Silver Wedding.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Chaney, of Chaneyville, was the scene of a delightful and interesting celebration on November 3rd, when one hundred and fifty invited guests assembled here in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of their hosts. The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses, chrysanthemums and ferns, pink and green being the color schemes. In the center of the dining table was a large three-tier wedding cake, which was graciously served by Mrs Carl Swann, sister of Mrs. Chaney. Ice cream and cake, with mints, were also served. The gifts were handsome and numerous, evidencing the popularity of the hosts. The organist and others at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs Chaney on November 25th, 1913, were among those present at the 25th wedding anniversary November 25th. The guests upon leaving expressed the wish for many years of happiness and good health for Mr. and Mrs. Chaney.

Outdoor Life Show.

Garden clubs from all sections of Maryland are cooperating in arranging exhibits for the 939 North American Sports, Garden and Outdoor Life show according to plans recently announced by Mrs William A. Hodges, executive chairman of the Garden Clubs committee for the show. The exhibits open to Garden Club competition cover a wide range of subjects, and will represent outdoor pastimes, picturing them in their true natural appearance as they are from mid-winter to early fall.

A Grandmothers Garden exhibit, to cover 324 square feet will present a colorful arrangement of old fashioned annuals and perennials in full bloom

As a striking contrast to the spring like atmosphere which will prevail in the Armory the "First Snow Fall," showing a beautiful winter scene will serve to emphasize the brilliance and color of the Myriad of blossoms and green foliage in the Indoor Outdoor show in mid-winter.

The Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland is obtaining the cooperation of a number of its member groups and through its own sponsorship it is arranging an exhibit contrasting the roadside of today with the roadside of tomorrow.

"Frog Hollow," another exhibit open to the Garden Club groups, will represent an area of marsh land and will show a large variety of native frogs of all species and sizes.

An exhibit of the nests of many of our American song insectivorous and game birds in the setting of flowering trees and berry bearing shrubs will be arranged for nature effect in relination. This display will cover 100 square feet

Another unusual Garden Club exhibit will be extinct and nearly extinct species of vegetation, fishes, mammals and birds. This will be arranged as an education exhibit to demonstrate and to bring to public attention the disappearance that many of our fish, game and vegetable life resulting from the lack of foresighting, planning and conservation.

A reflecting pool placed in a naturalistic setting and so located as to reflect the beauty of the surrounding landscape will also be arranged by a Garden Club.

Moss covered logs, rocks, ferns and wild flowers will be in this exhibit. In judging the Garden Club exhibits, the following scale of points will be used:

Design and arrangement	25
Materials (quality and ability)	25
Skill in assembly	20
Distinctiveness	20
Labeling or descriptive statement	10

Mrs. Bridges also announced yesterday that all Garden Clubs are eligible to arrange exhibits for the Show and that entry blanks and further information can be obtained at the Show's headquarters 311 N Charles street, Baltimore.

Death of Mr. James W. Morgan.

The many friends and relatives of Mr. James W. Morgan were greatly shocked to learn of his death which occurred at his home, 13 Randal street, Baltimore, on November 18th, after a little more than two week's illness, following a stroke. Mr. Morgan was formerly of this county but has lived in Baltimore for the past thirty years, and during that time he was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Agnes Hildrich Morgan, and four daughters, Dorothy, Marion, Agnes and Bernadette Morgan; three brothers, John T., Joseph C. and Ely Oleton Morgan, all of Baltimore, and one sister, Mrs. Olivia M. Bowen, of Bowens, this county. Funeral services were held at Patterson Memorial M. E. Church, with Rev. Mr. Miller, the pastor, officiating, with interment in Loudon Park cemetery. The pallbearers were his six nephews, Albert, Edward and Clifford Bowen, Kenneth, Garland and Ralph Morgan.

Death of Mr. Gideon Lusby.

Gideon Lusby, 71, died at his home at Solomon's on Thursday afternoon of last week. Mr. Lusby had been sick and under treatment in Baltimore for about two months, but was taken back to his home on Tuesday morning, his death. He was very well known at Solomon's, and highly respected. He will be much missed there by his relatives and many friends.

