See the various places of sitting of the registrars as corrected in this issue.

Fishing is growing better off the Chester River bridge, some very fine pan rock are caught there now when the tide is right.

Stam's Corner has been greatly improved by the town commissioners, who have put down there a smooth new pavement. The owls should be grateful.

Cape May, Sept. 6 & 13th.—Persons who have not yet visited Cape May will have a chance to go on Sept. 6 & 13. For further information read advertisement on 2d page.

Grain Market.—Wednesday's quotations.—The market for Southern wheat is easy and fairly active, all the offerings having been sold. Tough parcels sold at 1 08, and steamboat and bag lots at 1 10a1 11 for good to prime; cargoes ranged from 1 12a1 14 for fultz and 1 15a1 18 for longberry. Southern corn is dull and easy; sales in small lots at 86a88 cts. for white and 89 cents for yellow.

Chestertown as a Commercial Port.—It is no unusual thing just now, to be able to count five or six steamboats and as many sail vessels lying at the Chestertown wharves. About six o'clock of an evening when the peach boats come up, and begin to load and unload, the hurry and activity are interesting to contemplate. There is a pretty sharp rivalry between the competing lines, but during the last week, business has been brisk for all.

The Straw-board Mill is completed in so far as the builders' work goes. The machinery is being put in, and it will not be long before manufacturing operations will be begun. Workmen from Pusey & Jones' works have been engaged during the past week in placing the two large boilers in position, and other massive machinery is also being put in place. The company is accumulating straw for the beginning of work, and is prepared to purchase straw for future delivery.

Peach Shipments.—The following is a summary of the peach shipments over the Delaware Division of the P. W. & B. Railroad on Thursday: Jersey City, 120 cars; Philadelphia, 52; Boston, 32; Chester, 4; Wilmington, 11; Newark, 4; Scranton, Pa., 5; Hartford, Conn., 4; New Haven, 3; Cincinnati, 1; Pittsburg, 5; Bridgeport, Conn., 1; New London, Conn., 1; Springfield, Mass., 2; Wilkesbare, 1; Hazelton, 1, Johnstown, 1; Baltimore, 1. Total, 294. Previous shipments, 2146. Total thus far, 2440.

Found Dead.—A colored man named Jacob Hawkins, aged about thirty years, has been in the employ of Mr. J. W. Howard in Still Pond Neck for about two weeks picking peaches. On Thursday night he slept alone in the barn and yesterday morning when Mr. Howard went to call him he was dead. The deceased had every appearance of good health up to the time of retiring the night before; he was athletic, and a good hand. Mr. H. procured him from Baltimore along with others for the peach season. He leaves a wife and mother living in the city.—News.

The Kent County Agricultural Association offers in its premium lists for their approaching exhibition, the handsome total of $2212. The premiums offered for thoroughbred horses sum up $208,00 and the premiums offered for improved grades of cattle, sum up $376,00. There are also liberal premiums awarded in the departments of sheep and swine, and the various other departments have premiums awarded that should bring out a full exhibit. Our county people should take an interest in making the Kent county annual fair, worthy of the county. Let the housewife who is proud of her large store of canned and preserved fruits take them out and put them on exhibition, not necessarily to gain a prize, but to contribute to the general interest of the exhibition.

Of Much Importance.—There are yet in Kent county in the neighborhood of 1000 voters who have not been registered. Next Monday, the September sitting begins. During next week, every lawful voter should see, that not only his own name is upon the registry roll, but he should put himself to trouble to ascertain if any others are neglecting the matter, and should use his endeavors to have enrolled a full vote.

Mill Destroyed by Fire.—The grist mill near Galena, formerly known as Scott's or Gooding's mill, and now owned and run by C. H. J. Sparks, Esq., took fire at an early hour Wednesday morning of last week, and was entirely consumed, together with all the machinery and stock on hand, including some four or five hundred bushels of wheat. The mill had been running up to a very late hour Tuesday night, and about 2½ o'clock next morning the miller awoke to find the building on fire. The cause is not known, but it may have been the friction of the machinery. The property was insured in the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of this county, for $1,200. The loss is estimated at over two thousand dollars, and this added to the attendant lost time at the busiest season of the year, falls heavily upon Mr. Sparks.—News.

A Suggestion.—We have had an unprecedentedly fine wheat crop in Kent. The Transcript feels almost as glad at the big wheat yield as the farmers themselves feel. We are marketing a very fine peach crop. Prices are perhaps ranging just a little low about now, because the bulk of the shipment has struck the market. But, taken all in all, prices have been as remunerative as could have been expected. The Kent county peach growers are going to get money out of their crop this season. The Transcript is glad to believe it. Nothing would please it more than to see every farmer in the county rolling in wealth, and living upon the fat of the land. But, right here there is another idea strikes us—and it strikes us mighty hard. The idea is this,—that it is a very fine,—a very, very fine season to settle with the printer. Kind, gentle, and altogether lovely reader, go down into the inmost recesses of your soul, and inquire if you do not owe the Transcript a little bill. If you do, in the name of all that is beautiful, drop in immediately and pay it. The Transcript man will smile a fourteen-inch smile, and will cherish the most unbounded good feeling for you ever after.

The Milford Chronicle, always well informed as to the fruit trade, gives the following estimates on the season's work of various canneries and drying houses: Waples & Co., of Farmington, will increase their force to 100 and put up 300,000 cans of fruit; Rev. J. S. Willis, of Milford, 17½ tons; Col. H. W. Davis, Milford, 600 fifty-pound boxes; George Draper, Milford, 800 fifty-pound boxes; H. Short, Farmington, 200,000 cans; Shoenberg & Co., Milford, 1,500,000 cans; G. M. Hovrell, Milford, 1,000,000 cans of peaches; Jenkins & Rhonds, Milford, 200,000 cans, and several tons of evaporated fruit; D. Scott & Co., Houston, 200,000 cans of corn, and 300,000 cans of berries: their whole season's work will be 1,500,000 cans.

