Advertising Rates.

Transient advertising will be charged at the rate of one dollar per square for first three insertions, and twenty-five cents per square for each subsequent insertion. A space equal to eight lines of brevier, constitutes a square. Figure-work will be charged fifty cents per square additional for first three insertions.

Simple notices of marriages and deaths, inserted free. Obituary notices will be charged at the rate of five cents per line.

JOB WORK.

Handbills, large and small, flyers, dodgers, letterheads, billheads, envelopes, cards, tags, programmes, and other kinds of job work will be done neatly and reasonably.

Correspondence upon matters of local interest desired. Anonymous communications will not be inserted.

It is desirable that communications be in by Saturday night if possible, and in any case not later than Monday night or Tuesday morning.

The perch fishing season has about ended.

The election in Kent passed quietly and peaceably, as it always does.

The Hon. George M. Russum was considerably at a discount among Republican voters in this county.

The Kent county agricultural association holds a special meeting next Monday. See notice.

An interested crowd kept around the telegraph office yesterday morning, watching for news of the election. It was mostly of a cheerful kind for the Democrats.

Died at 84.—Miss Mary Burns, living near Caulk's field, recently died at the advanced age of 84. She had lived in the same house for more than fifty years, but rarely visited or received visitors.

A Cranky Boy's Work With a Knife.—Harry White, living at Betterton, who is discribed as being a "little cranky," recently attacked with a knife and severely cut Nettie Sappington on the neck and arm.

Seeing the Comet.—Election night gave many citizens who had never before enjoyed the sight, an opportunity of seeing the comet. Some enthusiastic waiters for election returns, we are informed, were able distinctly to see two comets.

Firmly Fixed.—A young man who has been changing his abode frequently in the last few years, writes us to send his paper to Kennedyville, and says that he wants that to be his post-office hereafter and forever. Must be a very strong magnet about Kennedyville.

The Boys of Chestertown brought out all the old goods boxes and barrels which they have been storing for the last month, and had several rousing bonfires before the election returns were in. The small boy always wins, and always has his bonfires, no matter how the election goes.

Out-door Concerts.—A patent medicine advertising wagon canvassed Chestertown Monday and Tuesday, and gave several open air concerts. The music was both instrumental and vocal, comic and serious. Large crowds gathered in front of the Voshell House each evening and listened to a lengthly entertainment, and to a longer speech upon the qualities of a patent oil. The concert was highly applauded, and considerable cash was invested in the oil.

Serenade.—The Kent Cornet Band, under the leadership of Mr. John N. Dodd, serenaded Mr. H. Clay Usilton and bride, at the residence of Mr. B. P. Hatcherson, in the third district, on Thursday evening of last week. Quite a number of invited guests were present, including some ladies and gentlemen from Chestertown. A magnificent supper was served, and the band played a number of their choicest airs. It was altogether a very enjoyable affair.

Chesterville Revival.—The revival at this place continues. For the past two Sunday nights the attendance has been so great that the church could not hold the people. The meetings are now in their fourth week, and there have been over fifty conversions, about forty of whom have connected themselves with the church. One remarkable thing about this revival is the fact that it broke out spontaneously, and that up to last Friday night there had been conversions every night during the meeting.

Fire.—On Friday last the residence of Mr. S. W. Aldridge, near Chesterville, took fire from a spark from the chimney, and was considerably damaged by fire and water. About one-half the roof was destroyed before the flames were put out. The attic was filled with feathers, carpet-rags, bedding, &c., &c., all of which ignited, and made the fire more difficult to manage. As it was, nothing but a prompt rally of neighbors, and hard work saved the house from utter destruction. $200 will probably cover the loss; no insurance.

