Chestertown Transcript.
THURSDAY, AUG. 26, 1880.

The Kent County Fair on the 14th, 15th and 16th days of September. Our people should take a pride in home institutions and do all in their power to make the fair a success.

Festival.—The Ladies will hold a Festival, on the evenings of Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 2d, 3d and 4th, at the new M. P. Church at Lynch's. See advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

The Picnic held in McCauley's woods, on Wednesday the 18th inst., under the auspices of St. Dennis' congregation, was quite a success. It was well attended and a most pleasant affair. Every one seemed to enjoy himself and not the least thing happened to mar the enjoyment of the picnicers. About $120 was realized.

Death of a former Chestertown Physician.—Dr. T. S. Holton, recently of Chestertown, died at his residence in Baltimore on last Friday. He had many friends in and around Chestertown, and at one time a good practice. For a considerable time before leaving here, he was so much broken in health, that he was not able to attend promptly to his professional duties.

Sad Bereavement.—Mr. I. Freeman Rasin, Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, of Baltimore city, a native of Kent county, met with a sad family bereavement last Monday in the death, after a somewhat lingering illness, of his son Morris, aged 11 years, from scarlet fever. It has been but a few months since Mr. Rasin lost an accomplished and interesting daughter.

Baltimore Grain Market.—From the Sun of Wednesday, we make the following quotations: Wheat, inferior to common red, 85 cents a $1; 1 03a1 06½ for good to prime Fultz, and 1 07a 1 12 for long-berry. Southern Corn was steady; white 53a54 cents for good, and yellow at 56 cents for prime.

Cape May.—Another opportunity for Cape May on Wednesday the first day of September. The lessee's family excursion is booked for that day. If the day should happen to be a little cool, nobody need be afraid of the bathing on that account, as it is said to be an ascertained fact, that the water of the ocean warms up slowly and cools so slowly, that it is warmer in September and October than in July and August. If the weather should be as hot as during the first part of this week, everybody who can will certainly need to go to get cooled off. See advertisement elsewhere.

The Dover Fair Advertisement.—We received from the secretary of the Delaware State Fair, last week, a letter offering the same sum for inserting their advertisement as was offered to the Kent News. We immediately wrote back stating our terms. We received a second letter offering to split the difference. We replied refusing to "split," and received a third letter directing us to insert the advertisement at our own terms. We get full advertising rates for the Delaware State Fair advertisement. We receive offers of advertising nearly every week at terms so low that we refuse it, and we should not have made any mention of the above except to explain that we did not accept it at the low rates offered. The advertisement will be found elsewhere in our columns.

Delegates to Salisbury.—In obedience to the call of the State Central Committee, primary meetings were held in each election district of Kent county last Saturday, at which five delegates were appointed to meet in County Convention in Chestertown, on Tuesday, for the purpose of selecting three delegates to represent Kent county in the Congressional Convention which meets in Salisbury next Wednesday, the first day of September.

The delegates from the respective election districts assembled at the Court House on Tuesday and organized by electing Wm. Y. Lucas president and Henry F. McNeal secretary. The following were the delegates from each election district:

First District—C. P. Loper, C. B. Peacock, Joseph Dulaney, W. A. Hynson, J. H. Hurtt.

Second District—John F. Becks, Henry F. McNeal, F. H. Boulden, John Medders, John Harris.

Third District—R. C. Smyth, Jos. R. Usilton, Wm. Y. Lucas, D. E. Jewell, W. P. Smith.

Fourth District—Thos. P. Dixon, John Armstrong, C. H. Davis, H. M. Stuart, J. W. Loud.

Fifth District—Jas. L. Beck, Edgar H. Strong, Nathan Voshell, Morgan Brown, R. B. Wilson.

The names of the following gentlemen were put in nomination as delegates to the Salisbury Convention: Col. Richard C. Johnson of the first district, Messrs. William T. Hepbron, second district, Jesse K. Hines fourth district, and John Brice, fifth district. On a ballot being taken it was found that Messrs. William T. Hepbron, Jesse K. Hines and John Brice were elected as delegates to the Salisbury Convention.

The delegation goes without any special instructions.

Excursion to Cape May.

(From the Middletown Transcript.)

By invitation of the Kent Cornet Band of Chestertown, in which the Transcript has always taken a lively interest, the local editor took his share of their grand excursion to Cape May, on Wednesday of this week. The day could not have been a more beautiful one had it been cut out and made to order expressly for the occasion. At Middletown it was not generally known that connection would be made on the Delaware road with the excursion, and, consequently, there was only a trio to go. At Clayton we waited for the Chestertown people, of course, for they had the band along, and under the circumstances, we intended to stay by that until the last horn blew. Besides, we never ride on an excursion train that has no band, when it doesn't cost any more to go on one that has.

