A BIG HOTEL AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS FOR TOLCHESTER.

Our Kent County watering-place, Tolchester Beach, has grown to be the favorite resort on the Chesapeake for Baltimoreans. Through June, July and August of last summer, there was an average of 1,000 visitors a day, and on some days the crowd swelled to as many as 2,500. By the next season, according to the Baltimore papers, the company who have the Beach in charge propose to erect on the bluff, overlooking the bay, a large hotel, which it is said will be of sufficient capacity to accommodate 1,000 guests. This perhaps means that it will furnish dining accommodations to 1,000, but it is moreover intended to furnish complete and comfortable accommodations to the large numbers of city people who may desire to find pleasant summer quarters for their families within easy reach of Baltimore.

The company is also having built in Wilmington, Del., a large steamer, to be called "Tolchester," designed for running excursions from Baltimore to Tolchester Beach. Her dimensions are to be: Length on deck, 180 feet; beam, 30 feet; depth of hold, 9½ feet. Her wheels will be 24 feet in diameter, with 9 feet face. She will have an engine of 44-inch cylinder, and 11 feet stroke. It is hoped she will run 20 miles an hour. She is to be flat-bottomed, and will draw but 4 feet of water. The boat will have accommodations for 1,000 passengers, but she will not be provided with staterooms, as she is intended entirely for a day boat. The new boat will be finished early in May, so as to begin her trips with the opening of the next season. It is expected that she will make the run from Baltimore to Tolchester in an hour and a half.

Another Cold Wave struck us on Monday night last.

Pork has come into market plentifully this week. The market price is from five to six dollars per hundred pounds.

Five Cents Reward.—Mr. J. J. Hurlock, of Sudlersville, Queen Anne's county, offers elsewhere a reward of five cents for the return of his runaway apprentice, Frank Gould.

Another Handsome Dwelling.—Mr. H. M. Stuart is putting up, on Queen street, alongside of the house he lives in, a dwelling of handsome design. It will perhaps not be completed before next spring, but when finished promises to be an additional ornament to that part of the town.

Baltimore Grain Market.—From the Sun of Tuesday, we make the following quotations:—

The inquiry for Southern Wheat is less active, and the market is dull and lower: sales range from 1 10a$1 18 for common to prime Fults, and 1 20a$1 26 for fair to prime longberry. No. 1 Maryland red sold at $1 14.

Southern Corn was active and firm under liberal receipts; sales at 55 cents for dry lots afloat of white and yellow, and 50a53 cents for damp parcels and wharf deliveries.

New Advertisements.—T. D. Pierce advertises elsewhere a large stock of heavy winter boots, for sale cheap, at his new boot and shoe store, opposite the bank.

L. K. Stam advertises that he now has in a large variety of new goods. He is able to supply anything desired in the house-furnishing line, and says he can sell goods as cheap as can be bought in the city.

Wickes & Brother advertise a well assorted stock of seasonable goods. Most of their stock is first-class in quality, and is sold at close figures.

T. W. Wickes advertises a fine assortment of Christmas goods, to be found at his drug store, comprising many of the latest novelties.

Personal.—Rev. Father Bradford, well known to the people of Kent, is now in charge of the Catholic church in Dover. He was on a visit to Chestertown last week.

Edward J. Kennard, Esq., who left Chestertown for Michigan, a short time ago, is now in Saginaw. He writes back that he likes the country out there, but finds it cool. The thermometer frequently drops below zero in Saginaw.

Charles F. Warwick, Esq., brother to the wife of Major E. F. Perkins, of Chestertown, has been appointed Assistant District Attorney of Philadelphia, at a salary of $5,000 per annum.

Mr. Matthew Dilhoefer, who resides between Tolchester and Fairlee, is to leave Baltimore this morning, on the steamer Leipsic, bound for Hamburg. He is going on a visit to his parents in Germany, who live in the district of Alsace.

