Chestertown Transcript:
THURSDAY, JULY 8, 1880.

Tecumseh's Letter, last week, was received too late for publication.

Valuable Town Property is advertised in this issue by James A. Pearce, Esq., Trustee.

The Thanks of the office are due Mr. J. W. STARTT for a liberal treat to ice-cream and cake last week. He is prepared to supply a good article of the cooling delicacy to those who desire it.

The Hayes Quartette gave entertainments in the Armory building on last Thursday and Friday evenings. The attendance was not large either evening, but those who attended enjoyed the performances much.

To Annapolis.—Friday, the 16th of July, is the day upon which the Kent Guards have their excursion to Annapolis. The Guards expect to make the trip enjoyable to every body who desire to go along. Read their advertisement elsewhere in our columns.

The Bowie Farm, comprising 159 acres, was sold on Tuesday last, by Harrison W. Vickers, Esq., Trustee. It was, as advertised, offered at public sale, and afterward sold at private sale, to Mrs. E. Jane Lemly, of Chesterville, for $4,000. The price is considered a good one.

Night Line.—We call the attention of peach growers and travelers to two advertisements of Capt. Joseph W. Thompson,—the one in reference to the steamer L. G. CANNON, and the other will be found to contain some useful suggestions to fruit shippers.

The Photographers, Messrs. Horning & Davis who, ever since last September, have been taking pictures next door to the TRANSCRIPT office, yesterday morning took their departure for Chesapeake City. They are clever gentlemen and good photographers, and we hope abundant success awaits them in their new location.

Baltimore Grain Market.—The Sun, of Wednesday (yesterday)has the following quotations: The market for Southern wheat was active, but closed a shade easier under the large receipts and the absence of a competitive demand from millers. The sales were mostly at 1 10@1 14 for steamboat lots and 1 14@$1 14½ for Fultz, and at 1 15@$1 17 for long-berry in cargo lots.

The First Excursion to Cape May.—On Wednesday, the 21st day of July, the Methodist Protestant Sunday School has the first excursion of the season from Kent county to Cape May. It is superfluous to praise Cape May to Kent county people. Those who have been there know how to appreciate it, and those who have not been should go and learn how to appreciate it. See advertisement elsewhere.

The Population of the Principal Towns of the Peninsula.—We have given, from time to time, the population of various Peninsula towns, and as the census is now completed in all of them we are enabled to gather them together and give their population in regular order. Some, however, we have not yet heard from. Wilmington attains the dignity of a city with a population of 42060, Newcastle has 3800, Easton 3660, Dover 2865, Salisbury 2526, Smyrna 2490, Chestertown 2360, Milford 2350, Cambridge 2262, Elkton 1761, Seaford 1540, Middletown 1277, Centreville 1210, St. Michaels 1175, Newark 1140, Delaware City 1111, North East 1102, Milton 1025, Princess Anne 750, Greensboro' 700, Frederica 697, Denton 445.

The Glorious Fourth and the Canoe Race.—Monday, the 5th day of July, was pretty generally observed in Chestertown and vicinity as independence day. Tolchester Beach drew off quite a number, and Woodland Beach others, while a goodly number remained at home to see the canoe race. A brisk breeze was blowing in the morning, rather too brisk indeed for a good race. Six boats were to have entered for the first prize,—the "Mary Virginia," the "Ida May," the "Southern Beauty," the "C. A. Leary," the "E. R. Strong," and the "H. W. Vickers." Before the race began, however, in running up and down the river under heavy sail, the "Ida May" had her mast broken, the "C. A. Leary" split her centre-board and the "Mary Virginia" capsized. She was, however, righted and bailed out in time to enter the race. The other two boats were entirely disabled, so that only four canoes entered the first class race. On the first round the "E. R. Strong," under Capt. Crouch, was considerably in the lead, but just after rounding the stake her mainmast was carried away, and she was compelled to withdraw from the race. The remaining three boats came in on the home stretch in the following order: "Southern Beauty," under Capt. M. Corsey first, winning first prize of eight dollars. The "H. W. Vickers," under Capt. Ashley, came in second, winning a prize of five dollars. The "Mary Virginia," under Capt. Charles Stevens, came in third.