There were five cars in the Kent train, all about as full as you could well pack them. No people in the world know how to get more fun out of an excursion than our Kent (Md.) neighbors. Nearly every week during the season they knock over a few chickens, bake a basket of Maryland biscuit and other palatable things and go off for a day's enjoyment. They get all that is on the bills; they go for a good time; they leave their cares, troubles, tribulations, and most of their babies at home; they talk, laugh, eat, bathe, dance, sing and are happy. There is nothing prim and stiff about them, either. We never saw a Kent county girl on an excursion that looked like she had swallowed a hoe handle and was unable to digest it. If they have any of that kind down there they evidently leave them at home when they have an excursion.

The ride from Clayton over to the Hook was a delightful one. We would sooner ride on this little road than any other on the Peninsula, because it is free from dust, and there is an oscillating motion all the time that is simply delightful, after one gets used to it. We packed in a few more passengers at Smyrna. At Woodland Beach the excursionists had time for a walk over the grounds, and some liked the place so well they decided to spend the day there rather than go on to the Cape. The Thomas Clyde came to the wharf with a big load of people, and one might have wondered where they were going to put five or six hundred more souls (including uppers) without packing some of them away in the hold. Three or four hundred got off, however, and left some room. It was quite fortunate for us they didn't take it ashore with them. A few of our excursionists seemed to be so much appalled at the great number of people on the boat that they decided to stay at the Hook until the Clyde came back. They "liked the Hook better than Cape May anyway," they said. Since steamboats have a way of sinking suddenly, this season, they would just as leave stay behind and forego this delightful bay ride, so as to make room for their friends. How self-sacrificing some people are.

The ride down the bay will not soon be forgotten by those who enjoyed it. There was just "swell" enough on the bay to make the ride delightful to all who did not suffer from a queer feeling down in their stomachs. Some sucked lemons, while others went out in search of "fresh air" and to look at the "mad sea waves." No doubt they all regretted that they brought their stomachs along, but there was no help for it now. We saw one fair flower lean her blanched cheek upon the shoulder of her protector and exclaim, feelingly, "Oh, if I ever get home I'll stay there!" But she will not. She'll go again the very next time she's asked. The band gave us some pleasing music on the forward deck and the orchestra belonging to the boat made the after cabin melodious.

We were invited to interview a part of a Kent county spring chicken, and fixtures, which we did and pronounced it good. Chairs were scarce and one nice, considerate young man took the only one there was in the after cabin and seated his girl on his lap. She sat there as naturally as though she was used to it, then all the young men that came along that way were envious of that young man because he seemed to be enjoying himself.

The Clyde is well supplied with life preservers, and there are directions posted up telling you how to put them on. If you can't read the directions, or don't understand them, you are to go to the steward. If there had been an accident some of us might have had to go overboard after that steward. Everybody on an excursion wants to get off at once, and the forward deck was full some time before we reached Cape May. We only saw two people that were not in a hurry. They were either a freshly married pair or a pair of lovers who wanted to be married. They sat very close together, holding each other by the hand, while all around them were rushing for the forward deck or death. We got into the very midst of the jam, as usual, and were directly surrounded by five or six girls, who evidently didn't know they were almost crushing a local editor to death. But the cause was a glorious one, and we would have died right there if it had been necessary, without a murmur.

After getting off the steamer there was another jam at the ticket gate, and still another at the place you purchase tickets for the cars that run up to Cape May city. It is really an outrage that a thousand people should be compelled to stand here in the sun to wait their turn to buy tickets at one little window before they can get on the cars. But it is said that Cape May people have an idea that excursionists come there expressly in search of discomforts, and they try always to give them the worth of their money. The cars were crowded and a few hung on by the brakes and other things.

Cape May is considerably changed since the fire, and for the better. Some of the hotels are not so large as before, but are better built and handsomer. We looked for our cottage but could not find it. It must have been burnt with the rest. When our uncle in Nevada dies and leaves us $10,000,000 we shall build another and spend a part of every summer down there. And we shall invite the Kent Cornet Band to come and play for us.