Of Much Importance.—There are yet in Kent county in the neighborhood of 1000 voters who have not been registered. Next Monday, the September sitting begins. During next week, every lawful voter should see, that not only his own name is upon the registry roll, but he should put himself to trouble to ascertain if any others are neglecting the matter, and should use his endeavors to have enrolled a full vote.

Orphans' Court.—TUESDAY, Aug. 29, 1882.—Present, Judges Nicholson and Shallcross.

The release of M. S. K. Rambo to W. S. Culp was received and ordered to be recorded.

On application of C. H. Baker he was appointed administrator, c. t. a., of the estate of Elijah Bond, who filed his bond in the sum of $2,000, with approved security; and Samuel Lee and Robert Hatcherson were appointed to appraise the estate.

Vickers & Rowley, att'ys, filed a bill for the sale of the real estate of Moses Crossley, deceased, and Richard F. Moffet and John Schwatka were appointed by the court to appraise the same.

THROUGH THREE COUNTIES.

AUGUST 26th, 1882.

A ride from Chestertown to Clayton, though a little monotonous, and not altogether the most comfortable, yet presents a pretty fair two-hour view of what is going on in Kent. At the Chestertown station, there is a business-like bustle of unusual proportion, created by the canning and the drying houses now in full operation.

All along the road, heavily laden peach orchards meet the eye. There are few things more beautiful than a peach tree bending under a load of rich yellow fruit with bright red flush. A trip up the Kent county railroad reveals the fact that great quantities of peaches are yet to be gathered. The glut may and doubtless will go in this week, but there will be an abundance of peaches for some time longer. At Worton Station, and at some other stations along the road evaporators are in operation.

The recent rains have done much for the corn crop. There are some corn fields, however, that were badly nipped by the drouth, and no season, however favorable, can make them produce full crops. The grass is uncommonly vigorous and fresh looking. The season could not have been better for grass.

At Clayton the frequent passage of fruit trains makes matters lively. The congress of tramps still holds its session under an apple tree not far from the station. They seem to have been roosting in that one spot for more than a month, and their number seems never to grow less. They are vigorous looking fellows, and it would be an uncommonly fine thing if Clayton had an officer as glad to pick up a tramp as is always Col. Rawleigh of Chestertown. On the Chesapeake and Delaware road immediately after leaving Clayton, there is a fine country, that is thickly dotted with peach orchards. Passing further down the road, however, the country gradually grows less promising in appearance. Some of the corn fields are so stunted that they give the impression that the owners would have made more clear money, if they had sold their seed corn, and let their fields lie idle. As the road passess further south, the peach orchards too, grow less frequent, and much smaller than they generally are in Kent. In Talbot county, however, the road passes through some stretches of very fine country. It may perhaps be taken for granted, that the railroad, as is usually the case, passes through some of the most unproductive country.

There is one aspect of the case, however, that is not so favorable to our thrifty county; and that is that, considering the natural qualities of Kent county lands, and the natural qualities of the lands through which the Chesapeake and Delaware road passes, there is evidence that the people of Caroline and Talbot manage their possessions to better advantage than the people of Kent. This is evidenced by the neat appearance of the houses along the road, and the appearance of thrift in the villages. If those people can sustain themselves in such a manner with the support of such lands, what might they be expected to do if they only had the income of Kent county lands? The very abundance of Kent county harvests tend to make farmers prodigal in spending, without making a well directed effort to get the most good for the least expenditure.

Oxford is a quiet little village, with a well-kept hotel, that has had a full run of guests all through the past summer. The hotel, Eastford Hall, has a capacity for accommodating about 150 guests. Mr. Samuel Norris, the obliging host, watches carefully for the comforts of his guests. The Press Association began to assemble on Saturday, but did not make its appearance in full till Monday.

Mothers should Know it.

Fretful babies cannot help disturbing everybody, and mothers should know how soothing Parker's Ginger Tonic is. It stops babies pains, makes them healthy, relieves their own anxiety and is safe to use.—Journal.

TO WHEAT GROWERS.

The undersigned, PIONEER in the manufacture of FERTILIZERS in this city, and ORIGINATOR in 1858 of the formulas and processes of manufacture of

"Excelsior" and Ammoniated Phosphate

So well and favorably known by the agricultural public, relying upon his experience and personal reputation hitherto acquired in the uniform excellence of these FERTILIZERS as manufactured by him, continues to offer them to the Farmers and Planters of Maryland and Virginia, with the assurance that the High Standard Quality of each will be maintained as heretofore.

The above are the most concentrated FERTILIZERS ever offered to the farmer, combining all the stimulating qualities of Peruvian Guano and the ever durable fertilizing properties of Bones in fine, dry powder, prepared expressly for drilling.

For growing wheat, it is the universal opinion of the farmers of Maryland and Virginia, after over twenty years' experience in the use of these Fertilizers manufactured by me, that an application of 100 pounds is equal in its effects to 200 pounds of any other Fertilizer or Guano, therefore fully 50 per cent. cheaper.

With my present advantages and superior facilities for manufacturing, I challenge competition with any Fertilizer sold in the United States, in quality, mechanical condition an1 price.

By strictly adhering to my original formulas, using only the most concentrated materials and superintending in person their manufacture, as for the past twenty-four years.

UNIFORM QUALITY IS GUARANTEED.

☞ Farmers, to secure the ONLY GENUINE EXCELSIOR and PHOSPHATE prepared according to my original formulas established in 1858, should see that every bag is branded as above, with the ANALYSIS and MY NAME IN RED LETTERS.
