STAR.

General Advertiser.

EASTON:—TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 11, 1810.

HENRY H. HARWOOD, Esq. of the City of Annapolis, has been elected President of the Farmers Bank of Maryland, vice JOHN MUIR, Esq. dec'd.

Hillsborough, Sept. 5, 1810.

Agreeable to adjournment, this day the Committees from the counties of Queen-Ann's, Caroline and Talbot, met at this place, when the following persons appeared, viz:—From Queen-Ann's county, Messrs. George Palmer, Robert Stevens, John Fogwell, Benjamin Hatcheson, Philip Green and Stephen Myers From Caroline County, Messrs. Nehemiah Townsend, Nathan Downes, Thos. Salisbury, John Tillottson, Robert Orrell and Thomas Culbreth. From Talbot County, Messrs. James Nabb, Dr. William E Seth, Thomas P. Smith and John M. G. Emory The meeting proceeded to the appointment of a Chairman and Secretary, when col. ROBERT ORRELL, was called to the chair, and THOMAS P. SMITH appointed secretary.

The business of the day being taken into consideration, which was, to select a suitable character to represent the Seventh Congressional District of this state, in the Twelfth Congress of the United States: when Mr. John Brown, and Mr. James Brown (both of Queen Ann's county) were put in nomination—The committee proceeded to ballot, when it appeared upon counting the ballots, that Mr. John Brown had a majority——Whereupon, on motion,

Resolved, That this committee do recommend the said Mr JOHN BROWN, as a suitable character to represent the Seventh District, in the Twelfth Congress of the United States.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this Committee be signed by the Chairman, attested by the Secretary, and published in the Republican Star.

ROBERT ORRELL, Chairman.
THOMAS PERRIN SMITH, Secretary.

The Committee which met at Centreville on the second Saturday in August last, nominated the following worthy gentlemen for the Democratic Ticket for Queen Ann's county:—

Stephen Myers, Samuel Burgess, | Phil. C. Blake, & Thomas Emory.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

The following will be the members from N. Carolina, in the 12th Congress.

Richard Stanford,	William R King,
Nathaniel Macon,	Archbd. M'Bryde,
Willis Alston,	Meshack Franklin,
Thomas Blount,	Joseph Pearson,
Lemuel Sawyer,	James Cochran,
Wm. Blacklege,	Israel Pickens.

All republicans except Mr. Pearson and Mr. M'Bryde.

The federalists have succeeded in the election in Rhode-Island. Their majority in the assembly will be 4; and Porter and Jackson's majority for Congress was 216.

In New England the elections take place in the following order, viz—

New Hampshire (general ticket) last Monday in the present month.

Rhode Island (general ticket) last Tuesday in ditto.

Vermont, (districts) first Tuesday in Sept.

Connecticut (general ticket) third Monday in ditto.

Massachusetts (in districts) first Monday in November.

Here, the hopes of federalism are imbosomed—here, the conflict must necessarily be sharp; the issue we hope, decisive! honorable! republican! Bost. Pat.

SENATE.

The terms of service of the following members of the National Senate, will expire with the 11th Congress, March 3, 1811, viz—

† Nicholas Gilman, New Hampshire.
* Timothy Pickering, Massachusetts.
Elisha Matthewson, Rhode Island.
John Condit, New Jersey.
* James A. Bayard, Delaware.
William B Giles, Virginia.
James Turner, North Carolina.
Thomas Sumpter, South Carolina.
William H. Crawford, Georgia.
Henry Clay, Kentucky.

† The Legislature of New Hampshire have re elected Mr. Gilman for another term.
* Federalists. ib.

Peter Bauduy, near Wilmington, Delaware, who owns a flock of six hundred sheep full blooded Merinoes and mixed, has imported a Shepherd from France, and the much noted Sheperd dogs from Spain.—In the neighbourhood of Wilmington, patriotism and public spirit is unparalleled in raising and procuring Merino sheep. N. Y. Gazette.

Great Britain seems pretty much in the same predicament now, that Spain was in under Philip III, when one of his Statesmen, by way of consolation, said to him, 'Please your Majesty, you have but two enemies: all the world, and your own Ministers!' [Trent. Amer.]

The election for Members of Congress is approaching in Newhampshire. The Feds call theirs 'the Washington Tickets;' though 3 of their 5 Candidates are Lawyers; and that great and good man, whose Name they abuse, so much disliked or distrusted Lawyers, that he positively forbade their being consulted, on any doubts or difficulties which might arise in the construction of his Will. [Ib.]

Washington City, Sept. 5.

The Secretary of State arrived here on Sunday evening.

September 7.

The recal of Mr. JACKSON has been announced to our government in a letter from his Britannic Majesty to the President of the United States.

The appointment of Mr. MORIER, as his Britannic Majesty's Secretary of Legation to the United States, has been announced in a letter from Lord Wellesley to Mr. Secretary Smith, with the further information that Mr. Morier would act in the character of his Majesty's Charge des Affaires until the appointment of Mr. Jackson's successor.