Some Heavy Hogs.—Last Monday was general slaughter day in Chestertown, and some large porkers were brought to the gallows. Altogether there were more than 100 hogs killed. In the heavy weights that have been killed this fall, Squire John N. Usilton, so far as heard from, leads. His two heaviest weighed respectively 540 and 560 lbs. J. W. Carroll comes in next with one which weighed 536½. Captain James H. Thompson raised three which weighed respectively 511, 454, 354. W. Copper raised one which weighed 486. Wm. Perkins five, which weighed respectively 417, 375, 365, 348, 300; Lorenzo Dunn one, weighing 355; Perry Landing one, weighing 348; Alphonzo Carmichael one, weighing 340; Capt. Henry Thompson one, weighing 329; Kitty Tumey one, weighing 334; Ira McDaniel two, weighing 332, 315; Henry Gilbert one, weighing 322; Richard Jones two, weighing 323, 317; J. W. Startt one, weighing 320; Edward Miller two, weighing 388, 302; Henry Miller one, weighing 317; Levi Graves one, weighing 315; J. W. Parsons two, weighing respectively 349, 305; C. C. B. Basin 3, weighing in all 1010 lbs. The heaviest weighed 395. In the above list only the weights of such porkers is given as went over 300 lbs. There is one more hog, however, that deserves mention as champion of the light weights. This one was killed on Scotch point, and was the property of William Gould. It was over one year old only, and weighed only 20 pounds.

From Josias Ringgold, jr., we learn that on his Miller farm were slaughtered six hogs, averaging a weight of 378 lbs. each. These hogs were only 13 months old.

Davis were appointed to appraise the personal estate.

On application, letters of administration on the personal estate of Francis T. Maslin, were granted unto Thomas J. Vickers, who filed his bond in the sum of $1200, which was approved and ordered to be recorded, and George Beck and Luther Kendall were appointed to appraise the personal estate of said deceased.

A Great Paper.—We desire to call the attention of our readers to one of the greatest newspapers of the age—one that secures the best writers in this country and Europe, regardless of expense; has the best and fullest book reviews of any paper in the country; has able articles upon financial subjects; has departments devoted to Fine Arts, Biblical Research (something that cannot be found in any other newspaper in the United States), Farm and Garden, Insurance, Weekly Market Reports, Cattle Market, Prices Current, Dry Goods Quotations, etc.—in fact, a newspaper fully suited to the requirements of every family, containing a fund of information which cannot be had in any other shape, and having a wide circulation all over this country and in Europe. We refer to The Independent, of New York. "The largest, the ables, the best." See advertisement, in another column, and send for specimen copy.

LETTER FROM WORTON.

The pilot with his hand on the wheel and his eye on the distant light house as he guides his boat over the seas during the hour of night, gives little heed to objects that may be immediately around and about him. What is true of him in his voyage over the seas is retrospectively true in the voyage of life. How often does the mind recur to events in the far-off past, whilst others of perhaps more importance are lost sight of. The child vividly remembers his first jack-knife, his first penny-whistle or his first boots (red tops), and though the recipient of other gifts in after life more valuable, he has but a dim recollection. We are led to these long preliminary remarks by reading the "Proceedings of the Teachers' Association." It seems a waste of time to make a child commit many dry facts to memory. That which interests deeply will assuredly be long remembered. It hardly seems possible for a strong intellect to be deficient in a tenacious memory. Are they not one and inseparable? Is there an instance in history to the contrary?

We read with pleasure your poet's verses on the Turkey, and infer that like other mortals, he is not averse to Mr. Brown's or (Smith's) turkey either. As Mr. B. picked the bones I guess there wasn't enough left to make a "hash" for next day's dinner. He should have checked his appetite and kept a boarding-house.

Marriages and deaths, the most important and most ordinary occurrences in life, take place in this community as in all others, of which you receive due notice.

Yours, ANON.

PRACTICAL ADVICE.