The bathing was very good, and many of our excursionists enjoyed it, and then went around and saw the city. We dropped into one of the big hotels, got a tooth-pick and looked at the clerk. He charged us only $1 50 and we thought it was cheap. He was the finest specimen of the American hotel clerk we have seen this year. His eye-glasses were as large as saucers; his hair was parted down the middle as straight as a corn-row, and his diamond pin looked like the head-light of a locomotive. We intended to put his picture in this article, but found, at the last moment, that his breast-pin would not go in our columns, and a Cape May hotel clerk without his diamond pin would be a blank and barren failure. So we left the clerk out.

At 4 p. m., our people were gathered on board the "Clyde" and again delighted by a ride on the bay. Though they had had four hours of sight-seeing, none seemed weary. Dancing was started, and a number of ladies and gentlemen participated. Through the kindness of Mr. John N. Dodd, the leader, we were idtroduced to the several members of the band, and they blew some excellent music. We reached the Hook about 6:30 and were soon at Clayton, where we had to leave our Kent county friends. The band, we learn, realized about one hundred dollars from their excursion. They deserve to have done better. We were never on a more enjoyable pleasure trip. There was no rough element along, no intoxicated people, no quarrels; nothing but pleasure and good fellowship throughout.

In conclusion, we want to say that the members of the Kent Cornet Band are gentlemen, every one of them, and know how to manage an excursion as well as the man who invented excursions. May they live to have many more pleasure trips to Cape May and hold out faithful to the end.

LITERARY REVIEW.

Scribner's Monthly for September contains two particularly attractive features—an illustrated paper describing the localities immortalized in "Pickwick" and "Nicholas Nickleby," and the first of a series of articles on the famous French artist Millet. The illustrations accompanying the latter are mostly fac-similes of charcoal drawings and etchings by Millet himself. The publishers promise later on some engravings of Millet's different works, by Cole and others, among which will be one of the celebrated "Sower." Hon. E. B. Washburne contributes an interesting paper on Thomas Paine and the French Revolution, and "Eighteen Years Alone" is the title of a romantic narrative of the adventures of a female Robinson Crusoe on an island off the coast of California. Dr. H. C. Wood defends vivisection in an interesting article, besides which there are a number of sketches, short papers, poems, etc., and installments of Coble's Creole novel, "The Grandissimes," and of Mr. Schuyler's "Life of Peter the Great." The number throughout is one of great variety and interest.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE.—The September number of the Eclectic contains for its frontispiece a fine portrait of George Grote, the eminent historian, and a biographical sketch by the Editor records briefly but adequately the main features of his career. The literary contents of the number comprise rather more than the usual number of articles, and these are of great variety and interest. The table of contents is as follows: Henry David Thoreau: his Character and Opinions, by R. L. Stevenson; Edgar Allan Poe, by William Minto; A Learned Lady of the Sixteenth Century, by M. Creighton; On Ants, by Ellice Hopkins; A Fable in the Manner of Mr. Gay, by Austin Dobson; A Stranger in America, by George Jacob Holyoake; Story-Telling, by James Payn; The Decline of the German University System, by A. T. S. Goodrick; A New Poet, by G. A. Simcox; The Romance of Chinese Social Life; In Town, a poem; White Wings; A Yatching Romance, by William Black, Chapters XXXVIII. to XL.; The Migration of Popular Stories, by Sir George W. Cox; Lola Montez; The Northern Shepherd, by Gilfrid Hartley; The Future of Asiatic Turkey; A Woman's Wisdom, a poem; The Editor's Sketch of Mr. Grote; Literary Notices; Foreign Literary Notes; Science and Art; and "Varieties."

Published by E. R. PELTON, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single copy, 45 cts; Trial subscription for three months, $1.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.—Lippincott's Magazine for September opens with an agreeable and well-illustrated paper on the lake region of Florida,—Ekoniah Scrub,—which, lying out of the line of ordinary travel, is but little known, though its natural features and scattered settlements are curious and interesting. The concluding paper of A. H. Siegfried's Canoeing on the High Mississippi describes the return voyage. A Villeggiatura in Asisi, by the author of Signor Monaldini's Niece, is a charming written account of a summer passed in a quaint Italian town, the resort of pilgrims from every quarter, and the scene of some of the most striking ceremonies and religious practices which have descended from mediæval times. Newport a Hundred Years Ago, by Frances Pierrepont North, is an article which calls up vividly the period when this chief among American watering-places was occupied by a French army and fleet sent to aid the cause of American independence, and was even more gay and brilliant than it is at the present day. Horse-Racing in France, the first of two papers by L. Lejeune, is full of details that show a familiarity with the subject in all its relations. The fifth chapter of Studies in the Slums, by Helen Campbell, treats of Diet and its Doings. Short Studies in the Picturesque, by William Sloane Kennedy, exhibits a close observation of the choice but characteristic features of American scenery.—The continuation of Adam and Eve, several short stories and poems, the Monthly Gossip, which is unusually full, and the Literature of the Day complete the number.

