Boats Collide at Solomons.

The Solomons-Millstone Ferry and an oyster boat collided near the mouth of Mill Creek on Wednesday last. There were no passengers on the ferry.

The ferry, "Miss Constance," had just pulled out of her berth, bound for Millstone and the Carleton, a fifty foot oyster boat, was entering the Creek. Captain Fulton Evans leaped from the pilot house when he saw that the collision was inevitable. The over hanging deck of the Constance stove a hole in the Carleton below the water line and the boat was towed into shallow water and beached.

The Carletod is a 50-foot power boat operating out of Smith Island, and had aboard about 600 bushels of oysters.

King—Hutchins.

A weedieg of much interest took place on Satuaday evening of last week at 6 o'clock at Asbury M. E. Church, when Miss Anna Irene Hutchins, daughter of Mrs. Benson C. Hutchins of Adelina, became the bride of Mr. James Elliott King, son of Mr and Mrs. James P. King, of Huntingtown The ceremony was performed by Dr. S. Paul Schilling, pastor of the church.

The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and ferns and illuminated with candles. The wedding music was played by Mrs. C. T. Hutchins. Before the ceremony "O, Promise Me," was sung by Mr. Elmer Gibson, and two vocal selection, "When You Are Near Me," and "I Love You Truly," were rendered by Mrs. Reid Hutchins, who was attired in a gown of peach velvet.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Benson C Hutchins, by whom she was given in marriage. The bride wore a gown of white velvet with a long train. Her tulle bandeau veil, held in place by orange blossoms, extended far beyond the reach of the train. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies and lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. James L. Lowry, of Washington, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore blue velvet with harmonizing accessories and carried yellow roses. Little Miss Rose Virginia Lowry, niece of the bride, was flower girl and carried an armful of mixed flowers which she scattered in the bride's path as she left the altar. Mr. Herbert King, a cousin of the groom, was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Milburn A. Buckler, John W. Leitch, Kenneth Hutchins and Julius Bowen.

A dinner for the bridal party was served at the home of the bride's mother just before the wedding. After the ceremony the couple left for a wedding trip. The bride's traveling costume was beige crepe romaine with brown accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Western Maryland College, where she received the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Suma cum Lauda, and for the past two years has been a member of the faculty of Solomons High school. The groom is a successful young farm. Mr. and Mrs. King will reside at their new home at Huntingtown.

Lecture on Syphilis Given at Calvert County Hospital.

Dr. J. E. Moore, professor of dermatology and syphiology at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, gave a lecture Monday night last at the Calvert County High School on the subject of syphilis. The lecture was arranged by the County Council of Parents and Teachers.

Dr. Moore gave a history of the disease, its nature and infection sources. He urged all organizations in the county to cooperate with the Health Department in its fight against the malady. He pointed out the fact that Scandinavian countries had waged such a battle as is now being instituted in America, under the leadership of Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States, and had cut the percentage of persons infected down to a minimum, whereas the percentage in the United States is unbelievable high. Dr. Moore dwelt a good deal on early diagnosis, stating that if the trouble is located in a patient early in its stages it can be entirely cured.

Dr. Moore recommended a number of practical courses to be followed in the county. These included: General education of the public through newspapers and otherwise, thus removing the "wall of silence" heretofore surrounding any mention of the disease; continuation of the clinics as now being conducted at the Calvert County Hospital; insistence by employers that all domestic help be tested before employed; more general practice of testing in the hospital and by practicing physicians.

The clinics now being conducted at the Calvert County Hospital have been in operation since last April and have already done an excellent work. Over 1600 persons have received tests and the majority of the positive cases have received free treatment. Of the 1600 persons examined a little over 200 positive cases have been found.

Dr. Moore was exceeningly complimentary in his remarks concerning the work being done in the line of checking syphilis by Dr. Thomas Parran and Dr. Thomas Turner. Dr. Turner is now on the faculty at Johns Hopkins and is working with health officers of the country in the fight in their respective localities Dr Turner accompanied Dr. Moore on Monday night and made a few remarks at the meeting. Dr. Moore also complimented Dr. King, Calvert County Healt Officer, and other physicians for the work already planned for the county.

To the Growers and Packers of Southern Maryland Tobacco.

