The aforegoing statement shows that more than six-tenths of the assessment for 1859 has been collected. It also shows a falling off from the receipts of 1858, of one hundred and twelve thousand four hundred and thirty-two dollars and thirty-one cents, (112,432 31-100.)

Of this amount twenty-two thousand six hundred and twenty-six dollars and forty-eight cents, ($22,626 48-100,) are for city taxes, and eighty-nine thousand eight hundred and five dollars and eighty-three cents ($89,805 83-100) for opening streets, new wells, pumps and paving footways. The amount collected, however, though not meeting the expectations of the city, compares favorably with former collections.

In consequence of increased and constantly increasing work in this office, owing to the books remaining here instead of being transferred to the office of the Auditor as heretofore, in