So far, wherever there has been a COMPLETE TEST of the value of this goods, as compared with other manufactured goods on the market, by actual measure and weight of wheat grown that has come to my knowledge, No. 1 has proved itself fully equal to, and in a number of cases better, than other goods costing much more money; in one case giving Eight Bushels of Wheat to the Acre more than —— ——, costing $5 per ton more than No. 1.

Please read carefully the letters appended:

CHESTERTOWN, MD., July 20, 1880.

MR. T. W. ELIASON, JR.—Dear Sir: In reply to your inquiries concerning your "No. 1 Ammoniated Super Phosphate," I would say that I am pleased with it. It gave me a much better yield of wheat than —— ——, and —— —— costing me five dollars more per ton than yours. I cheerfully recommend its use, believing it to be equal if not superior to any goods on the market.

CHESTERTOWN, MD., July 16, 1880.

MR. T. W. ELIASON, JR.—In answer to your inquiry concerning your "No. 1 Ammoniated Superphosphate," I would say, that it has given me entire satisfaction. I used it by the side of a goods costing me $5.00 per ton more, and applied the two goods on the same field, at the same rate per acre, the land being same quality on which both goods were used. I threshed the two parts separately; the part on which your goods was applied gave me EIGHT BUSHELS OF WHEAT MORE TO THE ACRE than the other goods; the wheat having, also, a prettier color. I regard your goods as fully equal, if not better, than any on the market.

MR. T. W. ELIASON, JR.—Dear Sir: I used your No. 1 Ammoniated Super Phosphate two years ago on my wheat, and also —— ——, costing me five dollars per ton more. The results were such, that I abandoned the —— ——, your goods doing so much better for me. This last fall I used it by the side of two others, both costing me considerable more than yours. It gave me much more wheat than one of these goods, and was fully equal to the other in yield. I take pleasure in saying that I am very well pleased with it. It drills nicely; and I expect to use it again.

CHESTERTOWN, July 24, 1880.

MR. T. W. ELIASON, JR.—In reply to your inquiries concerning the results of your No. 1 Ammoniated Super Phosphate, which I have used upon my wheat the two past seasons, I would say that the first season I used it, it was by the side of —— ——, costing me seven dollars per ton more than yours. After cutting and threshing my wheat, I was satisfied that your No. 1 gave me a much larger yield, and a finer, plumper grain. So marked was the difference, that I discontinued the use of —— ——, for your goods. Last fall I used it by the side of —— ——, costing me five dollars more per ton than your No. 1. I applied it at the same rate per acre. After threshing my wheat, I found that your No. 1 had given me 3½ bushels per acre more, and a fuller, better colored grain. Of course, with these results I am pleased with it, and shall use it again.

Your No. 1 gave me, I am satisfied, the largest yield. I regard it as the best goods on the market.
(Signed) Yours, &c. J. S. TREW.

Ohio Chilled Plow.

For lightness of draught, durability and superior work, this Plow cannot be equaled and has never been by any yet introduced; this may be considered by some a broad claim, but a trial will soon convince as to the correctness thereof. All who purchased of us last spring were so much pleased that they seem to delight in talking about them to their friends, and this fact alone has made for us a number of sales even this early in the season, hence it can be truly said that the Ohio CHILLED advertises and sells itself.

—:O:—

THE late crops where the above were used are the strongest possible testimonials, and it is with pleasure we can say that our goods have equalled, and in may cases, surpassed any article in the market, and along side the old standard brands they have been proven to be of the most superior quality.

The low price at which we sell is alone attributable to the fact that we pay no commission to agents, and are satisfied with a close margin ourselves.

Our Factory is always open to the farmers, and a cordial invitation is extended them to visit us there and inspect for themselves.

We also carry a full line of chemicals which with any special mixture desired we will furnish at Baltimore prices.

We might insert numerous testimonials, but prefer to hold them at our office subject to the perusal of all, and simply add the names of a few who have used our goods and to whom we respectfully refer as to their merits:

Schuylkill Lime a Specialty.

Mr. B. F. Fleming: I used Mogee's Schuylkill Lime on corn last spring. It slacked more to the bushel, acted quicker, and gave me the best satisfaction of any Lime I have ever used.

Mr. B. F. Fleming: We have used Mogee's Lime for three successive seasons. It slacks more, contains less core, acts quicker, and we believe it is the best Lime in the market.
