EASTON:—TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 10, 1810.

Appointment by the Governor and Council,
(IN THE RECESS OF THE COURT.)

By a gentleman who left Annapolis on Saturday last, we are informed Robert Wright, Esq. was on that day appointed by the Governor and Council, Clerk of Queen Ann's county, in the place of Samuel T. Wright, Esq. deceased.

ANNIVERSARY.

On Wednesday last, the anniversary of that day, which will be ever held in proud remembrance by the American people—which gave birth to their Independence and ranked them amongst the nations of the earth, was celebrated in the true spirit of patriotism and social harmony, by the members of the "Talbot Patriot Troop" and the "Easton Light Infantry Blues."

At 10 o'clock in the forenoon, The Blues paraded in full uniform, on the public square, in the front of the court-house and from thence marched to their usual place of exercise in that beautiful lawn, which is afforded by the verdant common adjoining our town. After the lapse of a short time, they were joined by the Troop of Horse—and when they had respectively gone through a number of military manœuvres and evolutions, almost in the style of disciplined soldiers, they were reviewed by his Excellency Governor LLOYD, who, by special invitation from these companies, attended to join them in the celebration. Whilst the Governor, attended by the Patriot Troop, moved off to the neighbouring grove to greet and congratulate their fellow citizens, the members of the "Talbot Volunteer Artillery," on the return of that auspicious day, which they also were celebrating, the Blues marched to the court-house, where by appointment they were all to assemble to enjoy together the remainder of the day. When, at half past 12 o'clock, his Excellency and the Patriot Troop had arrived at the court-house, and a large number of citizens had collected in the hall, an Oration was delivered by William Hayward, jun. Esq in a style of eloquence, which commanded the respectful attention of the audience and drew forth a well merited expression of universal applause.

At two o'clock, the whole company sat down to a sumptuous dinner prepared for the occasion.

Thomas I Bullitt, esq. presided; and Capt Robert H. Goldsborough, and Capt John Meredith were called to the opposite end of the table, as Vice-Presidents of the day.—The whole company, alive to those feelings and sentiments which the anniversary of a day, so glorious in the annals of their country, was calculated to inspire, seemed fully to indulge and enjoy "the flow of soul:" and in the intervals of the Toasts, the sprightly effusions of polished wit, and the good humored turn of jest and laughter, went round with the sparkling glass.

The following Toasts were drank during the evening, accompanied with animating cheers and the firing of cannon.—Monitor.

1. The Day—And all who celebrate it — 3 cheers—1 gun.
2. The land we live in—May our posterity improve the inheritance which shall descend to them from their fathers — 3 cheers—1 gun.
3. The President of the United States. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
4. The Militia of Maryland—May they prove the brave defenders of our liberties in the hour of peril. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
5. Agriculture, Commerce, and Manufactures—May they progress in the mutual aid of each other.—3 cheers—1 gun.
6. Education—Disseminated amongst the people, it will enable them to discern their rights. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
7. The Liberty of the Press—Let the public good be its main object. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
8. Public Roads—Let their improvement facilitate our intercourse with all points of our country. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
9. The Constitution and the Laws of Maryland—They are the safe-guard of our persons and property. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
10. The Memory of Washington—The father of his country. — 9 cheers—3 guns.
11. The Memory of the departed Heroes and Patriots, who achieved our Independence. — 9 cheers—3 guns.
12. The Veteran Patriots of '76, who still survive—May they long live to enjoy the fruits of their labour, and to find their reward in the respectful gratitude of their fellow citizens. — 9 cheers—3 guns.
13. The United States—May the bond of their union never be dissolved. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
14. The Army and Navy of the United States. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
15. Foreign Nations—We have received injustice on all hands; let us be just and fear not. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
16. The Congress of the United States. — 3 cheers—1 gun.
17. The AMERICAN FAIR. — 3 cheers—1 gun.

ARTILLERY TOASTS.

1. The day, and all who celebrate it—May they be united by the true spirit of Independence.
2. General George Washington—The Hero of the American Revolution.
3. The President of the United States—May his virtue steer us clear of rocks and quicksands.
4. The United States—May they be united, and never divided.
5. The Army and Navy of the United States—May they always be ready to defend their country, but never to enslave it.
6. The Governor of Maryland—May his virtues be emulated by those of sister States.
7. The spirit of Freedom—May it never be buried in oblivion.
8. The oppressed of all Nations—May they be released from the yoke of tyranny.
9. The Freedom of the Ocean—The birth right of nations.
10. Our Foreign Ministers—May their virtue so shine, that they may make converts of our enemies.
11. The Patriots of the Revolution—May their services be engraved in the hearts of our posterity.
12. The Talbot Patriot Troop, and the Easton Blues—May their zeal excite emulation in their brother soldiers.
12. The Patriots of '76 who still survive—May they long live to enjoy the fruits of their labour in the field.
14. The Constitution of the U. States—May it never be shaken by our enemies.
15. The state of Maryland—May her brightness give light to her sister States.
16. All true Americans—May we all be actuated as it were by one spirit, and destruction to Traitors.
17. The American Fair—Let them have merit, love merit, and patern after their domestic mothers of '73.

