Maryland Among First For Social Security Grants

Federal Appropriations Made For Old-Age Assistance, Dependend Children And Blind

PLAN IS AIDED BY GOLDSBOROUGH

Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough has received from the Social Security Board an announcement of the first social security grants to states, including $168,000 for Old-Age Assistance and $92,400 for Aid to Dependent Children, for the State of Maryland. These grants are for the months of February and March.

A total of $4,446,662.66 for the months of February and March has been granted to states whose plans for old-age pension, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind have been approved by the Social Security Board.

To date, state plans for old-age assistance have been approved for the following 18 states: Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Idaho, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

Aid For Dependent Children

The 12 states with approved plans for aid to dependent children are: Alabama, Arizona, District of Columbia, Idaho, Maine, Maryland, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Washington, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

The 12 states with approved plans for aid to the blind are: Arizona, Connecticut, District of Columbia, Idaho, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Wyoming.

In the states whose public assistance plans are approved by the Social Security Board, the Federal Government will match state funds dollar for dollar in the case of aid to the needy aged and the blind, and one dollar for each two dollars disbursed by the states for aid to dependent children.

Congressman Goldsborough, who, on June 12, 1930, made the first speech ever made in the American Congress favoring Old Age Pensions, is working constantly to have the law strengthened and made more effective.

Famous Public Hangman

Jack Ketch the famous English executioner whose nickname was applied to his successors for nearly two centuries, was appointed public hangman in 1663, historians believe.

THE PROMISE

There is a promise in the air—
A hidden promise, sweet and fair;
Long fingers tapering and slim,
Gaunt, naked branches and bared limb
Write now script magic dipped in rain,
In song and color—glad refrain.

Paths worn by Winter's sheltered tread
Shall trail with violets instead;
And yellow-skirted daffodils
Wait gaily near, in plastic frills,
To join love's joyous vernal dance
Of pageantry and real romance.

Already, wax-tipped hyacinths
Speed upward through lush labyrinths:
They weave a rare design of blue
Contrasting every tulip's hue,
Like ribbons flung upon the grass
That lead to every unknown pass.

Soon, here and there a patch of gold
Shall mark the place of treasured hoard;
Shall twine in deepened, denser spots
Massed tangles of forget-me-nots,
Where cowslips tell with dream-lined eyes
The tale of Springtime's gilded guise.

OBITUARY

ROBERT D. BROWN

Robert Donnell Brown, aged 70 years, who had made his residence in Elkton since he was a boy and during his life had made a host of warm friends, died last Saturday morning about ten o'clock at Union Hospital after a brief illness from pneumonia.

He was a son of the late John and Sarah Jane Campbell Brown and was born on the Donnell farm near Newark, March 5, 1865. While still in his teens he came to Elkton to clerk in the general merchandise store of McCreary and Boulden, later conducted by C. M. Boulden. After Mr. Boulden's death, Mr. Brown and Fred Lewis conducted the business until several years ago.

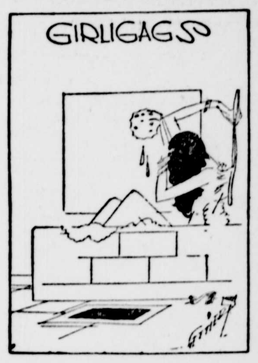
Mr. Brown was a consistent member of the Elkton Presbyterian Church. He was superintendent of the Presbyterian Cemetery and until his recent illness was a special delivery clerk for the local postoffice.

He married Miss Mary E. Perkins, who survives him with two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Brown Ott, at home, and Sarah, wife of George B. McKeown. He is also survived by several grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters: Joseph A., of Iron Hill; George G., of Glasgow; Mrs. Jennie Lynch, of Newark; Mrs. Marian Neville, of Wilmington; Thomas A. and Richard M. Brown, of Glasgow. His eldest brother, William J. Brown, of Lutton's Corner, died only a week ago.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from his late home on North street in charge of Rev. Albert E. Thomas. Interment was in the Elkton Cemetery.

Home of the Dodo

Mauritius, a British island to the east of Madagascar, was the home of the now extinct dodo, a large pigeon with rudimentary wings. Its passing led to the popular saying "As dead as the dodo."



"We're told when the grasshopper chirps it's positively warmer than 62 degrees Fahrenheit," says observing Olivia, "and anything below 62 degrees any janitor will tell you will start the apartment house dwellers chirping."