In the recall of Mr. Jackson by the British government will be found a compliance with the request made by the Executive of the United States thro' our minister in London, delayed, it is true, longer than was necessary, and so far unsatisfactory; but yet such a compliance as has saved the administration the disagreeable alternative of ordering Mr. Jackson out of the country, which course, had his recal been refused, would have been justified by the usage of nations. Contemporaneous with the recal is an official annunciation that a successor will be appointed, and that Mr. Morier will act as Charge des Affairs until the successor shall arrive.

It will be remarked, that in the manner in which Mr. Jackson has been recalled the feelings of the American government appear to have been respected, inasmuch as the recal is not announced, as in ordinary cases, in the case of Mr. Erskine for instance, through the minister himself, but directly from the sovereign. In the manner of Mr. Morier's introduction to the Executive, also, a desire is discovered to avoid the dilemma which must have resulted from the annunciation of Mr. Morier's appointment as Charge des Affairs, in the usual mode, through the recalled minister. Had the British government been disposed to aggravate existing differences, it would have been left to Mr. Jackson to announce the appointment of Mr. Morier as Charge des Affairs; and, as the Executive has refused to receive any further communication from Mr. Jackson, the introduction of Mr. Morier as the Representative of the British government could not have been received through that medium.

These circumstances, though indicative of a disposition to avoid irritation, amount to but little. Should the British government unseasonably delay the appointment of a successor to Mr. Jackson, it would give just ground to suspect an intention to procrastinate that atonement and those explanations already too long delayed; and would warrant the belief that the new minister's nomination was delayed with a view of being guided by subsequent events in the selection of a successor, or in the instructions with which he is to be furnished.

SPAIN AND HER COLONIES.

Some one asserts in the Centinel of Saturday last, that "without the Colonies, Spain is not worth the cost of conquest." In answer to this assertion, the following observations are published:

Spain is a country for every thing. It produces all the necessaries of life, not only the articles of first necessity, but even the delightful and luxurious.

Spain is, of all known kingdoms the only one that might subsist with its produce alone, without wanting any thing of any foreign country. Wheat, wines, pulse, oil, acids, fruits, honey, wax, hemp and minerals of all kinds.—These productions are abundant, and grow under a healthy and delightful climate, very salutary waters, and a great number of rivers, and surrounded by two seas.

Spain wants nothing in short, but to be well known and governed. Heaven has done every thing for it. It is very much indebted to God, and owes hardly any thing to its present inhabitants.—Two hundred and fifty years ago, the manufactures of Toledo, Granada, Seville and Segovia, were held in greater repute than those of London, Paris or Brussels. The Flemish, English and French, learnt at that time the art of manufacturing from the Spaniards. The decline of old Spain, may be dated from the era of the discovery of America. Bost. Chron.

STEAM BOATS.

A few years ago there was not a steam boat in this country: Now we have accounts of their establishment.

One between Philadelphia and Bordenton,

One between New Brunswick and New York,

Two between New York and Albany,

One on Lake Champlain, and

One on St. Laurence, between Montreal and Quebec.

As this mode of travelling is at once safe and expeditious, cheap & pleasant, it is highly gratifying to see it extending and increasing. T. Amer.

It appears by a handbill, dated Troy, August 24, that Wm. D. Cheever was on the 21st inst. robbed of nineteen thousand one hundred and ten dollars. The trunk containing the money was taken from Mr. Cheever's bed room, at Rock's tavern, Whitehall, Washington county. One thousand Dollars Reward is offered for the apprehension of the thief.

Domestic Manufactures.—There has been made in the town of Meadville, Penn. this year, between 7 and 800 gallons of current wine, little inferior in flavour, body and appearance to the best Sherry. The average cost of this wine will not exceed fifty cents per gallon.

OUR SEAMEN—One word is as good as a thousand. If the impressment of our seamen, and the murders of the Chesapeake were not worth fighting for.

Neither is the confication by France worth fighting for.

Life and liberty are of more value than property at all events—let our merchants consider this. The farmers and mechanics of the United States are not blind. Aurora.

The following is an extract of a letter from an American Consul, resident in one of the principal ports of Great Britain, dated June 26th, 1810.

"The present appearance of our growing crop of grain is truly gloomy. It is very generally supposed, that even should the remaining part of the season prove favorable, the produce will be at least one third short of that of the last year, which was very far from abundant. Indeed, the country would already have been seriously distressed for bread, had not very large supplies been furnished from the European continent, and upon which it must very materially depend for many succeeding months."

NEW ORLEANS.

A statement lately made in the National Intelligencer respecting New Orleans, exhibits the expenses of the last year at 36 thousand dollars, and the revenue at 69 thousand. Of the state of commerce we are taught to judge from the bill that in 1809 arrived from sea 267 vessels, besides 679 flats, and 392 keelboats. And in the four first months of the present year, 106 vessels from sea, 431 flats and 187 boats. The value of the property of the territory is 16 millions. Salem Register.

