FROM FARM TO INDUSTRY

Industry is the farmer's biggest customer. One chemical company alone uses the products of 4,000,000 acres of farm land, an area the size of the state of New Jersey.

Since 1900, the automobile and allied industries have been responsible for 82 billion dollars in payrolls.

BOWLING

CHICAGO — The best five-man bowling team in the United States is the Heil Quality Products quintet of Milwaukee, Wisc., according to figures released here today at the national headquarters of the nationwide Red Crown Sweepstakes.

The Heils, captained by Billy Sixty and including in its personnel some of the finest pinmen in the country, won the grand prize in Red Crown competition, posting the remarkable score of 10,271 for nine games, a total which gives the team an average of 228.21 pins.

The Iroquois House League team, No. 2 of Iroqpois Alleys in Pittsburgh, Pa., won second grand prize in Class A of the sweepstakes, with a pinfall of 9,768 and an average of 217. Third grand prize in Class A competition went to the Trotter's Sanitarium of the Palace Alleys, Kansas City, Mo., which scored 9,749 for an average of 216.

Grand prizes in Class B competition were alloted as follows:

First prize, Team No. 1, Iroquois House League, Pittsburgh, Pa., 9,332; Second prize, Zouhar Meats, Suchan Alleys, Cleveland, Ohio, 9,078; Third prize, Foster Tavern team, Regent Alleys, Brooklyn, N. Y., 9,070.

Class C grand prizes were awarded to the following bowling quintets:

First prize, Meyer's Bar-B-Q's, Central Rowing Alleys, St, Louis,, 8,538; Second prize, Westminister Drugs, 20-Grand Alleys, Detroit, 8,477; Third prize, Low Price Gas team, Recreation Alleys, Richmond, Ind., 8,105.

The Red Crown Sweepstakes, which holds the world's record for individual participation in a major sports event, attracted thousands of A. B. C. sanctioned five-men teams, which qualified for prize play by rolling twenty-one league games prior to January 8. The winning quintets divided 9,045 prizes valued at $50,000.

The majority of bowlers who competed in the Sweepstakes are now rolling in the $10,000 Red Crown Handicap Doubles Bowling Classic, a coast-to-coast event which serves as the season's windup feature for Mr. Average League bowler. Play in the Handicap doubles opened March 15 and will be concluded on May 30. Winners i nthis event will split 900 prizes in cash and merchandise.

With special matches scheduled for both Friday and Saturday, another big week-end of bowlingi s in prospect at the Community Alleys here. The Friday night battle, at the close of the league games, will be staged between an all-star quintet of rollers from Delta, Penna., and the Big Five. It will be the first meeting of the two teams.

Coming right back on Saturday night, the Community Alley team will entertain Duchey's Shieks, of Wilmington, another aggregation of pin spinners who came down here last Monday night and staged a match with the O. T. W.'s of the Women's League. The Shieks won the match. Also in prospect for Saturday night is the contest between the North East Blacklegs and the East Lake Church team. The Roamers will play at Bridgeton and the Coca-Cola Babies will play the CocaCcola Boys at Aberdeen that same evening. The Aberdeen match promises to be a hot one ilnasmuch as the gals defeated the boys when they met in Elkton, much to the amazement of the Aberdeen rollers. It has been noised about that the boys are all loaded up to see that such a defeat doesn't happen twice.

In last week-end's matches all the Elkton teams fared rather badly except the Roamers who played a team from Grady's Alleys, Wilmington, on home grounds and won by a comfortable margin. At Grady's, however, it was a different story. The Big Five went up expecting to play an orinary five-man match. When they got there the Grady management insisted on six men because their team had seven rollers and they wanted all to play. They gave the Big Five one of their men, and with six to a side the contest was on. Grady's won easily.

The O. T. W.'s playing the Grady women stars won two of the three games but lost the match on total pins while the Bottle Babies, pitted against the Delaware Olds, also came out on the losing end after piling up 2,263 pins for the match. Nellie McDaniel won the West End Diner's steaks with 205 for single high.

In the leagues this week Bill Kelly and Charlie Weldon tied for single high with 234 each while Bill Marquess took three-game individual horors with 621. The Aces with 909 turned in the best single, and the Singerly Fire Comanpy, winning the Tuesday night championship, gave a three-game performance of 2,585.

Singerly has won both halves of the league schedule, and last night the Elkton Parson cinched the Wednesday night Flag when they turned back Co. E for four straight points while the lowly Kiwanis Club quint, seventh place contenders, stopped the Methodist's Men's Club long enough to knock the churchmen out of a tie with the Parsons for top post.