Accident.—On Saturday last Jos. Edwards, son of Mr. John N. Edwards, residing near Chesterville, was thrown from a wagon and very severely injured. He was in the wagon, and about starting from the field to the pound, when the horses became frightened, probably from a gun in the hands of a colored boy, or the smell of burnt powder, and started to run. In seizing the reins, young Edwards unintentially pulled the horses short on the lock, tilting the wagon and throwing him under the wheels. Both the fore and hind wheel passed diagonally over his breast, and he has suffered severely ever since. As yet his physicians—Drs. Cahoon and Sheppard—have been unable to determine the full extent of his injury, and he still lies in a critical condition.

Is Bob Allen in Kent?—The postoffice at Lynch's station, in this county, and the store-room of Mr. E. L. Covington was entered on Wednesday night of last week or early Thursday morning and robbed. The postoffice was robbed of $35 or $40 worth of stamps and a new pair of gaiters belonging to Mr. W. H. Dudley, the postmaster. The store was robbed of $8 or $10 in money; no goods were missing; two pair of shoes were found next morning in front of the store, evidently having been dropped by the thieves in their haste to get off. Entrance was forced into the grocery room adjoining the store, but finding the store-room door locked another entrance was gained at the front of the store by boring a panel out of the door. The postoffice adjoins the store-room. No clue to the perpetrators has yet been discovered.

Public School Outrage.—The public school building at Fancy, in which Mr. John F. Copper teaches, was entered on Saturday night last and the contents of the teacher's desk, consisting of his own private books and the school records, were all destroyed. The desk of one of the scholars—a son of Josias Ringgold, Jr.—was also singled out from the others, and rifled of its contents; a looking-glass upon the wall was demolished, and a large map torn in shreds. Three peach basketfuls of torn leaves and mutilated books were gathered off the floor on Monday, when Mr. Copper opened the house. The perpetrator forced an entrance at the window by drawing a staple. The determined and deliberate purpose of the miscreant is evidenced in the further fact that a bucket of water was emptied upon the torn books and papers in Mr. Copper's desk, and vulgar words were written upon the black board by an evidently poor speller and worse penman. What the motive could have been for such villainy is beyond the comprehension of the school authorities. Messrs. Robt. Nicholson, E. J. Watson and George W. Hatcherson are the trustees of the school and will, no doubt, make every effort to bring the guilty parties to justice. It would be well, too, we think, for the county school board to offer a reward commensurate to so serious an offense.—News.

A FAREWELL SUPPER TO JUDGE BECK.

THE OWLS DO THE HANDSOME THING BY THE JUDGE, AND EXPRESS THEIR GREAT REGRET AT LOSING HIM.

For the last ten days it has been generally understood that Mr. Walter H. Beck otherwise known as "the Judge," purposed having the banks of the Chester to make his home in the great town of the West, where the damsels all have the reputation of wearing number eleven shoes. Judge B. has long been a prominent owl, and when it became known to the owls that the judge was going to leave for better or for worse, it of course made quite a hullabaloo among them. The owls were not long in deciding that the most proper thing to be done, was to fix up a little impromptu banquet in honor of the departing member o' the flock, and send him away with a dozen eloquent speeches ringing in his ears. Wednesday evening of last week was set apart for the super, and Wm. Perkins, who has a well-earned reputation as a caterer, was engaged to furnish the feast in honor of the departing owl. At about half past ten on Wednesday evening, the owls began to assemble in a private room at the Rising Sun house, and by eleven, the whole flock had gathered numbering some twenty or twenty-five. The owls are of course, on all occasions, preternaturally solemn, but their solemnity on this farewell occasion it will be understood was something fearful to contemplate. The president of the owls was announced to be sick, and in his absence an owl of somewhat less venerable aspect presided.

The owls were unanimous in saying that Perkins had come up to his past reputation in this banquet to Judge B. There were no French names on the bill of fare, but there were not a single owl who got mad on that account. Turkey, roast and boiled, baked duck, frit chicken, turkey salid, chicken salad, oyster, raw, stewed, scalloped and fried. For desert, ice-cream and pastries. There were no vines,—but,—well no, there were no wines. The owls are strictly temperence in their principles.

