GIANT TELESCOPE UNIT WENDS WAY ACROSS CONTINENT

PHILADELPHIA — The largest and heaviest single unit for the mounting of California Institute of Technology's giant, 200-inch telescope, the south-end cross member that will form part of the polar supporting the huge mirror tube, is now on its way to Mt. Palomar having began a 5,000-mile journey by rail, water and tractor-trailer. It was parted a 2,000,000 pound shipment of smaller sections of the tlescope.

As large as a freight car, and weighing 90 000 pounds, the southend cross member was built in the South Philadelphia Work of Westinghoue. It was taken from the plant by rail to Eddytone, Pa., and there loaded aboard the freighter American Robin. The other major unit of the shipment is the bearing-box girder. This piece carries the thrust of the bearing at the south end of the polar axis and will be subjected to a load of 325 tons when the scope is completed.

If You Have a Tire Blow Out

What is the best thing to do when a tire blows out?

Recent highway fatalities in which tire blowouts were a factor raise a question as to the competency of the average driver to deal successfully with this type of emergency, the Keystone Automobile Club declares. To help the motorist avoid trouble under such circumstances the Club advises:

Don't slam on the brakes.

Don't release the clutch.

The natural tendency of the driver when a blow-out occurs is to press hard on the brakes, said Matthew P. Hanley, Manager of the Eastern Shore Division of the Club. Driving experts agree this is the wrong tthing to do. Instead, the driver should concentrate his attention on keeping the car on the road and allowing the decelerated motor to act as a brake in slowing down the vehicle.

Quick application of the brakes may result in the car overturning. Releasing the clutch may throw the car into a skid. The big job of the driver when blow-out occurs is to steer. If he can keep the car on the road and prevent skidding he will avoid the horrors which often are the accompainement to blow-out accidents.

It is further stated, for the benefit of drivers who never had experience with blow-outs, that car always swerves in the direction of the blow-out; that is, if a left tire is affected, the swerve will be to the left, and vice versa. Another good thing for drivers to remember is to steer in the direction of the skid; that is, if the skid is to the left, steer that way. The car cannot be brought out of a skid by turning in the opposite direction.

It pays to advertise in the Star.

Bowling Notes

By PIN BOY

Outstanding victories at home and on the road for the high-pin roller representing the Community Alleys featured the week in bowling, and interest is now centering in the match game here next Saturday night, when the Coca-Cola Bottle Babies, formerly the Feminie All-Stars, will meet the P. R. R. Stars from Wilmington.

Last Saturday night, in Cambridge, the Men's team smothered the Cambridge quartet under an avalanche of more than 500 pins to win in a walk while the Girls, entertaining Wilson's Service Station, of Newark, at Elkton piled up more than 200 pins over their opponents. Nellie McDanile won the West End Diner's two steak dinners for high pins with a total of 102 for one game while Mable Louise Hayes continued in the top bracket with 495 tota for the three games.

The Gilrs' scheduled game at Baltimore has been moved over in December at the request of the Baltimore girls, who want more practice with the big pins before the big match. A good crowd ol local rooters are looking forward to the Baltimore struggle, and will accompany the team.

Wilmington, Philadelphia, Newark, Washington, Camden, Newark, N. J., and another journey to New York, are all on the schedule for the Girls.

"Gone With the Girls"

Witty and sparkling dialogue, exciting strip-teasers, slapstick knockabout comedy, without rhyme or reason, but enjoyable entertainment that never fails to delight customers, are the main ingredients of "Gone with the Girls," typical burlesque show, which comes to the Gayety Theatre next week, starting with Matinee, Sunday, Oct. 13th.

Heading the cast is Mike Sachs, perhaps the best Hebrew comedian and comedy piano player on the Burlesque stage. Next in prominence is Miss Diane Johnston, showing marked ability in the exotic dance department. Others include Benny Wop Moore, Italian comedian, his "Sign of the Rose' is a classic that should not be missed; Alice Kennedy, comedienne, singer of spicy ditties; Wen Miller, master of ceremonies; Pastime and Partner, a pair of whirlwind hoofers, Winnie Garret and Ina Thomas, splendidly formed semi-nude exponents; Lew Petel, character actor, and half a dozen other favorites.

The chorus is claimed to be a bevy of pretty girls to whom dancing mean gracefulness and singing means harmony.

FARM NOTES

BEAR, DEL.—Two registered Guernsey bulls have recently been sold by William L. Appleby to Reginald Constable of Elkton, Md. These animals are Forman's Dannie Lee 256475 and Pride of Baynard Hall 234506 according to The American Guernsey Cattle Club, Peterborough, N. H.

A health specialist recently pointed out that the United States, on the whole, has the best and purest milk supply in the world.

A considerable part o the credit for this immensely important achievement must be given to the large dairy marketing cooperatives of America. Part of their work has been to show farmers how to improve both the health and productivity of their herds— and also how to handle milk in the safest possible manner. These lessons have been widely followed—and our pure milk supply is the result.

Chevrolet Master 85 Sport Sedan

This handsome five-passenger model is among the new 1939 Chevrolets which are making their debut in dealers' salesrooms today.

See 1938 Milk Record

A new high record of milk production in 1938—about 110 billion lbs, for the full year—is indicated by monthly estimates of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The increase over 1937 is about 4 per cent.

Butter is the most important manufactured product, using about 41 per cent of the total milk producton. An equivalent amount is used as milk and cream. Cheese takes about 6 per cent of the milk, evaporated milk case goods about 4 per cent, ice cream about 3.5 per cent, and a number of other products the remainder.

The general trend of milk production has been upward during the last 15 years and per capita production has been relatively stable. The proportions used in the various products have not changed significantly during this period.
