Mr. and Mrs. Mannie D. Ford, of Fairhaven, Md., announces the marriage of their daughter, Miss Agnes Marguerite Ford, to William Ellis Ward, son of Mrs. Etta G. Ward, of Owings, Md., which will place October 5th, at 6 P. M., at Friendship Methodist Episcopal Church.

Philip Briscoe, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clare Briscoe, who graduated last May at Johns Hopkins University, left Wednesday for Baltimore to enter Johns Hopkins medical school. His younger brother, Jack Briscoe, on Monday, entered Fork Union Military School, Virginia

Mr and Mrs Briscoe Young, together with Mr. and Mrs Roy Shipe and family, motored to West Virginia, spending the week-end with Mrs. Shipe's mother, Mrs Floyd Wilkins. Returning, they visited Shenandoh Caverns and other places of interest.

All Saints defeated Huntingtown last Saturday 11 to 6. Other games were rained out. The play-off series for the league championship will be played between Huntingtown, winners of first place, and All Saints the runner-up, two games out of three being decisive. Each team will be privileged to draft one boy and one girl player from the rest of the league roster. The games will start at 2 p. m at Huntingtown school.

While out gunning for crows in his corn field on Thursday of last week, Mr. J. Carroll Soper saw sitting in a dead tree on the edge of his marsh what he thought was an owl. He crept up on the bird through a thicket of young pines until he was close enough to get a shot at it, and after he shot it he discovered it was a grey eagle with a wing spread of 6 feet, 8½ inches, still showing fight and necessitating a second shot to kill it. On one leg was an aluminum band, with instructions to notify the United States Biological Survey, Washington. Mr. Soper carried out the instructions, but has not yet received a reply.

Confirmation Service.

The sacrament of confirmation was solemnly received by a class of forty-seven children and three adults at Our Lady Star of the Sea Church, at Solomon's, on Sunday afternoon last, at 3 o'clock The Right Reverend John M. McNamara, Bishop of Baltimore, officiated. The Bishop was assisted by Revs. Albert of Washington, Lewis Clarke of Carmelite Order, and Andrew Bayer, of Carmelite Order, and Maurice Alexander, of Solomon's. The sponsors for those confirmed were: Miss Margaret Condiff and Miss Ellen Hoar, for the girls, and William Condiff and William Shipe, for the boys.

Early in his priestly career, the Bishop was Father McNamara, rector at Hendlet, with a mission in Calvert county. On Sunday he recalled memories of his years spent here, and surprised many of his old parishioners by remembering them.

Cat Adopts Flying Squirrel.

Sarah Gray, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B Gray, Jr., of Prince Frederick, has recently had in a small cat family, a flying squirrel and a snapping turtle the nucleus of a menagerie, she hoped.

The flying squirrel, too young to be away from its mother, was rescued from another cat. The rescuer, Sarah's aunt, Miss Marguerite Gray, found she was getting exactly nowhere in her attempts to keep it alive by feeding it milk through a glass tube, an eye dropper, and allowing it to sleep on her bosom—by sleeping with a flying squirrel—so the little woods animal was introduced to Sarah's mother cat who is now nursing two young black offspring.

The flying squirrel was placed with the kittens during a momentary absence of the mother, and when the latter returned she came to a dead stop and gazed in surprise. She put her paw to her forehead (figuratively, of course), reflected a moment, it is said, and then gave what in a human would have been a sigh, as if to say, "Oh, well, after all." She proceeded then to give the squirrel a thorough bath. It was adopted.

So successful was the venture that the snapping turtle, hardly bigger than a 50-cent piece, found by Sarah's brother, Jack, was introduced to the feast family.

Pff!! Nothing doing. Mrs. Cat spat and mumbled low warnings down her throat, as if to say "That certainly is not related to me."

Wise decision too, for snapping turtles do have their moments, and manage very well on a diet of a few flies, with snap quarters going around with them wherever they mov .

Revival Services.

Two weeks of special revival services will be held at Waters Memorial Methodist Church, near Mutual, beginning next Sunday, September 25. The services, which will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. Paul Schilling, will also carry forward the observance of the 200th anniversary of the conversion of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, and the approaching unification of American Methodism. Services will be held at 3 and 8 o'clock on the opening Sunday and at 8 o'clock each night except Saturday in the following week. Appropriate music will be a feature. The public will be heartily welcome.

Items from Solomons.

Mrs. W. Preston Lore spent the past week-end in Annapolis visiting Miss Elizabeth Davis.

Mrs. J. Cook Webster, after a few days spent this week with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Bedford Glascock, at Indian Head, Md., will visit Mr. and Mrs. Preston Webster, on the Rappahannock River, in Virginia.