To say that the speeches made on the occasion were eloquent, is to say nothing. If there is any one thing for which an owl is specially celebrated, it is for being a natural bor orator. The speeches are too numerous to menion, and as for attempting to report them with anything like justness to the owls who fired them off, the Transcript cannot think of making the attempt, because of the absolute certainty of failure. Suffice it to say, that they all gave expression to the undying regards each owl entertained for Judge Beck, and to the hope that he would prosper in his new home on the banks of the Mississippi, beyond the promise of his wildest dreams. If the judge had known how popular he is, before he determined to go West, he would doubtless have staid, and have allowed his name to be brought forward for Congress.

Judge B., in reply to the many compliments paid him by the various speeches, said, that he had knocked around the world a great deal in his time, and had lived in a great many places, but that he had never regretted leaving any place so much as he regretted leaving Chestertown, and that he had not yet felt his regret of leaving Chestertown so keenly as he had felt it here this evening (applause). This supper had been a complete surprise to him, and he could not tell how highly he appreciated it as being a mark of esteem on the part of his friends. If any owl should ever meander as far away as St. Louis, he hoped that that owl would not fail to look him up, and that he would in some small degree endeavor to repay the compliment which had been done him this evening. When Judge Beck took his seat, an owl arose and very solemly made a resolution, that the owls go out in a body, when Judge B. has got a good grip on St. Louis, and call on him. This resolution was unanimously adopted with due solemnity. After passing another resolution that the owls go in a body to the steamboat wharf, and bid the judge farewell, the owls adjourned. Judge B. left yesterday morning on the steamer B. S. Ford, having previously deposited a ballot for Covington and the old bench. The Owls saw him off.

"NOTES BY THE WAY"

Herbert Spencer, in commenting on American institutions, truthfully says, "Our freedom is in danger as long as we are ruled by political bosses." The boss system is the outgrowth of our system of education. Our young men are thoroughly instructed in every branch of learning, save in morals. We cannot have pure government without pure men, and men to be pure must be moral. Thorough moral training must enter into our system of education before we can have durable reform in politics.

There is thought to be a relationship between "gapes" in chickens and "diptheria" in the human being. The so-called worm that is often removed from the wind-pipe of the chicken, by means of a horse hair, is nothing more than false membrance, similar in appearance to that of diptheria.

Millions of wild ducks were driven from the Susquehanna flats to Sassafras river last Wednesday.

Nettie Sappington, who was cut on the arm and neck by Harry White, is doing well, and will recover.

Joseph Turner, of the firm of Turner Bros., expects to discontinue business a Betterton this Christmas, and there is a probability of his establishing a lumber yard and paning mill in Chestertown.

Several farmers here have ordered pear trees direct from a northern nurseryman. First-class two-year-old dwarfs will be delivered at $18 per hundred.

Services will be held in the lecture room of the M. E. Church at this place, during the winter. Work on the church is progressing, but the building will not be completed efore next spring or summer.

Still Pond, Nov. 6, 1882.

HYMENEAL.

ROBINSON—JANVIER.

Yesterday afternoon a goodly number of persons, chiefly ladies, gathered in the Middletown M. E. Church to witness the marriage of Miss Florence Janvier, daughter of Edwin F. Janvier, of Kent county, Md., and Samuel Robinson, of Philadelphia. At four o'clock the happy pair entered the church, and preceded only by two handsome boys of near the same size, went to the altar, where Rev. Mr. Murray, pastor of the church, stood ready to tie the nuptial knot in a graceful and impressive manner. The bride wore a tasteful traveling costume and looked as bright as a streak of morning sunshine and as sweet as a ripe peach. The room looked handsome and proud, as all rooms should look. The young ladies present seemed to take a deep interest in the ceremony, and very likely many of them wondered how they would feel when their time came, in the sweet by and by. R. L. Price presided at the organ, fixing the audience with several spirited and appropriate selections. The ushers were J. Rudolph Wilson and Harry L. Shepherd. Thoroughly-mated pair left for the North by the 5.30 P. M. train. They will spend a day or two in Philadelphia, and will then go to Brooklyn, where Mr. Robinson is engaged in business. Tokens were many and valuable, and included a silver ice pitcher, silver knives and forks sets of handsome jewelry, a unique inkstand, several beautiful plaques, a silver card receiver and a sewing machine. The bride is a sister Mrs. W. L. S. Murray.—Middletown Transcript.