The following is an extract from a letter written by a gentleman of this neighborhood, to a friend of his once in better, but now in humble circumstances:

"A thorough acquaintance with human nature is truly a "pearl of great price." Years of experience among men do not always, however, in every case, secure such a valuable treasure. There are people to-day whose lives have been quite long enough, and whose disappointments and sufferings severe enough, to have taught them most valuable lessons, who are still ignorant of men and things and most of all, of themselves; and we naturally exclaim, "Will they never learn anything?" You know some who are just such persons. That one will do wrong occasionally is as certain as "it is human to err;" but that it should be made the course of one's life when all experience shows it to be followed continually by inconvenience, suffering and even utter helplessness and death, is difficult to explain. Whatever of practical wisdom I myself possess I ascribe to my taking hold of those lessons which the stern logic of life has taught me; and tho' I know I am better able to contend with the world now than when I was younger, I find it still very hard to master and suppress tendencies unfavorable to true happiness. To get along with the world we must cultivate that virtue, so much neglected, yet so much taught, viz: patience. Who knows its meaning? To become master of yourself and others you must be patient. Impatience is only a weakness,—a want of fortitude to endure the stings and arrows of life. The more dependent one is on other people, the more patience he should be possessed of. Impatience waits for nothing, takes no time to weigh or measure any thing, tries to force everything and everybody within the narrow limits of its own gratification; breaks the branches, to gather the fruit before it is ripe; breaks doors before they can be opened for it; wants to reap when the wise man is sowing, and everything it does is done in haste, done out of season and badly done. Life is a stern reality; yet flexible thro' patience and perseverance, and capable through these and kindred virtues of being woven into a texture of glowing beauty, almost divine. Patience under present tribulations is the vital force of perseverance thro' them. Contentment may be a continual feast; but the ambition of the human soul is never satisfied with ease. The poor sick heart of mortals too often regards that which it most desires as nothing, when it possesses it; and it even ingeniously tries to torment itself about what it does not yet possess. It too often ascribes to others what really it is itself; and, for want of that knowledge which detects the error in itself, it vents its wrath against the very one that supports it, and, therefore, brings about a loss of confidence and finally of support, and it must then go wandering, wounded, and sore. Volumes of moral maxims, written only in books, are not half so useful there, as they are when a varied experience amid life's jostlings and struggles transcribes them one by one, in deep and ineradicable characters, upon the tender tablets of a wise and earnest heart. You must experience, then you know; and knowing, use your brains. If my boss says I am wrong, I will try and see, to right it. If I'm weak and he is strong, I'll give in, and we wont fight about it. Herein largely lies the secret of success of one in the employ of another. Submission to authority is the rule, but servility may always be avoided by that unflinching straightforwardness in the discharge of duty which universally commands the respect of men endued with the true spirit of humanity. We must learn how to please others. To do this successfully, we must study their dispositions. Few there are who are precisely like ourselves, and yet none who have not some traits, customs, or habits in common with our own. Hence, our business is to discover wherein others differ from us. Now, if we have been careful in the examination of our own dispositions, and have found out what that is, which when done to us by others, gives us much pleasure and solid satisfaction then, if we do that same thing to others modified only in favor of their difference of disposition, we will give pleasure to them and thereby secure both their confidence and their best places of trust. When these are secured, the greatest vigilance and forethought should be exercised by us, to retain them. That people fall into different moods and frames of mind and become through those somewhat altered in their bearing during such states, we all know, or should know if we do not; and it is our duty to ourselves, as well as to others, to study these changes in people and be prepared and willing to allow for these states or frames of mind. Any one who is dependent on the world for his support, who does not or will not observe and carry out what I have here said, will find life so full of thorns that its continuance not only becomes a burden but an affliction too hard to be long endured, and the "blues," as they are often called, become "blacks," compared with which the former are as wine to gall. That fault will be found with what our best efforts have accomplished, and that too, by those whom we have most tried to please, is certainly no new thing under the sun. Everybody sooner or later learns this fact—I say fact, because such it veritably is—and, if he be wise, he at the same time becomes acquainted with a counterfact equally important (especially if he be in the employ of the fault-finder) which is, not to perish in defense when the opposition is too strong against you. In other words, suppress your own opinion and correct in favor of your accuser; and retain this position until every circumstance which might tend to harrow feeling is removed; then cautiously, with great prudence, break the light anew upon the case and reveal yourself right (if right) and expose his error. This, if well done, will tend to transfer the confidence he had in his own judgment to yours, and start a trust in you he has not in himself, and gradually you exchange, unconsciously to him, your place for his—so far as trust is concerned.

