—Mr. E. K. Sparks, of Chestertown, lost on Monday a very valuable horse, from lock-jaw.

—Partridges and rabbits are more than usually abundant this season.

—Mr. Jos. L. Downes calls attention in a card to the fact that he is again with C. N. Oehm & Son.

—Turn out to the oyster feast and Democratic pow-wow to be held at Grey's Inn on next Saturday afternoon.

—The ladies of the M. E. Church will have a Japanese tea party the last evening of their fair and festival, Oct. 19th.

—The new two-cent postage stamp began duty on last Monday. It very much resembles the three-cent stamp, except that it is engraved in a rich brown instead of green.

—The ladies of the M. E. Church will hold a fair and festival at the town hall during Court week, and propose also giving an entertainment each evening.

—Dr. C. P. Gilpin and Philip H. Brooks found a good tide, and went up Morgan's creek to look for rails on last Tuesday. They had a fine day's sport, bagging 84 birds.

—The last sitting for this year of the registrars of voters closed Tuesday evening. Full reports from the various districts are not received in time for publication in this issue.

—The Kennedyville M. P. Sabbath School will hold their anniversary Sunday evening, Oct. 7th. The exercises will consist of readings, recitations, music, opening missionary boxes, reports of officers, awarding of premiums, etc.

—Mr. D. B. Stewart of this county, late with the commission house of T. H. Kepner, has gone into business on his own account as will be seen by his card, published in this issue. Mr. Stewart is known as a pushing and reliable young man.

—The Hon. Wm. Henry Legg, who is on the oyster commission, will make a speech at Grey's Inn next Saturday afternoon, and will probably tell what he knows about oysters. A number of other speakers will also probably address the meeting.

—To the sportsmen who go out dove shooting in these early autumn days, there is much temptation presented by the fine flocks of partridges that frequently rise before them. The law does not allow partridge shooting till the 25th of October.

—Young Smuggler, belonging to Mr. J. W. Hines of Chestertown, has made for himself a brilliant record this season for a young horse. In four races in which he has trotted, he has won second money in three, and third place in one. Smuggler trots twice during the Cecil county fair.

—There was a good turn-out at the Democratic meeting at Kennedyville on last Saturday. Speeches were made by James A. Pearce, Esq., and by H. H. Barroll, Esq. The oysters failed to put in an appearance, because the man who was engaged to deliver them failed to fill his contract. The speeches were listened to with great interest, notwithstanding the absence of an oyster feast.

—The Transcript received recently and has had framed and hung in its sanctum, a finely executed photograph of Mr. A. S. Abell, proprietor of the Baltimore Sun. The photograph is upon a lithographic plate of the Sun, marking Mr. Abell's 77th birth day. The photograph shows he proprietor of the Sun to be a remarkably handsome man, who presents the appearance of being twenty years younger than he is.

—A medal with a history, was brought to the Transcript office this week. Chas. J. Calder, of Chesertown, enlisted in the Union Army, Oct. 2d 1861. He wore around his neck a medal, marked "Chas. J. Calder, Chestertown, Md., Co. B., 29 E. S. Md. V. Enlisted Oct. 2d. 1861." Mr. Calder fought through the war and returned home, but has since died. A postal card recently addressed to the post master at Chestertown, informed that a medal marked as stated had been found, and that his friends could secure it by sending their address to the holder,—a gentleman of Charleston, S. C. Mrs. Jefferson Joiner is the sister of Mr. Calder, and she communicated with the gentleman who held the medal. She received the medal and a letter from the sender stating that the medal had been found at Church Flats on the Stone river by a negro. The medal is much worn, but the letteriig can be made out very distinctly.

—An M. E. Sunday school jug breaking, took place at town hall on last Monday evening. The jugs have been very thoroughly passed around during the past two weeks by members of the school, and on Monday evening, fifty one jugs were handed in. On being broken, the aggregate of contents summed up $134.94. The most valuable jug, proved to be that handed in by Ida Deford, which panned out $18.19. The jug of Gale Usilton was the next highest on the programme, yielding a round $10. The jug of Stella Brice was good for $8.50 and that of Annie Hinkle counted out $7.43. After this there was a declining scale, the lowest jug in the lot bringing in two cents. There were four prizes to the four highest collectors, consisting of a bird and cage, a bible, gold pencil and an illustrated copy of Bunyan's Pilgrims Progress. An admission of 15 cents was charged to witness the breaking, and there were present 250 people. There was ice cream, cake and refreshments, and a very pleasant evening was passed.

—Orphans' Court, Tuesday, Oct. 2, 1883.—Present, Judges Nicholson, Shallcross and Willson.

B. F. H. Caulk; executor of Mary A. Brice, filed an additional administration bond in the sum of $3,000, which was approved and ordered to be recorded.