VOLUNTEER.——Capt. Daniel Smith.

May we have health, wealth, joy and ease,
Likewise that nation that will and can our fickle fancy please.

CHESTER-TOWN, July 6th, 1810.

The National Anniversary was celebrated at this place by the Democratic Republicans of Kent county with their usual demonstrations of respect for the principles contained in the Declaration of Independence.

The day was ushered in by a salute from the Chester Town Artillery Company commanded by capt. Morrison and the Volunteer Company of Infantry commanded by capt. E. F. Chambers performed a number of evolutions, in a manner so completely military as would have done honor to veteran soldiers.

A handsome dinner was provided at the Market House, under the direction of a committee of the citizens appointed for the purpose, whose arrangement on the occasion gave universal satisfaction.

Gen. Benjamin Chambers was appointed president, and Judge Houston Vice-president for the day.

After dinner the Declarations of Independence was read, and heard with enthusiasm: The following Toasts were drank, accompanied each by a discharge of Cannon from the Artillery, and of small arms from the Volunteers; after which the two companies marched through the principal streets in the Town, accompanied by a number of citizen and returned to the Market House when the whole assembly separated in good order.

1. The Day we celebrate—May each return of it infuse new zeal for the glorious cause that first made it a festival in the United States.
2. The President of the United States—We admire the talents of the magistrate and revere the virtues of the man—May both be exerted with all their energy at the eventful crisis.
3. The Vice President of the United States—Faithful to the principles he advocated in 1776, he is their patriotic supporter in 1810.
4. Thomas Jefferson, the author of the American Independence—Dear to the hearts of his countrymen, his claims to their gratitude will be forever sacred.
5. The memory of Washington, Franklin and other Heroes and sages of the revolution—May their bright example illuminate the paths and guide the steps of their successors.
6. The Congress of the United States—May the wisdom and energy of their successors atone for the errors and imbecility of the present incumbents.
7. John Armstrong, our ambassador at Paris—May his eloquence inspire his countrymen with his own ardent and patriotic feelings.
8. Our Foreign Relations—May diplomatic insolence always be repelled with that dignity and firmness which distinguished the conduct of our government in the rejection of the Copenhagen Hero.
9. Our impressed seamen—A speedy release to them, & eternal warfare with the Tyrants of the Ocean in preference to any treaty that shall not amply secure the rights of that injured portion of our fellow citizens.
10. France and England—We equally detest the pride of the one and the arrogance of the other; accursed be the advocates of either.
11. Our Democratic Brethren of the Eastern States—We again recognise them as Americans—They have washed away the foul stain impressed upon them by the vile agents of faction.
12. Domestic Manufactures—May their rapid progress speedily enrich our country and render it truly independent.
13. Agriculture and Commerce—They are mistaken politicians who would encourage one of them at the expence of the other.
14. A well regulated Militia—The palladium of the rights and liberties of a free people.
15. John Montgomery, our representative in Congress—We hail him as a faithful servant.
16. The surviving soldiers of the revolutionary army—We delight to honor the men who devoted themselves to the cause of freedom.
17. The fair daughters of Columbia—May their smiles cheer those only who deserve well of their Country.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

Agreeably to previous notification, the Caroline Washington Troop convened at Denton, on Wednesday the 4th of July inst. for the purpose of celebrating the Anniversary of our glorious Independence. At about half past one they sat down to an elegant repast prepared by Capt. Thomas Clendening, during which time Capt Thomas Daffin acted as President, and Doct. Robert Stevens as Vice-President. After the cloth was removed, the Declaration of Independence was read by John Young, Esq. as being appropriate to the occasion of meeting, which seemed to fire every breast with the most patriotic emotions, as it reminded them of the convulsive struggles of the Revolution which achieved it. Never was the return of a day greeted with more enthusiasm and delight; never did more harmony and order prevail; for cemented as it were by bonds of patriotic union, the dissension of party spirit was lost in the visible demonstration of joy, which lighted up every countenance. Whilst sitting at the festive board, a solemn kind of hilarity prevailed, expressive of the importance of the day; the conversation was general, open, and manly, and exempt from that warmth and irritation which too often unhappily prevails on such occasions After dinner the Troop paraded in front of the court house, and performed many evolutions accompanied with firing, which closed the day.