The Leaders of Fashionable Dress and Low Prices.—C. N. OHEM & SON, proprietors of the largest one-price double Clothing House, Baltimore, now occupy two entire three-story buildings with their splendid stock of Men's, Youth's, Boy's and Children's Clothing. Having bought and manufactured their entire stock before the great advance of woolens, they are selling great bargains in every department for spring and summer wear, which none can afford to overlook. We feel it our duty to call the attention of our readers to this truly famous and reliable establishment, corner of Pratt and Hanover Sts. No one in need of clothing, ready-made or made to order, should fail to call on OHEM & SON and see the low prices at which the most choice and perfect fitting garments are selling.

The Sun for 1881.

Everybody reads THE SUN. The editions of this newspaper throughout the year to come everybody will find;

I. All the world's news, so presented that the reader will get the greatest amount of information with the least unprofitable expenditure of time and eyesight. The Sun long ago discovered the golden mean between redundant fulness and unsatisfactory brevity.

II. Much of that sort of news which depends less upon its recognized importance than upon its interest to mankind. From morning to morning The Sun prints a continued story of the lives of real men and women, and of their deeds, plans, loves, hates, and troubles. This story is more varied and more interesting than any romance that was ever devised.

III. Good writing in every column, and freshness, originality, accuracy, and decorum in the treatment of every subject.

IV. Honest comment. The Sun's habit is to speak out fearlessly about men and things.

V. Equal candor in dealing with each political party, and equal readiness to commend what is praiseworthy or to rebuke what is blamable in Democrat or Republican.

VI. Absolute independence of partisan organizations, but unwavering loyalty to true Democratic principles. The Sun believes that the Government which the Constitution gives us is good one to keep. Its notion of duty is to resist to its utmost power the efforts of men in the Republican party to set up another form of government in place of that which exists. The year 1881 and the years immediately following will probably decide this supremely important contest. The Sun believes that the victory will be with the people as against the Rings for monopoly, the Rings for plunder, and the Rings for imperial power.

Our terms are as follows:

For the Daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, or $6.50 a year; or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents a month, or $7.70 a year, postage paid.

The Sunday edition of The Sun is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the Weekly Sun, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.

THE INDEPENDENT.

"The foremost religious newspaper of the United States."—JOSEPH COOK.

THE INDEPENDENT seeks the patronage of the public on these grounds, as follows:

1st. It is the largest weekly religious newspaper published in the world.

2d. It employs as contributors more able writers, at home and abroad, than any other weekly newspaper.

3d. It gives its readers a wider range of topics and more and fuller departments than they can find elsewhere in any journal.

THE INDEPENDENT consists of 32 pages, neatly cut and pasted. It is printed from clear type (we stereotype the pages weekly, and hence, every issue is really printed with the new type) and on good paper, and mechanically it is unexcelled.

There is no question of prominence in religion, politics, science, education, finance, or any other department of human knowledge which THE INDEPENDENT does not discuss. It has regular departments devoted to Biblical Research, Missions, Religious intelligence, Book Reviews and Literary News, and Sunday school, Education, Science, Sanitary questions, Fine Arts, the movements of ministers, Personalities, News of the Week, Financial and Commercial matters, including Weekly Prices Current, Market Reports, Cattle Market, Dry Goods Quotations, Flowers and Farming, and Insurance. In its religious department it gives news and statistics of all denominations of Christians, everywhere. In fullness, accuracy, and comprehensiveness this department is unequaled. Several pages of stories and poems adapted to Old and Young are given every week, with a column of Puzzles.

From time to time Sermons by eminent ministers are published. The current topics of the day are discussed in our editorial columns freely and vigorously. We are not afraid to state our opinions.

Our New Terms for 1881.

One subscription one year, in advance	$3 00
For 6 months, $1.50; for 3 months	0 75
One subscription two years, in anvance	5 00
One subscription with one NEW subscriber both in advance, in one remittance	5 00
One subscription with three NEW subscribers, all three in advance, in one remittance	7 00
One subscription with two NEW subscribers, all four in advance, in one remittance	8 50
One subscription with four NEW subscribers, all five in advance, in one remittance	10 00

Any number over five at the same rate, invariably with one remittance.

