STAR

General Advertiser.

EASTON:—TUESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 21, 1810.

The Democratic Republicans of Talbot county are desired to meet in their several Election Districts, on Saturday, 25th inst. to nominate two persons from their District, either of whom they will support at the next election, as Delegates to the General Assembly——And at the same time to appoint a committee of three to meet the General Committee at Easton, on Tuesday, 28th inst. there to consult, who of the number nominated would likely be supported in the county generally, and to recommend the same.

Easton, August 14, 1810.

On Wednesday last William Hayward, Esq. was re elected President of the Branch of the Farmers Bank of Maryland, in this town, for the present year.

New Orleans, July 18, 1810.

Extract of a letter from Bayou Sarah, received by this day's mail.

"Since my last to you we have had a general convention of the inhabitants of this district, (New Feliciana) and one sentiment appearing to prevail through out the whole, the convention proceeded to elect four men to represent this district in a convention to be held at Buller's Plains for the purpose of redressing the evils attendant on a state which certainly may with propriety be called anarchy——Dispatches have been forwarded to the other districts of this province, inviting them to concur with us; and when they shall have chosen their Representatives, the whole will meet together, not as a legislative body, but rather as a Committee of Safety.—They are to propose such measures to the Governor, as they may deem most proper for the welfare of the country, for the preservation of harmony and good order, and for the execution of impartial justice to all men. It is presumed that they will insist on the judiciary power being separated from that of the Executive, and something of trial by jury. Should this be agreed to, the Spanish laws will most probably be continued in force; but if the governor objects to the arrangement, and denies the power of the people, (which I think he in honor to himself must do) the people will consider themselves at liberty, and, in duty to themselves bound to act.—In addition to a committee of safety a legislative body may be chosen, and it will follow of course, a new Executive and Judiciary.

"Something of this kind seems indispensably neceessary. The credit of this place, as you will perceive, is ruined abroad—each individual suffers at home, and the whole arises from the want of justice, and of men to execute it. Who could expect otherwise? When a man has been so often as to consider justice on either, or neither side of the question; it must be hard for him after a few years, to know on which side it really does belong.—This seems to be the case with some of our officers. But we hope to find men who are not so completely blind, and still know something of probity. The four men chosen for this district, are Captain John H. Johnson, Captain William Burrows, John Ray and John Mills.

"Since the election the public mind appears more tranquil, but the spirit of independence is still gaining ground.—The support of the mother country being cut off, and the fact being known that Bonaparte now claims this province, will rouse the minds of many who have been heretofore asleep, or scarcely dared to think for themselves. If the U. States pretend to any claim on this place they must not refuse it when offered."

July 19.

All the information we have received from W. Florida, corroborates the extract of a letter which we published yesterday, from Bayou Sarah. Deputies have been named at Bayou Rouge, who are gone up to join the general convention or congress at Buller's Plains. It is generally understood that the Gov. of Baton Rouge is favorable to the views of the people. We also find that the people continue to place much dependence on the U. States for their protection, at least that part of Florida which has been claimed by them.

The United States's Vixen is in the river, one of her boats came up to the city last evening.

There is a woollen factory which was last year established at Danville, Pa. on the Susquehanna. It is divided into 112 shares at $20 each share, which makes its capital amount to $2240. A report of the operations of this infant establishment was made on the first of June last, when it netted a profit of forty per cent. on each share, although it had only existed for about nine months.

FOR THE STAR.

The Democratic Citizens of Queen-Ann's, Caroline, and Talbot counties, must hear with sincere regret of the declension of their late and worthy representative in Congress, Mr. John Brown——But since Mr. B. has declined a re-election, it behoves them immediately to fix on some man of known integrity and abilities, who has never done any thing to distract or destroy Democratic Union, to fill his place. Let them not be satisfied to vote for a man because he thinks proper to offer himself; but let them appoint a committee of "No Office Hunters," and let this committee select some discreet man of firmness, who will not recommend a measure one week and oppose it the next; for men of fickle tempers, be assured, are unfit to represent a free and enlightened people at any time; but more especially at this momentous crisis of national affairs. Men who will deviate from principle in things of minor importance, are not to be trusted with things of greater. A man's going to the State Legislature and voting against every measure brought forward by a certain class of men, does not the better qualify him for a member of the National Council. There are no fifty dollar laws, no arbitration systems, no laws for the election by the people of the Clerk of the County, of the Register of Wills, and the Levy Court in a particular State, to be brought forward or voted for in Congress. The General Committee which meets at Hillsborough, on the 25th inst. should be careful and not suffer themselves to be led astray by the particular friends of no one man—but when a man is nominated in the committee, let them inspect his political conduct and see if he has never done any act which could have a tendency to destroy his party—if he has, let him be discarded, and let them select some other man, who will serve them; which no man could refuse to do, whose business would permit him to accept of the trust. I am led to believe that there are few men who would, if nominated by the General Committee, refuse to serve; provided they could possibly leave home.—Let their candidate be less fond of innovation and change in our present happy form of government, that have been some of our State Legislators, or perchance when he gets to be a great man, he will not only overturn the State Constitution but also that of the United States. Recollect, fellow citizens, you are about to supply the place of a firm and decided democrat, whose conduct has met the universal approbation of his democratic constituents——Be careful therefore of your selection.

