A point in physics: She was a Cleveland lady, and she stood watching a boat laden with ice.

A family of strangers moved into a house on Austin avenue, next door to a family where a young lady sings opera music. The newly arrived family sent their oldest boy over to ask if they did not want somebody to run quick for the doctor.

'What for?' asked the lady of the house. 'There is nobody sick here.'

'Well, we thought there was. We heard somebody shrieking and yelling as if they had hysterics and we thought perhaps you needed a doctor in a hurry.'

Over-shooting: A grave and dignified D. D., after listening to the recitation of the catechism by a class of children, was asked to make a few remarks to them, whereupon he arose and said:

'I desire, my young friends, to express an unqualified approbation of this exercise. I regard the catechism as the most admirable epitome of religious belief extant.'

The superintendent pulled his sleeve and asked him to explain the word epitome, which he elucidated as follows:

'By epitome, children, I mean—that is—it is synonymous with synopsis!'—Congregationalist

The masher:

"What is that, mother?"
"A masher, dear;
You will always find it standing here,
Posed on the corner of the street,
Proudly displaying its tiny feet,
Twirling its little ten-cent cane
And stupefying its tender brain
With the smoke of a paper cigarette.
Don't touch it, dear, it was raised a pet."
"Will it bite, mother?"
"Well, I should shout;
It will bite a free lunch for all that's out."

We were very much shocked yesterday at seeing Colonel Percy Yerger, one of the most influential citizens of Austin, in an advanced state of intoxication.

Two or three days later he reappeared. 'I come again to see about that cellar,' said he; 'it's worse than ever.' 'But we told you the other day, Mr. Muldoon, that we can do nothing about it here.' 'Yes, but my cellar must be fixed or my hins will all be drowned.' 'Well, Mr. Muldoon, did you see the mayor about the matter?' 'Indade and I did,' replied Mr. Muldoon. 'And what did the mayor say?' Gilhooly was talking to an Englishman, who only arrived in Austin a short time ago. The recently-arrived stanger had a pug nose and was disposed to be rather dogmatic in his manner. They got into a dispute about hunting dogs, whereupon the Englishman said: 'Do ye knaw who took the first prize at the London bench show?' 'No, I never knaw anything.' 'Well, hit was my self, ye knaw, that took the first prize at the dog show.' 'I don't doubt it. I might have guessed as much to look at you.' TOO HONEST TO SUCCEED.

From the Chicago Tribune.

'Sir, I have here a little thing,
Quite touching in its way.
That tells of rippling waters
And the smell of new-mown hay;
The bashful maiden's witching smile,
The lowing of the kine;
The meadows, spangled o'er with flowers
The sunset mos' divine,
Are also pictured by the use
Of softly sounding words,
And over all there comes the sweet,
Low twittering of the birds.'

'Twas then up spoke the editor:
"Your scheme is good," he said;
"On the rippling water racket
You are really quite ahead.
But the spangled meadow business
And the blushing country maid
Have long since copyrighted been.
And therefore I'm afraid
That your story will not answer;
But if you could only make
The maiden sweep the parlor
It will simply take the cake."

The poet man was much downcast.

THE CIRCASSIAN BEAUTY.

HOW MRS. GENERAL LEW WALLACE RECEIVED THE SULTAN'S GIFT.

From the San Francisco Wasp.

The Sultan of Turkey has presented General Lew Wallace, the American minister, with a beautiful Circassian girl.—Press dispatch.

This is all that the modest telegraph consents to say about the occurrence, though the San Francisco Wasp found ever so much more to be told. The fact is that Mrs. Wallace was sitting at the front window of her Constantinople house, on the verge of going down to the bazar for some embroidery stuffs to send home, when a cavalcade drew up before the door, a huge eunuch, arrayed in the Sultan's livery, knocked at the door and salam-salammed, and then two eunuchs, a size smaller, brought in and deposited on the inside door-mat a big-eyed, beautiful Circassian girl, whose lustrous orbs and sparkling jewels were but little obscured by the filmy gauze veiling that covered her from head to foot. Mrs. Wallace stared at the girl in dumb amazement.

'What do you want?' she said.

The girl shook her head.

'Mustaby, Mustaby?' cried Mrs. Wallace sharply. 'What does this mean?'

Mustaby came from the floor below, where he had been polishing some knives with Bristol brick. He dropped knife and brick when he caught sight of the visitor.

'Ah, ah,' he ejaculated with satisfaction, as he saw the imperial insigna; 'it is a magnificent present. His highness has smiled upon my master and has sent him his choice slave.'

'And what is his choice slave going to do in this house, I would like to know?' continued Mrs. Wallace with a vinegard gleam of sarcasm.

'She will bring my master's coffee to him when he awakes in the morning and affectionately superintend his morning ablutions.'

'She will, will she?' remarked Mrs. Wallace, as she gritted her teeth very hard. 'She will affectionately superintend his morning ablutions, will she?' and she stealthily fingered a bric-a-brac cimeter and glared at the offending Present.

Then she walked straight up to the beauty on the door-mat, pointed her index finger out to the front door and remarked:

'Go 'way!'

The Present stared at her stupidly.

'Go 'way, I tell you. You're a shameless hussy to come intruding on a respectable family in this way.'

The Present did not look as though she had done anything particularly infamous and showed no disposition to move.