It is a strange cause of exultation that the Danes are opposed to our commerce, as if this did originate in an unfriendly disposition of that nation to America.—Let all our seamen witness what treatment they received before the English disturbed that country, and they will soon explain the cause of the present enmity. It is our resemblance to Englishmen which has given the French their full power over Denmark in regard to Americans. The Danes say so, and they say more, that more Englishmen sail in these seas under American colours, than real American vessels. The deep resentment of the Danes against the English drives them to desperate measures. See the history of Dickson, the pretended American consul, who is one specimen among many of base contrivances to prostitute the American name, and observe the acknowledgement in the American papers, when Mr. Adams attemped to correct such evils, that it was raising mercantile transactions to a higher scale of morality than they could bear. [Ibid.

CONNECTICUT AGRICULTURE.

The Hartford Mercury, of the 23d ult. thus briefly remarks—

"There will apparently be this fall the greatest crop of corn ever gathered in the eastern section of Connecticut: the hay came in generally not more than half crop; rye will do well; oats are very fine; barley as usual; the little wheat sown was almost wholly destroyed by the winter. The apple trees bend under their exuberant burthens; and flax has come in more in quantity and better in quality than in any former year.

A valuable bed of Gypsum or Plaister of Paris, has lately been discovered in the town of Sullivan, county of Madison, on the land of Patrick, Esq.—It is but a few rods from the Seneca turnpike, and the quantity is said to be inexhaustible. N. Y. Paper.

AN EXCELLENT LAW.

It was a law of Athens, that every man should be excused from maintaining his father, if his father had taught him no trade.

Great dexterity in labor.—A Sawyer in New York, a few days since, cut twenty four loads of Hickory wood, between sun rise and sun down, for a wager of one hundred dollars.

Sudden Death—At a ball, in Bennington, on the evening of the 16th ultimo, a young lady, before in perfect health, fell dead while performing the figure of a dance.

TO BE LET.

IN search of a lodging Dick wand'r'd along,
His eyes to the right and left rolling:
In hopes he might see some genteel looking bill,
Which might prove the ne plus of his strolling.

At length he beheld, wafer'd over a knocker,
A paper of longitude scant:
"A singil bak rome, for a singil yung man;"
Cries Dick, just the thing that I want!

He raps, is admitted: a sprightly young girl
Comes forth his kind pleasure to know:
Trips smiling before him up three pair of stairs,
"The singil bak rome" for to show.

Dick admired her white neck, her neat ankle and shape,
Her eyes that beam'd love kindling spirit;
Twin'd his arm round her waist, and jocosely exclaimed
"Are you, my dear girl, to let with it?"

She replied with a smile, most enchantingly sweet,
Where mirth, love, and wit held their throne,
"The room's to be let for a shilling a week,
And I'm to be let, sir, alone."

Acting a Pun.—In a room full of ladies and gentlemen, a lady requested a gentleman who sat next to the fire place to ring the bell. "I never before" said the gentleman "heard of acting a pun, for once I will try." So saying he rose, pulled a gold ring from his finger, approached the lady who had requested him to ring the bell, and who was the finest lady in the room, and deliberately put the ring on one of her fingers; saying, "It is with much pleasure indeed that I obey your orders, and thus ring the Belle."——[Ind. Amer.

Truly Alarming!——The Plebian, printed at Kingston, Ulster county, State of New York, says that thirty-three licences were granted in one week for Attornies to practise in their courts!—It remarks, at this rate our State will soon be able to furnish an army of lawyers!

The following anecdote lately occurred at Boston. A lady having cut an advertisement out of a newspaper with an intention to send it to the printer for further information, pin'd it upon her gown. A gentleman (to whom she was partial) observing that it began with "To Let," asked, at what price, madam?—she looked at the piece, and perceiving his drift, answered, at the price of your hand, sir.

A married lady consulted her lawyer on the following curious question:—Quere "as I wedded Mr. T—— for his estate, and that estate is now spent, am I not, to all intents and purposes, a widow, and at liberty to marry again."

A young man in Newcastle, Cumberland, who was not on good terms with his wife, resolved a few days ago to dispose of her by auction. Not being able to find a purchaser in the place where they resided, she persuaded him to proceed to Newcastle for this purpose. Accordingly they set out, and this modern Delilah laid her plan so well, that immediately on his arrival, a press-gang conveyed him to a frigate preparing to get under weigh for a long cruise.——[London paper.

EXTRAORDINARY MARRIAGE.

There was a marriage solemnized, on the 27th November in the parish Church of Crosthwaite, near Keswick, at which there were present 2 brothers, 2 sisters and 2 cousins; 3 husbands and 3 wives; 4 fathers and 4 mothers; 4 sons and 4 daughters; 2 uncles and 2 aunts; 2 nephews and 2 nieces; and yet the party consisted of no more than six persons!

Died, on Thursday last, after a long and painful illness, John Jenkinson, a respestable member of the Society of Friends, near this town.

——, on Friday last, Mr. Owen Kennard, for many years a merchant in this town.

——, Lately at Washington, Colonel John Whiting, a meritorious officer in the United States.—He was buried with military honours, and is greatly regretted.

At the same place, Major Hezekiah Rogers, also a brave soldier of the revolution.