A Friend to Consistency.

C. County, Aug. 16, 1810.

☞ The following paragraph is from the Winchester Gazette. We saw the thing, when it first sprung from her form—we watched her course from the north to the south; we foresaw the avidity with which the federal prints would yelp and join in the chace——we have seen her actually flying like wild fire, through all the prints of the United States—but Truth issues forth at last, to put a stop to the career, by taking the game out of their hands. Here is the paragraph:

"A gentleman from Lynchburg informs us, that he saw a letter from Mr. Coles, Mr. Madison's private secretary, to his brother capt. Coles, stating that Mr. Smith, the present secretary of state, is to be superceded by the appointment of col. Monroe, to that office.—We give this as we received it."—

We have seen a letter from Mr. Edward Coles, the private secretary of the president, in which he says that he knows of no circumstance that could have given rise to such a report. Mr. C. thinks it strange, that a report so utterly destitute of foundation should be propagated, for the purpose of circulating rumours of disaffection among the members of the executive, and of lessening the confidence of the people in the administration——and very hard indeed, that his own name should be made use of, to give it any thing like a specious appearance.

Cobbet, in his Political Register of the 8th June, 1810, speaking of the Wheat Crop in Great Britain says, "The fearful prospect of the wheat crop, unless timely precautions be taken, will, in my opinion, expose the country to most awful calamities. I hope the ministers will, in time, take care to secure supplies of wheat from the continent of Europe, & to keep it in hand till winter; for, from very extensive information, I give it as my decided opinion, that not one half so much wheat will be growed this year as was growed last year; and, it is well known that last years was a short crop. I am of opinion that one eighth part, or thereabouts, of all the wheat land is actually ploughed up; and that not more than half, or at most, two thirds of the ground is covered of that which is not ploughed up.".

Since the arrival of the Tamaahmaah, from Liverpool, a considerable quantity of flour has been bought up for the English market, at ten dollars & three quarters, and some at eleven dollars. It is now said a letter was received by this vessel, stating that the crops in England were very unpromising.

EASTON ACADEMY.

THE Trustees of this Institution being of opinion that the appointment of a Principal, with power and authority to teach, direct, and superintend the various branches of Education proposed to be taught in the Seminary, will best promote its interests and prosperity, have accordingly engaged the Revd. Archibald Walker, in that character. He has on his part engaged to provide and employ such and so many Teachers and Assistants for the instruction of the Scholars in the Classical and Mathematical Departments, as shall be necessary for their education therein, and to direct and superintend their instruction in all the branches attached to those departments.

The trustees therefore announce to the public, that the schools will be opened at Easton, on the first Monday of September next; and they give special notice to the parents and guardians of boys in this and the neighbouring counties, that scholars will be admitted in both departments; and, in the one, will be carried through a course of education in the Latin and Greek languages; and, in the other, will be taught the English Grammar, Arithmetic, History, Geography, and all the branches of Mathematics.

The experience and success of Mr. Walker as an instructor of youth for many years, and his high reputation as a professor well qualified to teach his scholars in the branches of both departments, enable the trustees to recommend the institution under their care, to the serious attention of those who are solicitous for the useful education of their children; and all such may be assured that, besides the dependence they may place upon the steady care of Mr. Walker to the instruction of his scholars in science, manners and morals, they may likewise rely upon the anxiety of the trustees to have the schools so managed, visited, and superintended, as to promote the advantage of the pupils, and establish the character of the institution.

The prices of tuition are $20 in the Classical, and $15 in the Mathematical Department: and convenient board for the scholars may be obtained in the town upon reasonable terms.

By order of the Trustees,