Cut by a Buzz Saw.

On Tuesday last Mr. Walter D. Roe was severely cut by a buzz saw he was running at the mill near Jump's school house, Chapel dist. He was sawing slabs into short lengths and stooping down removing the wood from the saw, the saw caught his hat brim and ripped the front of his head against the saw teeth, which struck about the centre of the right side of the forehead and cut a gash over his head over six inches long, terminating near the crown of the head. Mr. Roe was alone in the woods a mile and a half from help. He jumped on his horse and rode rapidly home, but having to stop frequently to wipe away the blood which ran into his eyes and blinded him. As best he gave directions to Mr. Edwin T. Roe's son to send a physician to his house and to shut up the drafts of the engine.

News was sent to Easton to his brother Mr. E. H. Roe, who immediately sent Drs. Chamberlain and Johnson. Dr. Rose, who was also sent for, reached the house first and sewed up the scalp. The scull was cut into, he said, but not cut through. It was a very narrow escape from sudden death. Mr. Roe displayed extraordinary coolness and presence of mind after the accident.—Easton Ledger.

BARRETT, NEPHEWS & CO., of 43 North Charles street, formerly No. 110 West Baltimore street, the old established dyeing house, is prepared to do all kinds of work in their line with neatness, cheapness and dispatch. In dress goods of all wool and also of cotton and wool, etc., their success is greatly superior to that of a year ago.

The firm lay aside every year a certain amount of their profit to buy the most improved machinery, and during their existence have expended over one half million of dollars in that department alone. This firm calls especial attention to the rapid advances made by them during the past few years in the art of dyeing.

It has been the desire and aim to present to their customers work perfect in every respect.

AN IMPORTANT MOMENT.—It is puzzling to decide between the rival clothiers, where a man should buy his clothing, if he seeks enlightenment by reading the advertisements, for he will find each to claim to sell cheaper than the others, &c. We say to you, buy from a house of known reputation for square dealing, where goods are sold by the manufacturers themselves upon precise statements as to kind and quality, and at a strictly uniform low price, and where you can go back for your money if after reaching home you should think you had purchased unwisely. Such a house is C. N. OEHM & SON, 230 W. Pratt St., through to 55 Hanover St., Baltimore, Md.

THE "SUCCESS"

Force and Suction Pump,

Of which we have the exclusive control, is now being extensively used in this county. We have one at our store in Chestertown, where it can be seen at work. These pumps are made of the best material, the cylinders and valves are of brass, the pipe is wrought iron galvanized. No. 1 Pump will throw 40 gallons per minute; No. 2 pumps, 17 gallons per minute. We warrant each and every pump to work satisfactorily for one year in any depth of well, and to force water 700 yards with a rise of 150 feet.

Call and examine this pump and you will buy no other.

Special Notice!

SOMETHING LONG NEEDED SUPPLIED AT LAST

WM PERKINS has fitted up his Lady's Parlor, for the Winter; and ladies from the country, or elsewhere, will find a warm room, when they come to town with their husbands or friends, and do not wish to wait in the stores, or to call on friends, while their gentlemen companions are attending to business matters, in which they can sit, and read, and pass away their time; free of charge.

Lunches Served at All Hours.

He also has an upper room, properly fitted up, in which dinner and supper can be privately furnished at all times, at short notice, and moderate prices.

P. S.—All meals served in the upper saloon will be at an extra charge.
