Democratic Ticket

For President:
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
of New York

A UNITED EASTERN SHORE

The Democratic campaign on the Eastern Shore will officially get under way Thursday, August 20, when a monster rally for the entire Shore will be held at Ocean City. At a conference held at the Ocean City summer home of Senator Radcliffe last Sunday, factional differences were amicably settled and Old Dealers and New Dealers pledged "to work in harness" for the good of the party and the entire ticket.

Probably never before in the history of the Shore, at least in recent years, has the Democratic party presented such a solid front; leaders of factions will lock horns in local elections but it seems to be the concensus of opinion, from Cecil to Somerset, that in the campaign to return Roosevelt and Garner to Washington, the Eastern Shore Democracy is more united than ever before and as usual this side of the bay will do its share in helping to roll up Maryland's great majority for the Democratic cause in November.

NEED PUBLIC BUILDING HERE

With the announcement last week that Elkton is to be favored with a new high school building, there is another project, of great importance that demands the united support of all. With towns on both the Eastern and Western Shores with smaller populations than Elkton getting new postoffice buildings, it is time that this, one of the largest and most progressive towns in the First Congressional District be given some consideration.

At Chestertown, in our Shore neighbor Kent county, a new public building is now under construction, while in Harford, another neighboring county, new buildings are under way at Havre de Grace, Bel Air and Aberdeen. But one of these towns, Havre de Grace, has a larger population than Elkton. Federal and State agencies, such as the County Agriculture Department, County Home Demonstration Agent, the Welfare Board, Soil Conservation, Public Works Administration and other departments connected with the Federal Government, are scattered here and there, where work is done in cramped quarters. A new public building to house the postoffice and these other agencies would relieve a situation that is not tolerated in other towns in this District where the same work is performed. Elkton and Cecil county deserves something better and the time is ripe now to get behind this movement with a united front.

SHABBY

(From the Philadelphia Record)

Enthusiastic wires from Topeka bear the message that Governor Landon is "putting the State machinery in motion to fight the drought."

The "State machinery" consists of some pumps borrowed from oil companies to help store water, a request to railroads to reduce their freight charges during the emergency, and a policy of encouraging farmers to dig more wells, with their own labor and money.

Federal help in storing water is not necessary, Landon announces. "These things we can do ourselves as we did before."

Why is Landon in a position where he can get away with an ineffectual program like the above without causing Statewide revolt for failing to meet the emergency?

Because the despised New Deal has stepped in, is putting 12,000 Kansas farm families on cash relief, making 7500 feed loans and 8500 emergency crop loans. Because in addition to these grants and loans, W. P. A. is beginning a work relief program to start at once in rural communities.

"Mounting debts and increasing taxes constitute a threat . . . They invariably retard prosperity and they sometimes lead to a situation in which the rights of the people are destroyed," said Landon in his acceptance speech.

But some of the money represented by the national debt and national taxes is even now being used to save the homes and lives of the citizens of Landon's own State. Landon never mentions that, acts as if he doesn't know the Federal Government is doing anything in Kansas, continues his "self reliance," his pose of economy.

It is very easy for Landon to be economical with Kansas' money, while the Federal Government uses its funds to save Kansas, relieving the State of the obligation.

We don't object to Federal aid for Kansas. We know Kansas needs it.

But Landon's outcry against the New Deal spending, which alone enables him to pose as a budget balancer, seems to us one of the shabbiest political dodgers in campaign history.

There is another Republican in Kansas, Senator Capper, who follows the Landon lead. When Landon called on the Government to stop spending in his speech last Thursday, Capper applauded: "A great speech," he said. "Commendable!"

On Monday Capper was right in there, telegraphing to Harry Hopkins, demanding "immediate action" for the relief of drought sufferers. Forgotten were States' rights, the acceptance speech, the G. O. P. economy planks. Capper wanted money and he wanted it right away.

And after the money is spent Capper will be on the stump with another speech: "How that Administration spends the taxpayers' dollars!"

The Administration is spending the taxpayers' dollars for the necessary Kansas drought relief, though you'd never know it from a Landon speech—just as it has been spending $100 to the State's $1 for unemployment relief, though you'd never know that, either, from a Landon speech.

It seems to us that Landon ought either to forbid the spending of a single Federal dollar in Kansas, or keep off the budget-balancing "issue."

It ill behooves the man whose family is in the poorhouse to write letters to the paper objecting to the way the poorhouse authorities spend money.

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

MDLLE. FIFI AND "JACKIE"

This eye-filling beauty will exhibit her pet trained ezbra "Jackie" with the Dan Rice Circus which comes to Elkton for two performances Monday, Aug. 10.

Dan Rice Circus Here August 10

Street Parade Through Town At One O'Clock One Of Featurfes

Monday, August 10 is destined to be a red letter day in the lives of many youngsters when the big Dan Rice Circus comes to Elkton for two performances. In addition to being the first big circus of the season it will be the very first circus ever attended by many a child, and what glorious memories will be theirs in after-years when they recall their "first circus."

The Dan Rice Circus was founded in 1852 by the immortal clown Dan Rice, and has since exhibited in all parts of the world with tremendous success. Today it is recognized as the leading motorized circus of America and its destinies are presided over by Ray Marsh Brydon, a great grandson of its founder, who has this year scoured the entire earth for thrilling and spectacular performances.

Three rings, two stages, hippodrome track and sky-drome aerial way are constantly filled with shapely trapeze artists, dancing elephants, educated horses, ponies and dogs, Japanese acrobats and German jugglers, French equestriennes, trained wild animals, an army of clowns, musical sea lions, English fox hounds and fox hunt and Mary Miller's ballet of 50 dancing divinities.

Buck Sells, famous Western movie star, will appear in person with his cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, bucking broncbos, horses and steers and offer a thrilling episode from the Wild West days of '49.

Three circus bands will enliven the entire show of a thousand and one wonders, and visitors are promised the circus treat of their lives. Two performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m., with the doors opening an hour earlier to allow time for inspection of the zoological department, which is an education in itself.

A monster free street parade is scheduled to take place at one o'clock.