Mrs. Wallace could contain herself no longer. She flew at the Present, grabbed it by the shoulder, and was hustling it down the stairs when General Wallace came around the corner rather flushed from rapid walking. He took in the situation at a glance.

'Oh, Lewis!' cried his wife, with accentuated horror, 'did you ever hear of such a thing?'

Lewis did not look horrified, though he evidently was. He evidently had heard of such things, for there was a doubtful look on his face. Finally he said:

'I don't think, Maria, that I would put it out into the street. It's not to blame, you know.'

There was a faint snap in Mrs. Wallace's eyes, but she nodded and lured him on further.

'You see it's a Present, and you can't give away or throw away a Present, you know. If we could send it back, saying that we had no use for it, or that we had one already, and couldn't be make it something else, would be the best way. You have to consult custom and etiquette in these things, you know, my dear.'

'Y-e-e-s,' said Mrs. W, with a sinister sweetness in her compliance.

'Besides,' he continued, as he carelessly took hold of the Present's hand and began stroking the Present's brow in a gentle and fatherly way, 'I don't really know if it would be safe to send it back at all. You see these foreign powers are mighty touchy, and I don't know but if I was to send this Present back and turn up my nose at it in such a way they might be mad enough to declare war on the United States and massacre us all.'

'You would, would you?' remarked Mrs. Wallace in a voice like the first rumblings of a typhoon. 'Fraid to send it back, are you, you bald-headed old fraud? 'Fraid of international complications, are you, you salacious old wretch! Now you can just understand this, sir, and right now: If that Present doesn't go back to that old beast that sent it in less than ten minutes I'll show you what kind of a Bulgarian atrocity you are married to. I'll show you,' she hissed, as she flew at the Present and inaugurated a panic in dry goods and hair pins and Circassian squeals and male protests, and finally hysterics, as Gen. Wallace called a camel and packed the girl off at hot speed.

Then he went in and caught it—caught it so hot that he remarked to the vice-consul that sooner that go through the like again he would see the whole continent bathed in blood and the American eagle bombarded until it hadn't a pin feather to its name.'

A LEGISLATIVE JOKE.—Some of 'em are very like Cousin John Thrasher's man who told him he wanted to be door-keeper, but cousin John had promised to vote for another fellow and so to get rid of him he says:

'Why, Jim, did you ever keep a door?'

'No,' says he.

'Did you ever study a book on keeping a door?'

'No,' says he.

'Did you ever see anybody keep a door?'

'I never did,' says he.

'Well, did you ever attend lectures in Augusta or anywhere on how to keep a door?'

'Of course not,' says he.

'Well, my dear, sir, you had better go back home and prepare yourself by the next session and I'll vote for you.'—Bill Arp in Atlanta Constitution.

'How does yer like yer new place?' asked one dressed-up negro woman of another as they met on a corner of Austin avenue.

'I hain't got no manner of use for de folks, but I has done sabed up seben dollars and a half outen de market money and I hasn't drawned a cent ob my wages yit.'

'Ef I was you I would make 'em pay me my wages ebery week in advance. Dey mout keep some ob bit back when you come to settle up wid 'em.'

'Dar's no danger. Me and de white folks I'se working for has puffec confidence in each udder.'—Texas Siftings.

DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC.

A combination of Protoxide of Iron, Peruvian Bark and Phosphorus in a palatable form. The only preparation of iron that will not blacken the teeth, a characteristic of other iron preparations.

GENTLEMEN: I have used DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC in my practice, and in an experience of twenty-five years in medicine, have never found anything to give the results that DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC does. In many cases of Nervous Prostration, Female Diseases, Dyspepsia, and an impoverished condition of the blood, this peerless remedy, has in my hands, made some wonderful cures. Cases that have baffled some of our most eminent physicians, have yielded to this great and incomparable remedy. I prescribe it in preference to any iron preparation made. In fact, such a combination as DR. HARTER'S IRON TONIC is a necessity in my practice.

DR. ROBERT SAMUELS, 2104 Wash Avenue, ST. LOUIS, MO., Nov. 25th, 1881.

It gives color to the blood, natural healthful tone to the digestive organs and nervous system, making it applicable to General Debility, Loss of Appetite, Prostration of Vital Powers and Impotence.

very thick and heavy and handsomely finished of the best marble.

Marble Posts, marble Vases with Pedestal, Marble Coping, Tombstones and ornaments, of all sizes and styles.

Marble or Sandstone worked to order. I warrant all my work not to color or blister—time has no effect on it. I set up all of my work, thus relieving the purchaser of all trouble or risk.

Come one, come all, that are in want, and examine my work and learn my prices. I will be thankful. Don't send the money out of your own neighborhood.

Call and see me. I do not like to canvass for work, for I think it too sad a business to barter with relatives or friends.

My work can be seen in all the cemeteries of Kent and the adjoining counties.

PHOSPHATES!

The season for ordering Fertilizers for Wheat is now at hand, and it is with increased pleasure that we again present to the farmers our brand so well known as

IMPERIAL,

Which was in competition the past season with almost every brand of phosphates known to this market, and by

ACTUAL MEASUREMENT TEST,

has yet to find its superior.

We are also preparing a brand of Acid Phosphate, which being slightly ammoniated, is somewhat different from most in use, and which has given first rate results. We have given it the name of and are prepared to highly recommend it.
