Religious services are held every Sunday in the Protestant and Catholic Chapels, led by chaplains appointed by the Veterans Administration. All patients, physically able, may attend the services of their choice. Patients of other faiths not represented by the chapels are permitted to attend special services in nearby cities upon occasions of religious holidays and observances.

Large Staff Employed

There are in the hospital at present more than 1,069 patients, and the regular employees of the institution number 424. Of this number 125 are engaged in the maintenance of the station. The staff includes eleven medical officers, two dental officers, thirty-five nurses, one hundred and thirty-eight attendants, seven occupational therapy aides, four physio-theropy aides, a farm superintendent, x-ray and laboratory technicians, pharmacist, dental technician, and dental hygeinist.

Dr. D. D. Campbell is the Manager, Dr. D. C. F. Davis, Clinical Director and Mr. W. F. McNaught, Business Manager.

There are at present under construction two handsome new buildings, the Acute Building and Continuous Treatment Building.

Landscaping activities have been enlarged to such an extent during the last several years, that transformation has taken place which converted the once uneven grounds around the buildings into smooth lawns, and changed a furrowed field into an attractive golf course.

Institution Ranks High

The one objective of the institution is the care and cure of mental and nervous cases, and every endeavor is directed toward this end. Results have been most encouraging in the past, the hospital sending back to their homes a goodly number of the mentally cured each year.

The Veterans Administration has built at Perry Point a hospital which commands respect from patients, personnel, and the public, one which ranks well-up among institutions of its kind in the country, and one which no doubt, will stand as an enduring memorial to the tremendous efforts put forth by our Government to provide ample facilities and proper care for disabled ex-service men of the World War and previous wars.

KNOW
Your Asparagus

ASPARAGUS is too good for just a chance acquaintanceship. It is one of those foods that you like to know, and which like good books or good music, improves with acquaintance.

Know, then, that there are two varieties of canned asparagus—the white and the green. These are planted from the same seed, but they are picked differently. Green asparagus is green because the tips of the spears have been allowed to poke through the earth and see the sun for a while. White asparagus remains white because it is picked before being exposed to the sun.

From Giant to Tiny

About grades. Asparagus is graded according to size and it is packed both as spears and as tips. Spears are especially nice for cooked dishes and tips are often preferred for salads, sandwiches, etc. From giant to tiny—here are the grades: Giant contains eight to twelve spears to a No. 2½ can: Colossal contains thirteen to sixteen; Mammoth contains seventeen to twenty-four; Large contains twenty-five to thirty-four; Medium contains thirty-five to forty-four; and Small contains forty-five to sixty. The grades of tips are the same, except that Mammoth is the largest and Tiny is the smallest.

Know these facts about asparagus, and if you are a careful buyer you can stock up with asparagus when it is on sale, and select the kinds and sizes most adapted to your own use.*