These reduced prices ($2 per annum in clubs of five or more) are very much lower than any of the standard religious weeklies, though the paper is much larger and better, as comparison will show.

Subscribe with your friends and get the low rate. We offer no premiums, and reserve the right to withdraw our liberal club rates at any time after six months.

Eclectic Magazine

OF

Foreign Literature, Science and Art,

ENLARGED and IMPROVED.

The ECLECTIC MAGAZINE reproduces from foreign periodicals all those articles which are valuable to American readers. Its field of selection embraces all the Foreign Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, and the tastes of all classes of readers are consulted in the articles presented. Its plan includes Science, Essays, Reviews, Sketches, Travels, Poetry, Novels, Short Stories etc., etc.

With the number for January, 1881, the ECLECTIC MAGAZINE will be enlarged to such an extent as will give about

Two Hundred Pages additional reading-matter during the year.

This increase of space will afford the opportunity not merely for an increased quantity but for a much greater variety of reading-matter; and the publisher confidently promises that the opportunity shall be so utilized that the ECLECTIC will be more valuable, more readable, and more satisfactory than ever before. The same pains will be taken as hitherto to exclude articles which are trivial in character, or of merely transient interest; but larger space will be assigned to articles of a popular and entertaining cast, and with ample materials of the best quality at command, the ECLECTIC will be made the ideal Family Magazine.

The following list of contributors to the periodicals from which the ECLECTIC is selected will give some idea of the value of its contents: Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Alfred Tennyson, Professor Huxley, Professor Tyndall, Richard A. Proctor, B.A., J. Norman Lockyer, F.R.S., Dr. W. B. Carpenter, E. B. Tylor, Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Owen, Matthew Arnold, E. A. Freeman, D.C.L., James Anthony Froude, Thomas Hughes, Anthony Trollope, Wm. Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Turgeneff, Miss Thackeray, etc.

☞ The English periodicals are the great storehouse from which are drawn many of the best and most popular books of the time. The ECLECTIC reprints this material fresh from the authors' hands, and at a price far lower than its costs in book-form.

Terms: Single copies, 45 cents: one copy, one year, $5; five copies, $20. Trial subscription for three months, $1. The ECLECTIC and any $4 magazine to one address, $8. Postage free to all subscribers.

RAMBO LIME.

LAST year I purchased from Nathan Rambo the Blue Quarry upon the lands devised to him by his father, the elder Nathan Rambo. It was out of this Quarry that the Limestone came which gave this Lime its high reputation.

This, and this only, is the GENUINE RAMBO LIME.

I OWN ALL of the land on which this stone lies. This Quarry was discontinued only because a vein of earth cut off the face. I have cut through this and re-opened these Quarries upon the original stone which old Nathan Rambo quarried as long as he could find it.

WE CHALLENGE ALL TESTS.

R. McCOY & CO.

Robert McCoy bought of me my Blue Quarry—I have seen it since he re-opened it, and am satisfied that he works on the blue stone worked by my father in his lifetime.

NATHAN RAMBO.

This Lime will be shipped by railroad or water to all stations and landings in Maryland and Delaware. For Prices and Terms apply to

GRAIN, LIME, COAL, WOOD, PEACH CRATES AND BASKETS,

Schuylkill Lime a Specialty.

Mr. B. F. Fleming: I used Mogee's Schuylkill Lime on corn last spring. It slacked more to the bushel, acted quicker, and gave me the best satisfaction of any Lime I have ever used.

GEORGE H. SNITCHER.

Mr. B. F. Fleming: We have used Mogee's Lime for three successive seasons. It slacks more, contains less core, acts quicker, and we believe it is the best Lime in the market.

A CARD.

MISS R. W. WATKINS respectfully informs her friends and the public generally, that she is prepared to give Music Lessons on the PIANO or ORGAN, and flatters herself that she will be able to give satisfaction to those who may favor her with their patronage. Pupils instructed at her residence, or, if desired, at their homes. Terms moderate.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21, 1879.

It gives me great pleasure to recommend Miss ROBINA WATKINS to my former pupils as Teacher of Music. I consider her highly qualified to give instruction on Piano and Organ, and am confident that she will give satisfaction to those who may employ her.