Because of the bad stripping, packing and sampling of Maryland tobacco, The Leaf Tobacco Association of Baltimore City, composed of buyers and commission merchants, and the warehouses have decided to advise the farmers and packers of the precarious outlook for Maryland tobacco under conditions now existing. To illustrate the present danger to the market for Maryland tobacco, we wish to cite below extracts from letters received by some of the buyers on the Baltimore market from abroad, namely:

A LETTER FROM HOLLAND

"During the last few years I had entirely given up the trade in Maryland tobacco in connection with the absolute unreliability of the samples, and I hope that in the meantime this changed to the better. I know there exists a possibility of claiming against badly drawn samples, but the way is so complicated and takes so long a time, that I prefer to abstain from the Maryland business rather than to be obliged to follow that way."

A LETTER FROM BELGIUM

"I have learned from my many years contact with the European trade that Maryland is a type of American tobacco, which is greatly favored by the Continental manufacturers, and generally speaking, is of greater interest to the trade than many other types of American tobaccos which are finding a ready sale here. If the export of Maryland tobacco is so small, you have only yourselves to blame, who are handling these tobaccos. I realize that the main fault is the farmer who packs the tobacco, but it is beyond my understanding why all you dealers who buy these tobaccos, do not get together and do something about changing the present way of packing and handling these tobaccos. Europe could use large quantities of Maryland if you would offer them an honest packing, and if the buyers over here are sick and tired of buying irregular packed tobaccos and have ignored Maryland offerings, giving preference to other tobaccos, I for one, do not blame them. Frankly speaking, there is not a type of tobacco grown, which I dislike selling as much as Maryland. All my experiences with Maryland have been troublesome, and when I do find myself compelled to make a sale of Maryland tobaccos, I feel that I am looking for trouble before the tobaccos have ever left the American shores. I understand that there are sufficient stocks of Maryland on hand in Baltimore, seeking an outlet somewhere. The outlet is here, waiting with open arms, the moment the buyers can be assured of getting what they buy. At present, they have no assurance whatsoever. Now is it to the interest of Maryland farmers and dealers to have stocks on hand which practically no one wants to buy, or would it be more interesting for the farmers and dealers to have offerings which they can guarantee up to sample and have a larger demand than the supply? To me, there is only one answer . . . and meanwhile the old system goes on with money out of pocket to the farmer and Maryland dealer."

THE DOMESTIC SITUATION.

One of the local buyers recently turned in warehouse receipts for 200 hogsheads to be redrawn. Samples were taken by the warehouse Inspector, in the presence of a representative of this firm. One hundred and fifty-seven hogsheads opened up equal to the original sample; 43 hogsheads were not considered up to sample and were submitted for arbitration. On 13 hogsheads no allowance was granted, whiled on 30 hogsheads allowances were made of from 2 to 12 cents per lb. or a total of $936.80. This is at the rate of $481.90 for each one hundred hogsheads. If all of the Maryland tobacco which had been sold last year, and which amounted to over 55,000 hogsheads, had been reinspected and submitted for arbitration and if the average turn-out thereof had been the same as that of the 200 hogsheads mentioned above, the total allowance on these 55,000 hogsheads would have amounted to $265,045 00. It may be readily seen from the figures, how much the poor packing of Maryland tobacco costs the manufacturers under such conditions, and this will necessarily revert to the detriment of the growers and packers.

We do not believe that it is to the interest of the farmer, or the people who handle Maryland tobaccos, or the manufacturers to permit these conditions to continue. We are, therefore, appealing to the farmers to help us overcome this condition by packing the tobacco to the best of their ability and then insisting upon fair sampling by the warehouses. If this plan is carefully adhered to, we are confident, that it will work to the benefit of all interests with greater profit to the farmer; for we firmly believe that if the buyer can obtain tobacco which he can guarantee to be up to sample, he can find a better market for same and obtain a higher price for the tobacco.

IN MEMORIAM.

YOUNG.—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear loved one, JOSEPH W., who passed away six months ago—July 17, 1936.

You suffered hours, yes, hours of pain,
To wait for cure, but all in vain,
'Till God alone knew what was best,
He called you home to give you rest.

Oh, how hard we tried to save you,
Prayers and tears were all in vain,
God who gave you reached to claim you
And our loss was Heaven's gain.

We often sit and think of you,
And speak of how you died;
To think you could not say good-bye,
Before you closed your eyes.