During dinner the following appropriate Toasts were drank in bumpers of wine, with the most patriotic zest.

1. The Anniversary of the birth day of our Independence, the day we celebrate—May it long be remembered, and always hailed with emotions of patriotic delight by every American: May it as the morning star of our political birth day, by its expansive and genial rays, reach the remotest corners of the earth, and illumine the political hemisphere of the universe.
2. The memory of Gen. George Washington—Brave and magnanimous, in the field, wise and indefatigable in the cabinet, administering justice with an equal and impartial hand, the appreciator of virtue and merit—May the bright luminary of his examples and precepts so guide us in the paths of virtue, truth, and patriotism, that when we quit this sublunary stage, we may meet him in the realms above, and be joint participators in endless bliss.
3. Virtue, Truth, and Wisdom—The rock of our civil, religious, and political salvation.
4. James Madison, President of the United States—May he follow the bright example of the illustrious father of his country, the immortal Washington.
5. The People of these United States the legitimate source of Legislative power—May they never forget, that "they "are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights; that among "these are life, liberty, and the pursuit "of happiness."
6. The Legislative, Executive, and Judicial functionaries of these United States—When they are tried in the scales of wisdom, truth, and impartiality, may they be found not wanting.
7. Freedom of Election, that inestimable boon of our political safety—May it be preserved in its primitive purity; and the people fear to trust him as a Legislator, who fears to trust them as Electors.
8. May manly and eloquent remonstrances against arbitrary and tyrannical measures, never be construed into acts of insubordination or rebellion.
9. French Imperial Decrees, and British Orders in Council, the contending vultures for neutral prey—May the American Eagle despoil them of their trophies, and convince that America will yet be free
10. May the next Envoy we send to the Emperor Napoleon, like TRUXTON in the CONSTELLATION, give him point blank proof that we possess honor, energy, and political firmness.
11. The trial by Jury—May the hypocritical brawler for the rights and liberties of the people, who refuses to grant them this privilege, be permitted to retire to private life.
12. Agriculture, Commerce, and Domestic Manufactories—The head, the heart, and nerve of America.
13. Freedom of the Press, shorn of its Licentiousness—May it like a faithful mirror, represent truth only.
14. May the wise and virtuous govern these United States; and instead of party names, let us be united as Americans, and the public good our only aim.
15. Foreign Nations—Enemies in war in peace friends—We exist by the favour of none, nor will we submit to the insults of any.
16. The Military subordinate to, and controuled by, the civil power—May a title acquired by law, never be divested at the point of the bayonet.
17. The Fair Daughters of Columbia—May their smiles be the rich reward of practical patriots and their frowns the inheritance of the dastardly hypocritical professor.

Washington City, July 6.

The Anniversary of our Independence was on Wednesday celebrated with the distinguished honors which have here been invariably paid it. Salutes ushered in the dawn, and were repeated at intervals during the day.

At ten o'clock an oration was delivered in honor of the day, at the Baptist meeting house, by Mr. Robert Polk.

About noon the spacious rooms of the President were opened to a large and brilliant assemblage of both sexes, who partook of the liberal refreshments provided, and enjoyed, with the utmost harmony, the pleasures of social intercourse.

Various dining and evening parties ensued, at all of which patriotic & convivial pleasure reigned, and the day terminated without any incident calculated to damp the general joy.

General Wade Hampton arrived in Nashville, T on Friday the 11th May last, much recovered from his indisposision.

General Wilkinson is still at Washington, engaged, we are told, in compiling a history of his life.

Election—From official returns it appears, that Daniel D. Tompkins, the democratic candidate, is elected Governor of the state of New York, by a majority of 6810 votes, over Jonas Platt, the federal candidate.

CHARLESTON, June 22.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Washington to his friend in this city, dated the 18th inst.

"Our little Navy is now in preparation to sail in two divisions—they will sail under the command of Rogers and Decatur to the two extremes of the United States; there will also be a small force under the command of captain Cambpell at Charleston.

The federalists will loose ground in the twelfth congress. "All the talents in the country" are dwindling away. As to the senate, Mr. Pickering will be out, in all human probability. Mr. Hillhouse will be out, and in his place, a less capable successor. As to the house of representatives, Mr. Dana will be out. Mr. Gardenier will be out. P. B. Key is contemned, as having been a British pensioner.

