SOME THINGS TO READ AND SOME TO SKIP.

Sheridan's ride: The preparations for the Presidential exploring party in charge of General Sheridan are almost completed. One evening as an officer of the Commissary Department, who had been exhibiting a list of provisions for the journey to the General, was about quitting the apartment Little Phil called him back and said: "I think that suggestion you threw out yesterday in reference to allowing for unforseen causes of detention was a good one and that perhaps it would be better to take along an extra supply, sufficient to last for three days at least. You won't forget about it, will you?" "No," returned the officer, with great alacrity; "I'll just make a memorandum of it at once for safety," and pulling out a lead pencil he inscribed the following significant legend upon his shirt cuff: "Add thirty gallons of whiskey to quantity already ordered."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Oscar Wilde was at a reception at Arcadia Ranch, the London home of Frank Lincoln and Henry S. Wellcome. Among others present were Grace Greenwood and her daughter, James Whistler, and Adelaide Detchon. Oscar was very grand and gloomy. He confided to a knot of ladies that he was writing a tragedy, and it would soon be produced. It would be very affecting; but the true lover of art, he remarked, never betrays his emotion. 'I shall give orders,' he said, 'to have immediately removed from the audience any person who shall be found weeping.' There was a pause, which was broken by Miss Detchon asking respectfully; 'Yes, Mr. Wilde; but suppose the audience laugh at your tragedy. Then what would you do?'

'Anything for a sensation' would seem a good motto for the Vanderbilt coat-of-arms. But you cannot ride into the charmed circle, even if you drive three horses abreast, if you lack that certain mysterious something which makes you welcome to America's 'aristocracy.' There is a terrible gulf here between the cottagers and hotel guests. It can't be denied, 'it is very unfashionable to call on any one at the hotel, you know,' a cottager said, laughingly, to me the other day; 'yet I went and tried to feel ashamed, because it is the correct thing to do.'—Newport Letter in the Boston Transcript.

In Boston: "Say, sis," remarked the high school girl's brother, "you ought to see a new chap we've got at the store; he don't know beans." "Can I never teach you to use proper language?" inquired the high school girl severely; "You should not say, 'He don't know beans,' but, 'He is not sufficiently versed in botany to recognize the matured ovule of a common leguminous plant.'"—Oil City Derrick.

Supported by evidence: 'Gesler! Who was Gesler?' said Mrs. Beckram to her husband. 'He was a tyrant, my dear, and also a life insurance agent.' 'What do you mean by such nonsense?' 'There is no nonsense about it, Mrs. Beckram, I assure you. Does not William Tell say to Gesler, in the third act, 'Ha, tyrant! hast thou not given me assurance of my life?'"—Texas Siftings.

A curious advertisement appeared in a late issue of the Liverpool Mercury. It read: I lost my purse containing two guineas and a sixpence. The finder can keep the gold if he will return the sixpence, as it was the amount of damages I received from the Midland railway for breaking my leg. The bit of silver cost me 210 pounds. George Amesbury.

An incident of the strike: The other day an up-town gentleman, whose wife wished him to send up a corn doctor to the house, made the engagement and telegraphed her to this effect. "Chiropodist will be up at two o'clock." The lady was greatly surprised, but somewhat consoled, when she received the following message: "Cheer up, dearest. Will be up at two o'clock."—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

It is told on Editor Maddox, of the Conyers Solid South, that when he proposed and was accepted he said to his sweetheart: "I would be glad if you would give me a kiss." Then, observing her blush, he added: "Not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith." Of course Maddox got his kiss and is now prepared to step off.

In the prison at Valencia, Spain, Jose Casalta pulled out one of those Valencian knives, the blades of which are a foot long, and plunged it six times into the breast of his convict companion. A warder tried to seize the murderer, and was stabbed to the heart. Casalta worked himself into a paroxysm of fury, and rushed about, dealing thrusts with his knife right and left. A sentinel attempted to shoot him down, but his musket missed fire, and Casalta killed him. A corporal of the guard disabled the wretch with a bayonet, but even after he had been wounded it was found almost impossible to secure him. He died of his wounds two hours afterward.

Fright in the Farm House!

Family all taken sick at night. Unusual symptoms. Seemed like poisoning. What could it be? What had they eaten? Was it arsenic in the soup? Was it strychnine in the coffee? Was it rat's-bane in the pie? None of these. The cistern had not been cleaned for a long time. The family had been drinking impure water. They might have died, only that they took Perry Davis's Pain Killer. Family well. Farmhouse happy. Everybody pleased.

A TURTLE was picked up on the premises of George Thompson, West Islip, L. I., on Saturday last, upon whose back were the initials 'N. S,' and the date 1717. Mr. Youngs recently saw a turtle in the same locality marked 'R. W., 1830.' The initials of Judge Jonathan Thompson and an almost illegible date, supposed to have been carved eighty-five years ago, were found upon the shell of another turtle about a year since in the same locality. These old residents have been confined within a limited area by two streams of water.

Full of Hope.

Dr. Charles Lloyd, of Great Bridge, Va., endorsed it. In the full vigor of life, a sudden cramp is often the precursor of death. Dr. Worthington's Cholera and Diarrhoea Medicine should be in every household, as a sure cure for all complaints of the stomach and bowels. Price 25 and 50 cents a bottle.

A BOY of 18, at Chelsea, Mass., wished to marry a woman of 40. He could not get a license at home, so he went to Boston and procured one by saying that he was 21 and the woman 22. His father found it out, and plotted with the minister, who refused to give up the license or perform the ceremony. The clerks have been warned and the boy refused another license.

"Slow and steady wins the race." Steadily, but not slowly, Kidney-Wort is distancing all competition for universal popularity and usefulness. This celebrated remedy can now be obtained in the usual dry vegetable form, or in liquid form. It is put up in the latter way for the especial convenience of those who cannot readily prepare it. It will be found very concentrated and will act with equal efficiency in either form. Read advertisement.

THE commonest object in cheap jewelry in the New York stores just now is the spider, big, sprawling, and hideous, whether in brass, silver, or gold plate. In Paris the rage is for swallows. They are the favorites of the leaders of fashion, and appear in twos and threes on bonnets, painted on ornaments, embroidered on dresses and parasols, and stamped on buttons.

WELLS' "ROUGH ON CORNS."—Ask for Wells' "Rough on Corns." 15c. Quick, complete permanent cure. Corns, warts bunions.

A LITTLE Danbury girl was playing with a tea bell, the clapper of which was hung by a steel wire, hooked at the end. The hook caught in her tongue so far back as to hold the bell tightly over her face. She was too young to aid in relieving herself, but a doctor finally worked in a pair of nippers and cut the wire.

FLIES AND BUGS.—Flies, roaches, ants, bedbugs, rats, mice, gophers, chipmunks, cleared out by "Rough on Rats." 15c.

MORE than $72,000 was found lately in the room of a man in Paris who had for 25 years lived miserly, and who died in a charity hospital.

DECLINE OF MAN.—Nervous Weakness Dyspepsia, Impotence, Sexual Debility, cured by "Wells' Health Renewer." $1.

IN spite of 300 lifeboats and 293 rocket stations, about 1,000 lives were lost on the British coasts in a year.

Universal favor has been awarded Schroeder's Corn Solvent, for Corns and Bunions, 25 cents.