Mr. Lusby was the husband of Mrs Flora Oliver Lusby, and a son of the late Benjamin and Rebecca Lusby. He is survived by his wife and three sons, William and John Lusby, of Baltimore, and Oliver Lusby, of Solomon's.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Solomon's Methodist Episcopal Church Rev Dr g s Chandler conducted the service

Mr. Mr. Jones to be Ordained

The Rev. H Kearney Jones, rector of St. Paul's and Christ Churches, will be ordained to the priesthood on Wednesday, December 7th, at 10.30 A. M. in St. John's church, Baltimore. He will be presented to the Bishop of Maryland by the Rev Edmund L. Gettier, Jr., and the sermon at that service will be preached by the Rev. Albert T. Mollegen, the professor of New Testament and Ethics at the Virginia Theological Seminary. It is hoped that some of the members of St Paul's and Christ Churches will be able to go to Baltimore for the service. The church is located at Greenmount Avenue and York Road.

Precautions.

Here are some precautions advised by the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health for the protection of babies and young children from colds and their damaging after effects:

"Doctors from all over the country report a striking increase in the number of common colds occurring in the general population. This is a danger signal of great importance. Babies and young infants are particularly susceptible to colds. In this, as in many other instances, prevention is much easier than cure. Treatment of colds in babies and young children is not very satisfactory. Some infants who contract colds early in the year will be coughing and sneezing all winter. The danger does not lie so much in the cold or irritation itself as in the complications which come later. Not only is the child's general resistance lowered but the cold offers an excellent avenue for more dangerous germs to get into the body.

"Prevention is not easy but is very much worthwhile. The method to follow is simple but requires diligence and attention to details. In the first place, don't take the baby to crowded places. Do not allow neighbors, friends and relatives to play with the very young infants. For the older child, attempt to make the contact as short as possible and refuse to allow it at all if the visitor is coughing or sneezing. The germs discharged in coughing or sneezing may be sprayed out over remarkable long distances so that a person with a cold should not remain in the same room with a baby.

"The same precautions apply to members of the household but of course, it is impossible for the mother to stay away from the baby when she has a cold. If the baby gets the mother should wear a mask whenever she is near the baby. An effective mask may be made by folding a square of gauze, 3 by 4 inches in size, and tying tapes to the corners. On the front of the mask one should pin a piece of paper towel. The paper is a better protection than the gauze but must be changed when it becomes moist. The mask can be fastened over the nose and mouth by tying the tapes behind the head or ears.

"Be particularly careful about washing the hands before handling the baby and by taking precautions the baby's food. Some of these details will prevent a great number of colds, much discomfort and serious illness. None hope for the prevention or treatment of a cold should never be used except on the advice of a physician.

"It is very important for the child's general health to be kept up to as high a level as possible. The well baby who is getting enough of the right kind of food, plenty of cod liver oil, and tomato juice or orange juice, is in a much better position to resist colds and other infections.

"Every well child should be under the regular supervision of a doctor. For those who can not afford this a service the Bureau of Child Hygiene maintains clinics in all of the counties of the State. You can find out about them from your County Health Officer."

New Laundry for Calvert County.

Mr. Kenneth H. Duckett, of Anne Arundel county, has arranged to conduct a laundry business in Prince Frederick to serve the whole of Calvert. He proposes and is arranging to build and equip an up-to-date plant here, and until that is built and ready for service, he will operate a truck to take the laundry to the Anne Arundel Laundry in Annapolis.

Mr. Duckett will establish an entirely independent plant here to be known as Southern Maryland Laundry. It will be fully equipped to give the best possible service.

"Pocohontas" December 10.

The Indian musical comedy, "Pocohontas" will be given in the Town Hall, Prince Frederick, by the Players Club, on Saturday evening, December 10th, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the agricultural department of the Calvert County High School. Admission 40 and 25 cents. Reserved seat tickets, 10 cents additional, are now on sale at the Elementary School at Prince Frederick. Orders are rapidly coming in for these reserved seat tickets, so it is as well to remind the gay spirit public of Calvert county that it will be best to promptly follow suit. There is not the slightest probability of the musical comedy being repeated, so if you, the public, wish to attend, assure yourself of seats in advance. Without any exaggeration, the offering will be far better than ever, more interesting and amusing, with rich and authentic costuming, and a host of all, benefitting by the addition of a new act and new characters.

The cast is superlative. We publish herewith the names of the principals last week. Those who will appear as Indian braves are: Maurice I. Bowen, Jr., Leroy Dennis, Benjamin Dowell, Jr., John Hall, Jr. William Bowen, Robert Hardesty, Elliott Sheckells, Stewart Sheckells, Samuel Bowen, Charles Fox, Raymond Trott, Alfred Young, Carl Gibson. The Indian girls will be: Misses Vivien Cox, Dorothy Hance, Theresa Truxman, Harper Hardesty, Dorothy Trott, Dorothy Tucker, Anne Carpenter, Dorothy Marquess, Mary Ellen Hance.