For all of us you did your best,
Oh God, grant you eternal rest.

THE FAMILY.

Dr. Jerome Snyder will be in Prince Frederick Wednesday, January 20, from 1 to 4 to conduct eye examinations and prescribe glasses. Office at Calvert County Hospital.

Not Too Late to Pay for Christmas Seals.

"It is not too late to pay for the Christmas Seals that were sent to you before the holidays if you have not already done so," says William B. Matthews, managing director of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association. "All contributions, whether large or small," he said, "are still welcome and can be put to work fighting tuberculosis just as readily as those that were received early in the sale.

"If you have not yet made your returns for the sale, please do so as soon as convenient for the money is needed to reach the quota that has been set for your county. Maybe they have been overlooked during the holiday and post-holiday activities and are hidden away in some desk drawer or niche. Hunt them up and then make your returns to your local seal sale chairman.

"The sale in most of the counties has been very good and the quotas can be reached if deferred payments are made for the seals by those people who still retain them. If the desired goals are reached, the proven activities in the fight against tuberculosis such as the diagnostic clinics, the Miracle House, health education and medical research can be increased and several new activities.

"Maryland's tuberculosis death rate is still high and the fight must be carried on without curtailment. The present death rate for the state is 79 per 100,000 person. This figure represented 1,363 deaths, most of which were between the ages of 15 and 45, the most productive period of life. Moreover, as it is estimated that there are nine times many active cases as there are deaths, it is reckoned that there are approximately 12,000 cases of active tuberculosis in the State.

"Tuberculosis can be wiped out if the associations, both State and local, have sufficient funds to carry out their programs. Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., Surgeon-General of the United States, recently recommended that the motto of the tuberclosis associations, which has been 'Tuberculosis is preventable; tuberculosis is curable,' be amended to read 'Tuberculosis can be wiped out in our nation,'" Mr. Matthews concluded

The establishment of ship-to-shore telephone service was inaugurated between the Leviathan, 500 miles out at sea, and Bell System telephones, December 9, 1929. Today telephone service is available to about twenty-five ships plying the seas. Telephone service to Japan was inaugurated December 7, 1934.

Outlook Justifies State Participation In New York Fair

Whalen Voices Opinion in Inviting Governor and People to the 1939 Exposition

NEW YORK, (Special).—In a letter of invitation to the governors of 47 states, Grover Whalen, President of the New York World's Fair 1939 Corporation, points out that the commercial consequences of the international exposition under construction in New York City are so great and important that they alone would justify the active participation of every state in the nation.

"Fifty million persons from every walk in life, from every state in the United States, from every country in the world, are expected to attend the Fair," writes Mr. Whalen. "The great American market with its tremendous consumer purchasing power will be represented by these visitors. They will comprise a true cross-section of America."

The World's Fair, according to Mr. Whalen, will be a magnificent spectacle, entertaining and instructive. It will attempt to answer the questions: "What kind of a world have we built? What kind of a world are we building? What kind of a world can we build?" With collateral improvements, it will represent a total investment of more than $125,000,000 by the Fair Corporation and the governmental, industrial and other participants. The Fair site park is a tract of 1216½ acres, almost at the geographical and population centre of New York City.

Construction of buildings and roads, grading, dredging, planting and landscaping are already under way, based upon a schedule which calls for completion of all construction operations before January 1, 1939, to allow four months for final decorations and installation of exhibits preparatory to the opening of the Fair on April 30.

The opening date commemorates the inauguration, on April 30, 1789, of George Washington as the first President of the United States.

In the government area, and near an imposing federal hall to be erected by the United States Government, the Fair will provide a "Hall of States" in which the significant contributions of each state in laying the foundations for the better World of Tomorrow can be proudly displayed, says Mr. Whalen.

His letter supplements an invitation to participate in the Fair extended to the governors on November 30 by Governor Herbert H. Lehman of the host state of New York. Governor Lehman pointed out that the State of New York has already appropriated, to date, $2,130,000 for commencement of construction of boulevards, service roads, bridges, and certain other basic improvements the State will make at the exposition site or its approaches. The New York legislature, further, during 1936 passed an act creating the New York World's Fair Commission of 18 members and providing funds in aid of this body's preparation of plans for a state building and exhibit and for active state participation in the Fair.