In the second race the entrees were the "Eureka," Capt. L. Parks, the "Pilot Boy," Capt. A. Wilmer, the "Republic," Capt. H. Lambert, and the "Hampton," Captain Skirven. The "Eureka" took the first prize of six dollars, the "Republic" the second prize of three dollars: the "Hampton" came in third, and the "Pilot Boy" fourth.

Closing Exercises of Washington College.—On last Tuesday evening Prof. J. T. Rowley, of Washington College, delivered the Anniversary Address before the Mount Vernon Literary Society of the College, and before a large and select audience of ladies and gentlemen. Cornet music was furnished by a Baltimore band. The Court House, where the address was delivered, was early filled, and those who came late were compelled to stand. The subject of the Professor's address was, "The method of Divine government in relation to the law of compensation." We cannot without the manuscript,—which we have not,—give any satisfactory extracts from the address. It was listened to with appreciative attention and applauded on its conclusion.

The Commencement Exercises of the College were held yesterday morning, in the Court House, commencing at 10:30 o'clock. Addresses were delivered by graduating students as follows: the Salutatory, in Latin, by Mr. A. E. Twiford of Wicomico county; "Philosophy the handmaid of History," Mr. William P. Beckwith of Dorchester county; "Literature Influences National Character," Mr. O. M. Purnell of Worcester county; "Science among the Ancients," Mr. F. R. Malone, Caroline county; "Moral Courage," Mr. A. E. Twiford, Wicomico county. After the addresses, certificates of distinction were conferred upon members of the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes. The Visitors' and Governors' Gold Medal was presented to Mr. Charles Harley as the student of the Junior Class most distinguished for industry and progress. The Valedictory Address was delivered by Mr. W. P. Beckwith. The speakers were each loudly applauded, and numerous floral tributes were sent up from lady friends. Between each of the addresses the band entertained the audience with music. The concluding exercise was the conferring of diplomas upon the graduates by the Principal. The students who received the Bachelor's degree were Mr. A. E. Twiford, Mr. Wm. P. Beckwith, Mr. O. M. Purnell, and Mr. F. R. Malone.

The Court House, as on the evening of the address before the Literary Society, was crowded with visitors, very few aside from the ladies being able to find seats.

Public School Association.—The last meeting of this Association for the scholastic year, was held at the school room in Chestertown, on Friday last, the schools having closed on Wednesday. Forty-one of the fifty-four teachers, members of this Association, were present, and several of the absent ones were reported sick. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Mr. Pinkind, in the absence of the Rev. Mr. Nepier. After music and roll-call, it was, on motion, determined to have but one session.

The first question, "How can the quarterly meetings of our Association be made more attractive to both teachers and visitors?" was discussed at length. Mr. Starkey thought the only necessary addition was music, which, the school in Chestertown, had now made practicable with the use of their organ. He had always enjoyed and profited by the meetings. Mr. Tonkin suggested the employment of a practical lecturer for each meeting. Mr. Copper said that the meetings should be held on Saturday instead of a school day. Mr. Melvin argued that the meetings should not be held for the entertainment of either teachers or visitors, but should be so conducted as to advance the interests of the school room. The majority thought that greater interest and more thorough preparation on the part of the teachers would secure all that the question asked. The President suggested that election district meetings of the teachers be held on the Saturday previous to the county meeting, and that the questions be there talked over informally, and if desired, the views of the district be presented by one or more. Upon a call of the Association twenty-nine of the teachers had thought over the subjects with a view of expressing their opinions.

The question was asked by the President, "What branches and in what order should be taught the first and second years of the seventh grade work?" The discussion resulted in the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the School Board be requested to adopt a schedule of studies for the first and second year of the seventh grade work.

At 12 M. the Rev. S. C. Roberts delivered the regular address, taking for his subject, "Education; its limit." After a short recess, and music, the Literary Committee reported the following questions for discussion at the next meeting:

What is the best method of winning the confidence and affection of vicious pupils?

What limit should be put upon whispering, and how?