And by the way, is it not somewhat curious, that this gentleman who proves to have been a British pensioner, should be so generously covered by the mantle of federal forgetfulness, whilst general Wilkinson is hunted down on suspicion only? Where is the saving virtue in P. B. Key? Why is it better in him to be proved guilty, than for another to be suspected? Is it in his stars? Or is it from the superior excellence of gold to silver? Do British guineas tarnish the palm less than Spanish milled dollars?

On the other hand, the republicans are not only the gainers in point of numbers, but of endowments. Dr. Mitchell will be with them. And young Paulding, of New York, who ranks as a man of talents. Mr. Henry Clay too, of Kentucky, who offers to supply the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Howard, will most probably be successful. His abilities are an honor to this, his native state.

Richmond Enquirer.

Wilmington, (D.) June 30.

Arrived at New Castle, on Wednesday, the British sloop of war, Avon, 11 thirty two pounders, capt. Henry T. Frazer, from Havanna, with $200,000 taken from on board a Spanish government schr. with an intention of landing it in America—the Spanish capt. having received information that two French privateers were cruizing off Charleston for the purpose of intercepting the schr. Capt. Frazer refused to take station in the Delaware as ordered by the collectors of Wilmington. [We are informed that the capt. of the Avon has since complied with the requisition of the collector of this port. It now remains with the general government to say what is to be done in this case.]

The Avon sailed from Havanna on the 11th inst. with specie for the Spanish minister.

It appears that Ferdinand the seventh, like all who trust to British friendship, has already had enough of that kind of fraternity. When the emissary from G. Britain lately waited upon him, instead of accompanying him to England, as the British expected he not only delivered him into the hands of the French but expressed his desire of being adopted as the son of Napoleon.

Bost. Chron.

The last Gazette makes an extract from another tory paper, which goes to prove, that the old women are federalists. This was unnecessary, as the point was never disputed. We have always known, that the old women are federalists, and that the federalists are old women.

The rage for the Merino sheep is not confined to this country alone.—A ram was sold near Bristol, in England, for 107 guineas, from the Spanish flock of a Mr. Brooks. Balt. Amer.

Discontents are spoken of in Sweden, where it is said a strong party, attached to the late king exists, who manifest a desire to raise his son to the throne at the demise of the present king, to the prejudice of the duke of Augustenburgh, the intended successor. ib.

The London papers speak of an insurrection in the Island of Minorca, occasioned by some commercial restrictions, which led to an attempt of the English, to grasp its sovereignty from the Spaniards. The custom house was said to have been destroyed and order restored—Whether this happened at Port Mahon or Citadella, they say not. ib.

The news of Burr's being in French pay, comes in so authentic a shape that we cannot doubt it. The quarter's salary, which the Aurora lately informed us had been paid to little Aaron by Bonaparte, we have understood amounted to five hundred pounds sterling. This fellow has turned out so complete a villain, that we should not be surprised if he was receiving a salary from Napoleon, and at the same time receiving a British pension for being a spy upon the government of France.

(Virginia Argus.)

The Charleston Courier of June 22, observes, "Vessels are now very much wanted by the merchants of this city to take off the rice and cotton on hand to Europe From 2½d to 3d per lb. freight for cotton, and a proportionate freight for rice might be got for a very considerable number of vessels"

Letters by the Packet from England, state, that a frigate was soon to be sent out to America, to bring home Mr. Jackson, the British minister. N Y Gaz.

The Philadelphia Gazette says, that "A gentleman, who left Richmond on Monday last, authorises us to say, that the revolt among the negroes in Virginia, mentioned in an extract of a letter in yesterday's Gazette, is an unwarrantable fabrication—destitute of all truth."

The Quebec Gazette of the 14th ult. says "the fruit trees of every species in the vicinity of Quebec, and between there and Montreal, have a very extraordinary appearance for the season. They are as destitute of leaves as in the middle of winter. Many forest trees are nearly in the same situation."

Departed this life, in Kent county, on Sunday morning, the 1st instant, Mrs. Elizabeth Forman, wife of Mr John Forman, aged thirty-two years and 10 months, after a lingering and painful illness which she bore with christian fortitude and resignation. It may be truly said, that in life, from the sincerity and amiableness of her manners, she was respected and beloved by all who knew her; and in her departure was truly exemplified the glorious excellence of the religion of the blessed redeemer, being enabled in the midst of her excruciating pain to triumph over death, in full assurance of a happy immortality. She left a disconsolate husband, a daughter, and three sons to deplore her loss
