Secretary of Legation, and Count NICOLAS PAHLEN attached to the Legation.

It is stated in the Baltimore papers that General Samuel Smith, Senator of the United States for the State of Maryland, has commenced an action for slander against the Editors of the Baltimore Federal Republican.

On Monday 25th inst. a General Court Martial was held at the Marine Barracks by order of Lieut. Col. F. Wharton, for the trial of Lieut. Thomas H. Pinkney, of the Marines, for charges exhibited against him by Lieut. Archibald Henderson, of the same corps.

The court having deliberated on the charge and the evidence in support of the charge brought against Lieutenant Thomas H. Pinkney by Lieutenant Henderson, and having heard the defence of the accused, is of opinion that Lieut. Thomas H. Pinkney is not guilty of the charge brought against him, and the court honorably acquits him of the same.

Norfolk, June 22.

Arrived on the 19th instant, in Hampton Roads, the French privateer Revench du Cerf, captain Bonne, of four guns and 50 men. The account given by the master of this privateer, is, that she sailed from Charleston on the 29th of April, bound to France—that having experienced a severe gale of wind which caused the vessel to strain and leak very much, and having lost some spars, it became necessary to make for a port of safety, which, as this was the nearest, she put into this port for refitment. The master reports sixty packages af dry goods on board, which he says he took out of a Spanish vessel at sea.

This is a very fair story, which those who please may believe. This is the same privateer who fired on a coasting vessel going into Charleston, and by which a passenger was wounded, As we understand that a strict investigation is making by the collector and commodore Rogers, we shall offer no remarks upon the subject at present, nor state the reports which are in circulation.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

A friend in Boston writes to the editors of the Mercantile Advertiser, under date of Tuesday noon, as follows:—The schooner Resolution, Bates, arrived here this morning in 31 days from Plymouth. She sailed on the 18th May, and has bro't London papers to the 15th. The accounts in them from Cadiz are to May 2d. On the 22d April the British and Spanish troops evacuated the important fort of Malagorda, in consequence of its becoming untenable from the formidable attacks of the French. The possession of this fort has given the French a great advantage in prosecuting their operation against Cadiz. They had fired red-hot shot on some of the British ships, and compelled them to change their positions.

Troops were incessantly passing thro' Bayonne for Spain. Between 50 and 60 000 men were on their march for that country.

Napoleon and the Empress were at Dunkirk, on the 10th of May, where there was much rejoicing. King Lewis had left Amsterdam on the 4th of May to meet his brother. Letters from Malaga of the 16th April, state that the French had evacuated that place. The ship Gleaner had arrived in 6 days from Lisbon, on the 15th May, having left that place on the 9th. Lord Wellington had advanced to the frontiers, and a rumor prevailed that his intention was to push on to Salamanca, where a great part of of the French army was stationed; the Portuguese force consisted of 40,000 men.

Accounts are published from Sweden of a plot to restore the late king. It was unsuccessful; but produced much fermentation, which had not entirely subsided.

Count Bernstoff has resigned his office of Danish prime minister, disgusted it is said, at the devotion of his sovereign to the ruinous continental system of the French emperor.

The London Gazette of May 10th announces the appointment of John Philip Morier as Secretary to the legation of the United States.

Napoleon was travelling with his new empress. Louis of Holland had met him on the Dutch frontiers, and he had visited Dunkirk.

The papers contain an account of an attempt to procure the escape of Ferdinand VII. to Spain: but it is added, that he refused to go, and informed against the agent who had succeeded in getting into his presence!

The brig Lyon, Taylor, and a ship belonging to Newbern, had sailed from Plymouth for London. Spoke nothing. Left at Plymouth, ship Brutus, Goodrich, of Weathersfield, repairing; Reindeer, Sulger, still detained by the captors; and brig Iris, from Amelia Island, re-captured from the French.

The Desiree had captured and sent into London, an American ship which she cut out of one of the ports of Holland, with a valuable cargo on board.

Capt. Webster arrived at Boston, from Cadiz, informs, that from the indefatigable efforts of the Spaniards and English, 400 pieces of heavy ordnance had been mounted in different fortifications to protect that place on the land side; and that there were 10,000 British troops, and 10,000 Spanish, devoted to its defence. When these facts, and its insular situation are considered, it must be thought perfectly safe for a long time.

By an arrival at Partsmouth, N. H. London papers to the 15th of May are received. They state that the king of Sweden has refused to comply with Bonaparte's system of sequestration of neutral property in his ports. A French officer of distinction had found means to gain access to the unfortunate Ferdinand VII. and pointed out a plan by which he might make his escape to his subjects. Ferdinand spurned the offer and disclosed the author.

British advocates. The Post of Saturday evening, and the other federal papers are giving sketches of the enormities committed during the French revolution, in which gen. Turreau, the French minister, or some other gen. Turreau, was concerned.

This is evidently intended as a set-off to the feats of Mr. Jackson at Copenhagen. So far so good. Nobody pretends to deny or palliate the crimes of the French, or excuse or justify the conduct of the minister. But can as much be said in regard to the British minister, even setting aside his insult to our government?