Mrs. Stephens asked: "What should be done with pupils who will not provide themselves with books?" It was answered that the law requires pupils to "pursue the prescribed course of study and in such classes as the teacher may direct;" that the School Board provides for supplying indigent pupils with books, and that others must procure the necessary books for the course, or may be suspended from the school.

The question, "What advantage, if any, from memorizing the spelling of a word without knowing its meaning?" Postponed to the next meeting.

The second question, "To what extent should drawing be taught, and what is the advantage?" elicited the opinion that it might be profitably employed in our public schools and was practicable with the lower grades, and in map drawing. The subject was considered of sufficient importance to be carried over as unfinished business for the next meeting.

At the conclusion of the discussion Mr. W. F. Taylor, in behalf of the Association, presented the Examiner with a handsome gold chain as a tribute of respect and in appreciation of his attention to the duties of his office. For which he returned thanks.

At half-past one o'clock the Doxology was sung by the entire Association, and the Rev. Mr. Roberts pronounced the Benediction.

Another Trip to Washington.—The rain of last Thursday night made a cool, clear, and refreshing atmosphere for Friday morning. The musical efforts of the drummer-boy combined with the shrill whistles of the Keyport soon had a goodly number of excursionists traveling toward the wharf, rubbing the sleep out of their eyes as they walked along. The main feature of this excursion, from a humorous stand-point, was our High street jeweler. About 5.45 in the morning, those who had already assembled aboard the "Keyport" happened to cast their eyes up High street, and they saw him sailing jauntily down, a linen duster thrown carelessly over his left arm, his head thrown back at an angle of 45 degrees and a benevolent smile overspreading his countenance. As he stepped aboard the boat he looked every inch a man who owned two lines of steamboats, and who was just on his way to Washington to buy up the White House. He paid his two dollars for his ticket with the air of a Commodore Vanderbilt, deposited his linen duster with the barber and immediately proceeded to make himself at home. The first thing he did was to corner an innocent excursionist, one who had never done him any harm in his life, and to give the aforesaid innocent excursionist a long and minute account of his two bunions, which he said gave him a great deal of trouble, especially in wet weather. The hauling out of the steamboat probably saved the innocent excursionist's life, as the attention of the jeweler was thus distracted from the story of his bunions. However in steaming up the river he had an opportunity to interview most of the passengers, and by the time we reached the bay, all of us were near about as well acquainted with the tragic story of his bunions as we were with the history of George Washington and his little hatchet. At Quaker Neck we took on our largest assortment of passengers after leaving Chestertown. Just before arriving at Corsica, the breakfast bell rang. The boat landed and five passengers stepped aboard. One of these was a gentleman from Centreville. This proved to everybody, that after all the Centreville people will turn out when it is not raining, and they are not thereby rendered afraid of being laughed at by the Washington people. The Corsica passengers, however, made a very agreeable addition to the excursion. One of the ladies who made up the party, we know to be not much afraid of the rain, the Washington people or of any thing else. Unfortunately we left her and her two friends in Washington. At breakfast the eye of the High street jeweler rested longingly upon the silver spoons. He pronounced them to be Canfield's best. Nobody supposed though that he had any idea of appropiating them. When breakfast was over, however, an examination of the jeweler's pockets showed that he had hidden away three spoons and a pepper caster. His friends felt very bad for him, but we heard one old gentleman remark that for his part he "didn't really believe that Mr. L——— took them spoons." He believed that "some of them fellows put 'em in his pocket."

The breeze kept fresh, and every body enjoyed the run across the bay to Annapolis. We landed at the naval academy wharf, traveled through the Naval Academy grounds, through Annapolistown to the depot; boarded the train and were soon whistling through as poverty stricken a country as ever an Eastern Shoreman clapped his two eyes on.

