=sance shall be suffered to remain.

Sec. 39. Be it enacted and ordained, that no person shall cast, throw, draw out or deposit any dead carcass, or any part or parts thereof, dead fish or any excrement or filth from vaults or privies, necessary houses or water closets, on or into any part of the city, nor shall any person permit the same to be deposited on his or her premises without effectually covering the same within five hours after such deposit, with and under such a body of earth as will and shall entirely prevent any noxious effluvia or any offensive smell arising from the same, under a penalty not exceeding twenty dollars for each and every offence, together with the expense of removing the same.

Sec. 40. Be it enacted and ordained, that neither the wharves or low grounds in any part of the city shall be filled with any kind of wood, shavings or vegetable matter, and that every person offending herein shall forfeit and pay for each and every offence a sum not ex=ceeding fifty dollars.

Sec. 41. Be it enacted and ordained, that all spars, arks, logs or timber that may be in the water of the harbor of Baltimore, between the first day of June and the first day of Novem=ber in each and every year, shall be kept constantly afloat; and whenever the commissioner of health shall suspect that any injury to the health of the city may arise therefrom, he shall order the same to be removed to some place which shall be distant at least two hundred yards from any dwelling or wharf; and every person offending against this section shall for=feit and pay a sum not exceeding twenty dollars, and the further sum of ten dollars for each and every twenty-four hours that such offence may continue.

Sec. 42. Be it enacted and ordained, that no person shall throw any animal or vege=table matter or filth into the basin, docks, Jones' falls, or Harford, Chatsworth or Schwedeis runs, or drive or ride any horse or animal into Jones' falls, east of Charles street; and all
