ters the scum boils over and that is what the Trooper is afraid of. But, that ignorant vain deceiver does not tell the public why these toasts, after they were formed by the committee, were not read to the troop; that they might obtain the unanimous approbation before they were offered at the table; that would not suit. Tory like, some unexceptionable toasts were selected for the beginning: and then, these might be pitched in, supposing that they would go down unnoticed with the wine. While I most heartily join in the sentiments of the 10th toast, I ask this pure zealous patriot why have we not the sentiments of the Troop about the sheep shearing Pinkney? But, that would not be palitable—to be free'd from British tyranny and alliance.—It would not suit well for the putrid streams to be separated from the polluted fountain of corrupted monarchy. If they were, they would soon run dry. But, enough for the present, fellow citizens. I again earnestly call you to be vigilant at your post; and they will not be able by all their cunning art, and slyness, as they suppose, to slip in a ticket with two of their party and two of our democrats; as they have planned by burying all party animosity, and party names for the future. They think wisely, that a violent opposition would not do just now. But, I can tell them further, for their comfort, that all opposition in them, will not only be fruitless at present; but, if I am not very much mistaken, forever hereafter.

Washington, July 30.

We understand that the Secretary of State in consequence of the ill health of Mrs. Smith, has left Baltimore on a short visit to the Berkely Springs.

Letters from N. Orleans state that the French corsairs Le duc de Montibello and L'Intrepide have been condemned in the District court at that place for violating our non-intercourse laws. It is believed also that La Petit Chance will share a similar fate.

The brig Commerce, Bartlett, has arrived at an eastern port from Spain, with 60 Merino sheep.

Alexandria, July 27.

Extract of a letter from New Orleans, to a gentleman in this place, dated June 30th, 1810.

"A report has just reached town and very generally believed, that the inhabitants of that part of West Florida composing the settlement of Baton Rouge and Bayou Sarah, have come to a determination to declare themselves independent on the 4th of July, and ask protection of the American government."

☞ Benefits accruing to the U. S. from encouraging and harbouring British agents and spies in our commercial towns, illustrated—by practice.

Boston, July 30.—Arrived the pilot boat Good Intent, capt. Cole, from Halifax, in 4 days. A ship, supposed to be a Packet from England, was going in as she came out. The American ship Pigou, carried in, was cleared on a compromise. The Felicity was libelled, but it was thought would not be brought to trial; as the Colonial Court was believed not to have jurisdiction of the case. Trial must take place, we understand, if at all, within 21 days of the date of the libel, which was about July 20.

The Felicity was from the Cape of Good Hope: and when captured, was 70 days out.

From the Exchange Coffee-House.

The Felicity was captured on the 10th July at 10 o'clock A. M. by the British schooner Shamrock, lieut. Croke. He merely enquired the ships name and the captain's, and ordered her to accompany him to Halifax, without examining a single paper.

"Halifax, July 22.

☞ "We owe our misfortune to the misrepresentation of some villain, who wrote from Boston by the sch'r ——, capt. Ellis, "That the ship Felicity, capt. Newell, was daily expected from the Isle of France, loaded with salt petre, "French property." This false information was contained in a letter to the "Chief officer of his majesty's customs," under three envelopes, addressed in three different disguised hands, and signed "a Briton," and added, "that in case the ship was taken and condemned he should expect a recompence."

Wheat, at Liverpool, was from 16s and 6d. to 17s. bushel of 70 lbs. and that it must rate high for a considerable time, and that the crops were then receiving great damage from the dryness of the season which had prevailed. Cotton 14 and a half to 15d. Tar 30s. Turpentine 20s.

NEW YORK, AUGUST 2.

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

On Tuesday afternoon, the fast sailing brig Tamaahmaah, capt. Story, arrived at Hurl Gate, from Liverpool, which port she left on the 24th of June, and has brought advices about 3 weeks later than before received.

Geo. W. Erving, esq. late American charge des affairs in Spain, came home in the above vessel, and is the bearer of dispatches from our minister at the Court of St. James, to the Secretary of State, and we understand will proceed with them this morning.

On the 19th of June parliament was prorogued: Sir Francis Burdett was on that day liberated from the Tower.—There were great rejoicing among the partizans, and it is said a more numerous assemblage of people in the streets of London than took place when he was committed.

We do not learn whether any change in our affairs with Great Britain had taken place: But it has been rumoured, that the emperor Napoleon has issued a decree for the capture and condemnation of all the American property he can get hold of.

The editors of the Mercantile Advertiser have been furnished with the following partial extracts from a file of London papers to the 22d of June.

The Tamaahmaah did not bring any letters or newspapers, as we are informed, except for the owners.

LONDON, June 7.

The proceedings in both Houses of Parliament last night were interesting. The Catholic question was discussed in the House of Lords, and rejected after a majority of 86. In the House of Commons two petitions were presented from Berkshire. One praying for a reform in parliament was received. The other against the imprisonment of John Gale Jones and Sir F. Burdett, and praying for their release was rejected after a sharp debate, on the ground of the petition being insulting to the House.

June 15.

Dutch papers arrived this morning to the 10th. They are not important.—We hear of much activity in all the ports of which France has possession.

June 20.

This town is now all bustle. It has been increasing since 12 o'clock, and promises an immense crowd in the course of the day. The people in the line through which the procession is to pass are shutting their shops, and the company already assembling to take their stations on the balconies, and at the windows. Bands, with marrow bones and clevers, with blue cockades, and mottos, complimentary to the Baronet, are parading the streets. About one o'clock, a party of about 500, from Soho, with blue cockades and colours flying, proceeded down Catharine street and the Strand for the City. They marched two and two, and invited every passenger whom they met to join them. At Catharine street they were met by the 12th Light Dragoons, on their way to Hyde Park Corner. The music of the former was playing St. Patrick's Day. The band of the Dragoons immediately struck up "God save the King."—The 14th Light Dragoons have followed the 13th; both regiments mustered very strong. The Bloomsbury, and other Volunteer corps, have been out this morning, but have been dismissed, with orders to be in readiness to muster again in the evening if necessary.

The freemen belonging to the several Insurances, are also parading the streets, with music.—They act as constables.

The crowd at the Tower, and at Sir Francis Burdett's house, in Piccadilly, is immense.

June 21.

Some of the letters by the Lisbon mail state, that Massena on being sent for to forward the French troops destined to act against Portugal, was ordered to conquer that country which was in future to be his kingdom.

Plymouth, June 15.

Dispatches arrived on Wednesday from London, which were immediately sent on board a cartel for Morlaix.—They relate to an exchange of prisoners, and probably contain a final answer of government. There is every reason to believe that a cartel will be immediately arranged.

Gottenburg, June 1.

The whole Baltic fleet has passed the Belt with a fair wind, without making a single prize.

By a private ship we have communication from Hamburgh dated 1st inst. stating the capture of a French privateer, and her prize (an American ship) cut out of the Port of Rostock.