Before reaching Annapolis the High street jeweler, a High street grocer and provision merchant, and a young pill manufacturer who holds forth on the opposite corner, formed a solemn compact, that sink or swim, live or die, survive or perish, they would stick to each other through thick and thin, and go up and call on the President together. After the proper number of jokes had been worked up, upon the poverty of the country through which we were passing, we hove in sight of Washington. We took in the tunnel—or rather it took us in—in regular order. There are several interesting yarns we might spin in connection with this tunnel, both going and coming, but out of consideration for several charming young ladies we won't say anything about it. At Washington we tried to keep our eye on the "solemn trio" but we couldn't do it. In company with a "learned limb of the law" we visited the Smithsonian institution, Corcoran's art gallery, the White House and the Capitol in the order named. We cannot nor will not attempt to tell what we saw at the Smithsonian or the art gallery. There was altogether too much to be put within the compass of a dozen columns. We got somewhat of an unusual view of the White House A gentleman of color, probably laboring under the impression that we were good for fifty cents apiece, beckoned us from a side door opening into the large east parlor, and informed us that the President and his family were away and that if we liked he would show us through the private apartments. He showed us through the private sitting room, private parlor, &c. In the sitting room we noticed on a table a well thumbed book, and on the fly-leaf was written "Presented to Mrs. R. B. Hayes by George W. Childs." The book, if we mistake not, was "Livingstone's travels in Africa." Of course every thing in the White House, both public and private, was magnificent. From the White House we went to the capitol building. Everything here was comparatively quiet and humdrum.—Even the pie-women, the soda fountain runners and the photograph and curiosity sellers have near about deserted the building. The desks have all been taken out of the Senate chamber and are being put in order for next session. We examined the desks of several senators, but most of them were tightly locked, so that the secrets of their insides could not be got at.—Senator Ferry of Michigan, however, left a desk that told a tale. When the lid was raised, there appeared to view an old brierwood pipe, burned half away, and which was so saturated with nicotine that when in use we venture to say it could be smelled for a distance of one hundred yards. Beside the pipe was a pouch half filled with tobacco, and a box of matches. No plainer evidence that the Senator is in the habit of burning the weed, need be asked.

After leaving the capitol we made our way slowly down to the depot. Arrived at the depot, we placed our eyes for the first time since starting out, upon the "solemn trio." They were in just as lively a humor as ever, and the High street jeweler informed us that they had been up to call on the President, but not finding him at home, they had paid their respects to Master Scott Hayes, the President's son. The jeweler was the spokesman for the party. He complimented young Hayes upon his personal appearance, discussed with him the probability of Hancock's living in the White House, and finally wound up by giving the young man a touching history of his two bunions, which give him a great deal of trouble especially in wet weather. The hauling out of the steamboat probably saved the innocent excursionist's life, as the attention of the jeweler was thus distracted from the story of his bunions. However in steaming up the river he had an opportunity to interview most of the passengers, and by the time we reached the bay, all of us were near about as well acquainted with the tragic story of his bunions as we were with the history of George Washington and his little hatchet. At Quaker Neck we took on our largest assortment of passengers after leaving Chestertown. Just before arriving at Corsica, the breakfast bell rang. The boat landed and five passengers stepped aboard. Literary Revolution and Universal Knowledge.

An Encyclopædia in 20 Volumes, over 16,000 Pages; 10 per cent more matter than any Encyclopædia ever before published in this country, and sold, handsomely and well bound, in cloth for $10, in half morocco for $15, and printed on fine heavy paper, wide margins, bound in half Russia, gilt top, for $20—an enterprise so extraordinary that its success, beyond all precedent in book publishing, may be fairly claimed to inaugurate a Literary Revolution.

THE LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE is a reprint of the last (1879) Edinburgh edition of "Chamber's Encyclopædia," with about 40 per cent. of new matter added, upon topics of special interest to American readers, thus making it equal in character to any similar work, better than any other suited to the wants of the great majority of those who consult works of reference, and altogether the latest Encyclopædia in the field.

Specimen Volumes in either style will be sent for examination with privilege of return on receipt of proportionate price per volume.

Special Discounts to all early subscribers, and extra discounts to clubs. Full particulars with descriptive catalogue of many other standard works equally low in price, sent free.

Leading principles of the AMERICAN BOOK EXCHANGE:

I—Publish only books of real value.

II—Work upon the basis of present cost of making books, about one half what it was a few years ago.

III.—Sell to buyers direct, and save them the 50 to 60 per cent. commission commonly allowed to dealers.