Miss Clara Dixon spent the week-end with friends in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lore, Jr., have just returned from a trip through West Virginia, Ohio and Michigan, returning Thursday morning.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet next Wednesday afternoon a 2.30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Max T. King, in Prince Frederick.

"The French Quarter," an informal history of New Orleans, by Herbert Asbury, is the book to be placed in the Calvert County Public Free Library, at Prince Frederick, to-day.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cox, Jr., was baptised on Tuesday last by Rev. J. H. Snyder, receiving the name of Helen Jean.

Items from Owings.

The Owings baseball club will hold an oyster and meat supper Friday, October 7th, in Unity Hall, Owings. Ice cream, pie and cake for sale also. A short entertainment will follow the supper. Public cordially invited. Contributions will be appreciated

Dr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Ward are the happy parents of a daughter, Elaine, born at the Church Home and Infirmary, Baltimore, September 15th.

Mr. Clyde Bowen and daughter, Thelma, sailed on Saturday last from New York for a week's trip to Bermuda.

Mrs. James Butler, of Scranton, Pa., is spending several weeks at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh Ward.

Mrs. Arthur G. Smith, of Greensboro, Md., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Owings, over the week-end. Her daughters, Misses Halsey and Grayson Smith, who have attended Salisbury Normal School, have entered the University of Maryland's second and third year classes, respectively.

In the championship games played between Huntingtown and Greenock baseball teams, the latter has won two, and the third game will be played at Huntingtown between the two teams this Saturday afternoon, September 24, at 3 o'clock. Baseball fans will undoubtedly be out in full force.

Organizing for World's Poultry Congress.

The poultry raisers of Calvert County are planning an active campaign for representation at the World's Poultry Congress to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, from July 28, to August 7, 1939. The county has an opportunity of sending at least one boy or girl to the Congress to participate in poultry judging contests and demonstrations.

It is going to be the biggest poultry event ever staged in America. The Congress and Exposition will cover some 20 acres of floor space with educational and commercial exhibits of every description. There will be educational exhibits from over 20 foreign countries and live birds from over 20 different countries. Each state of this country will stage an educational exhibit portraying the more important features of the poultry industry of the state.

Incubators of different makes from those holding 78,000 eggs to those holding 150 eggs, oil, coal and electric brooders and brooding equipment, battery brooders and laying cages, brooder and laying houses and house equipment, fencing of different kinds, feeds and feeding equipment, egg candlers, automatic wax plucking machine, poultry shipping equipment and many other modern improvements will be on display.

The live bird exhibits will include exhibits of every standard breed a variety in the United States, specialty pen displays and commercial pens by record of performance breeders.

There will be popular lectures practically every day of the Congress on incubation, brooding, feeding chicks and laying hens, controlling various diseases, the grading and marketing of eggs, frozen and dried eggs, dressing poultry for market, the preparation of eggs and poultry meat in menus of many kinds and other popular talks covering every branch of the poultry industry.

Motion pictures will show how the embryo develops during incubation, how the egg is formed in the living birds, how quick-frozen poultry is prepared for the table, how turkeys are reared and marketed and many other things never before shown on the silver screen.

Danger of "Summer Complaint" Not Over.

The following reminder that danger of "summer complaint" for babies does not end with the summer months and that special precautions should be continued for some weeks longer, to protect them from the disease, homes from Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health,

"Twenty years ago" Dr. Knox said, "July was the month most dreaded by physicians and mothers, alike, as the time when summer complaint was likely to be particularly prevalent among babies. Gradually the period of greatest danger of both sickness and death among babies from intestinal diseases has come later and later in the season.

"Now, in this part of the country, September is included by many physicians in the period when special care should be given to infants, in the preparation of their food, in protecting them from the flies, and from infection contracted from other members of the household who are suffering from diarrhea or dysentery. As a special precaution, no radical changes should be made in a baby's diet—if it is doing well—until the crisp fall days are here. If the baby becomes even slightly ill, a doctor should be called promptly.

"Babies who have had diarrhea or dysentery during the summer must be watched very carefully as a relapse of the illness with a return of the diarrhea, may be particularly serious. Extreme cleanliness in the handling of all milk and foods for infants is absolutely essential at all times. All milk and water to be given to babies should be boiled and properly cooled before using."

Mr. Editor:—We, the Members of the Nursery School Mothers Club, wish to correct a false impression which some people have received regarding our new ly organized kindergarten.

It is not a WPA project. We are not receiving support from any government agency. We wish that were possible.

As things stand, each child attending the school pays a definite monthly tuition, out of which we pay the teacher's salary. There being no surplus in the treasury, we are dependent on the good will and generosity of the progressive-minded people of the community to assist us in equipping our little nursery school with the barest essentials for such a group.

If at any future date we are so fortunate as to receive a grant of money, we shall be very happy to operate a free kindergarten, or nursery school.

Constance Hoffmasser Hutchins,
Secretary.