"DRESS" KITCHEN IN SUBDUED COLORS

When decorating the kitchen keep in subdued colors. The areas available for color treatment ars so large — walls, counter tops and flooring — that high color creates a garish and theatrical effect. Moreover, the eye needs the relief of pastel tones from the bright surfaces of steel, enamel, glass and porcelain.

Instead of bright reds and strident blues, choose the more subtle shades of brick red, soft grey-blue, olive-green of mustard yellow. White enamel range and refrigerator, with black bases and black or chronium handles, will commit you to no fixed color scheme and permit you to change your kitchen colors whenever you wish.

Western Maryland College Notes

Frank Coe Sheppard, a senior at Western Maryland College, this week retired from his position as editor-in-chief of the college newspaper, the Gold Bug.

Mr. Sheppard, of Port Deposit, is active in both journalism and in debating at the college. He is a member of the debating team and of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debating fraternity. He recently completed a week's trip through Pennsylvania and represented Western Maryland at the annual debater's convention at Pennsylvania State Collge.

The annual regional convention of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debating fraternity, will be held at Western Maryland College on April 28 and 29.

A debate tournament and an after-dinner speaking contest will be the highlights of the convention, which will be attended by representatives from approximately fifteen colleges.

Western Maryland College will hold its 69th annual investiture service on Wednesday, April 5, at 10:00 A. M. At this time, the one hundred and five members of the senior class will formally assume the academic caps and gowns, symbols of their graduate rank.

The program includes a procession of the faculty and senior class tn Alumni Hall, a prayer by the president of the college, and an address by a member of the faculty whose name is not disclosed until the day of the investiture.

Some of the "low cost" housing projects have been found to be costing the government $8,760 per unit.

Communists in the United States making $50 a week are assessed $52 yearly dues, plus $52 for every $10 above $50.

Hints to Gardeners

Choosing Your Flowers

FLOWERS may be adapted to so many varying conditions and to so many uses and purposes that a continuation of an earlier discussion, "Flowers for a Purpose," is necessary.

Many gardeners wonder, for instance, what will grow in the semi-shady spots about the yard. Try any of the following: Annuals—balsam, clarkia, coleus, nasturtium, pansy, calendula and vinca; Perennials — bellis perennis (English daisy), campanula, columbine, myosotis, Sweet William and viola.

Gardeners living in sections characteristically drouthy, or those having unusually well-drained soil lying in full sun, are advised to try the following: Annuals—abronia, ageratum, alyssum procumbens, arctotis, calliopsis, candytuft, cosmos, four o' clock lupin texensis, petunia, portulaca, sunflower, verbena, vinca and zinnia; Perennials — coreopsis and hollyhock.

If you are particularly interested in fragrance, grow some of the following, all of which are notable for their delightful aroma: Annuals—alyssum, carnation, heliotrope, matthiola, mignonette, nicotiana, and sweet pea; Perennials — lilium and Sweet William.

To develop a truly typical wild-flower garden, include several of the following: Annuals — annual lupin and rudbeckia (cone flower); Perennials — aquilegia, asclepias tuberosa, perennial aster, heuchera (coral bells), and perennial lupin.

Persons desirous of growing plants with showy foliage, rather than brilliant bloom, are advised to try amaranthus tricolor, coleus, centaurea gymnocarpa, euphorbia variegata (snow-on-the-mountain), euphorbia heterophylla (annual poinsetta), kochia and ricinus (castor oil bean).

Excellent selections for window boxes are ageratum, begonia, coleus, heliotrope, lantana, lobelia, dwarf nasturtium, petunia, phlox drummondi, thunbergia and verbena.

Ferdinand Goes A-Roaming

T'was a peaceful scene, some men were exposed to blue prints, others to shovels, saws, etc.; all for the purpose of erecting the first pier of the Perryville-Havre de Grace bridge. No one was paying much mind to our hero in the adjoining field.

Good old Ferdinand, displeased at this lack of attention decided to take matters in his own hands. He put his horns under the fence and gave a lurch. It was a cinch. Yea! a cinch!

Our pal, once defenced, celebrated his freedom by approaching the workmen at the speed of a departing PWA check.

Ferdinand might have only been curious but the result was startling. The entire job was treed. I guarantee all the tea in China it was! Yea! Was!

Our hero's master shortly arrived on the scene and whispered something to Ferdinand who departed to the barn at great haste, but with a different gleam in his eye.

24 PER CENT IN SCHOOL

Twenty-four per cent of our total population attends school. In England, the figure is only 16 per cent, in France 13 per cent, in Germany 13 per cent, and in Italy 12 per cent.