IV.—The cost of books when made 10,000 at a time is but a fraction of the cost when made 500 at a time—adopt the low price and sell the large quantity.

V.—Use good type, paper, etc., do careful printing, and strong, neat binding, but avoid all "padding," fat and heavily-leaded type, spongy paper and gaudy binding, which are so commonly resorted to to make books appear large and fine, and which greatly add to their cost, but do not add to their value.

VI.—To make $1 and a friend is better than to make $5 and an enemy.

KENNARD & Co's "Sterling Phosphate,"

$23.00 CASH or $25.00 TIME.

:O:

HAVING been used with such great success last Spring on Corn and Vegetables, we have enlarged our Factory, added new and improved machinery thereto and again offer it to the farmers with every confidence in its great worth. We also announce the fact that our capacity will enable us to fill promptly and without a failure, all orders for our goods.

The following are a few of the many testimonials as to the benefits derived from the use of the "STERLING PHOSPHATE" last Spring:

Chestertown, Md., February 21st, 1880.

Dear Sirs: Your Phosphate that I used on my corn last Spring, gave me great satisfaction. I also used your wheat Phosphate last Fall, it is now looking as well as other phosphates on the same land at a higher figure. I expect to use your goods next Spring.
Yours truly, COMEGYS BROWN.

Chestertown, February, 1880.

KENNARD & Co.: In reply to your question regarding the action of your Fertilizer, I will just state that I have only tried it on sugar beets. I applied it to my beets last Spring, putting it in the drill before I planted the seed, and notwithstanding the unfavorable circumstances to which the beets were subjected, the yield was far ahead of my most sanguine expectations.
Yours, &c., I. C. TAYLOR.

Chestertown, Md., March 5th, 1880.

MESSRS. KENNARD & Co—Gentlemen: I used your Phosphate last Spring on my corn; applied it at the rate of one handful to three hills, and where I put it the yield was about twenty-five bushels to the acre, and where I did not put any the yield was about ten bushels to the acre. On a portion of the same land I applied barn-yard manure, and the result was about twelve bushels to the acre. Where I used your stuff, the ear was large, well filled and I could not find a worm in a hundred ears, the grains were large and close together. Where I did not use the Phosphate a great many ears were wormy and poorly filled. I can cheerfully recommend it, and will use more this Spring. Truly Yours, GEORGE W. LONG,

We also keep on hand at all times a full line of

Pure Dissolved and Raw Bone and other Chemicals

for manipulating, and respectfully invite the farmers to procure our prices before purchasing elsewhere.

SYNOPSIS OF REPORT

OF JUDGES TO THE KENT COUNTY AGRCULTURAL CLUB.

The "OHIO CHILLED" was 27.03 lighter to the cubic foot than the "Oliver Chilled," 33.57 lighter to the cubic foot than the "Roland Chill," and 169.08 lighter to the cubic foot than the "Adeance."

and letters to and from plowman:

Chestertown, Md., March 6th, 1880.

J. E. NEWCOMB, Esq.,—Dear Sir: You having been selected, by the Judges, as plowman in the late plow contest held on the farm of Mr. Wm. Morris, Tuesday, the 2d inst., we would be pleased to have your opinion of the "Ohio Chilled" and "Imperial" plow, entered by ourselves. Respectfully requesting an early reply, we remain, Very truly yours, KENNARD & CO.

Worton Station, March 8th, 1880.

MESSRS. KENNARD & Co—Gentlemen: In answer to your question of March 6th about the plows tried at Mr. Wm. Morris's of which I was plowman, I will simply state to you what I said to the Kent County Agricultural Club this afternoon, that of all the plows I handled, viz: the Advance, Roland, Oliver Chilled, Ohio Chilled and Gibb's Imperial, that the Ohio Chilled and Gibb's Imperial as sold by you were the best that I have ever handled. I state this in justice to your plows, not being pleased with them at first, am glad to say I was agreeably disappointed.
Very truly yours, J. E. NEWCOMB.

We also intend carrying a full line of Agricultural Implements,

and are satisfied that it would be to the purchaser's interest to first examine our Stock and prices.