Who dance attendance upon the French minister, give him entertainments, and not only defend his conduct but abuse our own government for their treatment of him? If the least symptoms of this should appear, it would be considered by the federalists throughout the country as "confirmations strong as proofs of holy writ" of the existence of a French party, and a conspiracy to destroy the liberties of the country.

How is it with Mr. Jackson and his friends? Can they say nothing in their conduct that an impartial world by the same rule will set down as servile devotion to British interest, or mere hostility to our own government, or both?

Certain people should have sharp eyes, and often "turn them inward," as well as good memories.—N. Y. Columbian.

The notes of lords Auckland and Holland, tacked to the tail of the rejected treaty, is the twin brother of Champagny's note of February 24th. Both contain the very same propositions, as will be seen in the following ungarbled quotation which we make from each:—

English Note.	French Note.
"Without an abandonment on the part of the enemy of his unjust pretensions or security by the conduct or assurances of the United States that they will not submit, his majesty will not consider himself bound by the signature of his Commissioners to ratify the treaty, or precluded from adopting such measures as may seem necessary for counteracting the designs of his enemy."	"If then the minister of America will enter into an engagement that the American vessels will not submit to the orders in council of England, of November 1807, nor to any decree of blockade, unless this blockade should be real, the undersigned is authorised to conclude every species of convention tending to renew the treaty of commerce with America, and in which all the measures proper to consolidate the commerce and the prosperity of the Americans, shall be provided for."

FROM THE BOSTON CHRONICLE.

Merino sheep.—We hear that Messrs. Cornelius Goolidge & Co. have received advices, of the shipment by several vessels bound to different ports in this state, of the residue of their flock of Merino sheep. Nine have already arrived at Newburyport in the ship Mark & Abigail, and six remarkable fine ones, arrived at this port on Friday last, in the brig Hamlet, and on Saturday nine per the Three Brothers. Thirteen are daily expected in the ship Herschel, bound to Portland—12 in the brig Patriot, for this place, &c. We are also informed that Messrs. C. Goolidge & Co. are determined to sell those sheep upon very liberal terms, that the farmers of this and the adjoining states, may be benefitted by an opportunity which may never again occur, with as little inconvenience to themselves as possible.

☞ The Printers in the U. States, disposed to aid the manufacturing and agricultural interest of their country, are requested to insert the above.

BANKS—We learn that Mr. Blodget, of Washington city, recently obtained a complete and accurate return of all the banks in the United States. On the 1st of April last, the number of banks was 103, and of the branches 30, making in all 133. The nominal capitol of the whole of these banks exceeds fifty-eight millions of dollars. Aurora.

The federal papers are very much vexed that the republican prints reprobate the conduct of France; and why are they vexed? Because it proves there is no French influence in the administration: because it proves the federalists have been propagating falsehoods in their stories of French influence. That's the reason they hate it; It spoils their trade, the poor vermin have nothing to say: they writhe and twist, and are in dreadful agonies. It is almost a pity to tread upon their old worn out tales; but they force us to it, and we must furnish them with a few precious recollections now and then.

Vir. Argus.

New-York, June 22.

The British Packet Princess Amelia, sailed yesterday, with a fine northerly breeze.

Petion, president of Hayti, has recently issued a decree prohibiting the introduction of spiritous liquors into the ports under his controul, in cases only excepted.

By a letter from New-Orleans, it appears that there are nine French privateers, taken by the United States gunboats, at present lying there for trial.

Brig Argus, Capt. Hallowell, arrived at Providence on Wednesday last, in 52 days from Algeziras, has brought 19 Merino Sheep, in good order.

"MORE FRENCH INFLUENCE."

NEW-ORLEANS, MAY 25.

We stated some time ago that the French schooner Intrepide, which came into our waters in distress, had been bonded. Since that she has been tried and condemned.

FOR THE STAR.

TO THE FREE AND INDEPENDENT VOTERS OF QUEEN-ANN'S COUNTY.

Gentlemen,

AT this all important crisis of our National Affairs, it is necessary that unanimity should prevail among the Democratic Republicans;—Therefore it is recommended to the Voters of Queen-Ann's county to assemble at their respective Election Districts in said county, on the fourth Saturday in July next, and for them, then and there, to nominate and appoint seven Committee-men of integrity for each District, (from the different parts of the said Election Districts,) to meet the different Committees, in General Committee at Centreville, on the second Saturday in August, next, for the purpose of selecting from the said county four men of known integrity, to represent this county in the next State Legislature. A VOTER.

Queen-Ann's county, June 25, 1810.

Married on Tuesday evening last, Mr. Jas. Chaplaine, to Miss Elizabeth Davis, both of Cambridge.

COMMUNICATED FOR THE STAR.

Departed this transitory life on Saturday, the 30th of June, after a long illness SAMUEL T. WRIGHT, Esquire, Clerk of Queen Ann's county, and Adjutant General of Maryland. Gen. Wright possessed a humane and feeling heart, and his death is lamented by all who knew him. He was one of the noble heroes who toiled and suffered in support of the Declaration of American Independence—and was a warm supporter of that Independence for which he suffered. He has left a weeping family, and has gone to reap the reward of the services which he has rendered to his greatful Country and to his God. H——