The sale of the real estate of Dr. Wm. H. Meeteer, deceased, made and reported by Margaret H. Meeteer, executrix of said deceased, was ratified and confirmed.

Lewis C. Justice, administrator of John Naylor, deceased, returned his first and final adm'r account, which was examined, passed as stated, and ordered to be recorded.

The Queen Anne's Democratic Ticket.

The 35 nominating delegates drawn by the Queen Anne's jury system of primaries, met in Centreville on last Tuesday and made the following ticket:

For the State Senate—W. T. P. Turpin.

For the Legislature—Wm. Henry Legg, J. E. Barton and A. J. Gadd.

For State's Attorney—P. B. Hopper.

For Sheriff—T. Sudler.

For Orphans' Court—W. H. Newnam, S. Earle, John Dodd.

For the Levy Court—J. F. Godwin, Dr. Denny and William Cecil.

For Register of Wills—Thomas A. Bryan.

The ticket is composed of names that are prominently and favorably known throughout the county.

Tournament on the 25th.

We have had no fair in Kent county this year and in consequence no home races. This leaves a blank to be filled, and recognizing this, arrangements have been made by some enterprising parties to hold a grand tournament on the 25th inst., at the Kent county fair grounds. Already a number of knights have signified their purpose to contest for the valuable prizes that are offered, and for the honor of crowning the queen of love and beauty. There will be an address to the knights by an orator of prominence, and the day is expected by other means to be made enjoyable and attractive. Fuller particulars of the tournament will be found in the advertisement. Next week we will probably announce some details of the entertainment that have not yet been completed.

Change in the State Central Committee for Kent County.

R. Hynson, Esq., who was named as the chairman of the State Central Committee for Kent county by the delegates to the State Convention, has resigned the position, and the chairman of the committee for the State, Senator A. P. Gorman, has appointed C. G. Woodall, the editor of the Transcript, in his stead. Mr. Hynson was appointed to the position without his consent, and was compelled to resign because his business affairs did not allow him time to attend to the duties of the position.

The committee, as it now stands, is C. G. Woodall, T. Romie Strong and J. J. Spear.

Peninsula Items.

The monetary value of the exhibits at the recent Dover fair are estimated at $1,000,000.

The Denton Journal has come out in a new heading that has for its centre-piece a picture of the Caroline county court house.

A fire broke out in St. Michaels, Talbot county, early last Friday morning, and destroyed a number of dwellings and business houses. The loss is estimated at $9,500, with an insurance summing up $3,500.

Mr. James F. Melvin, of the Denton Journal, and Miss Nannie Vane Garey, daughter of Ex-Senator Thomas F. Garey, of Caroline county, Md., were married on Wednesday of last week, by the Rev. S. D. Hall, rector of Christ Church, Denton.

The Smyrna Record reports a case of rape as having taken place at Cowgill's Corner in Kent county, Del., on Tuesday of last week. The outrage was upon a Mrs. Addison, a respectable widow aged forty, and was by a negro man named Robert Wisher. Wisher had not at last accounts been arrested.

The new propeller Choptank, of the Choptank Transportation Company, made her first trip to this place last Sunday evening. Her landing at the wharf was witnessed by half the people of the town. She is a beautiful model and is expected to be very fast. She will make tri-weekly trips on alternate days with the Enoch Pratt.—Caroline (Denton) Democrat.

John R. Banks, of district No. 26, Baltimore hundred, has almost put an end to swearing and fighting in his neighborhood. Whenever he hears a man utter an oath he immediately approaches him and administers a severe rebuke and threatens to "prosecute" him. In this way he has gained the fear and respect of the unruly elements of society. He attended the late stock law election in that district and his presence prevented a fight. Mr. Banks is 60 years old and he is the father of 21 children.—Sussex Journal.

The Maryland Oyster Commission.

Messrs. A. S. Abell & Co.: Knowing that the Sun sheds its light for all, I write to say that in the early spring the oyster commission held a meeting at Barnum's and divided its work for the year. The work assigned Dr. Brooks and Capt. Waddell was on water, to examine the oyster beds and bars, and Dr. Brooks, in the meantime, to prosecute his scientific experiments for the propagation of the oyster. The work for this year assigned me was to visit the different sections of the State that feel and take an interest in this subject, and obtain views, opinions and suggestions concerning this interest and such statistical information on the subject as is compatible. In my line of duty I have worked up my county, Queen Anne's, Kent and Talbot, but in the course of a few days will make Talbot another visit, and will continue my trip to Dorchester, Somerset and Wicomico.

Then I will visit St. Mary's, Calvert, Anne Arundel, and finish up my work by giving those interested in your city a hearing. This, I suppose, will be about the middle of November, and then I will commence my work on the report to be made to the incoming Legislature. I have not met the commissioners since the early spring, and was absent at the meeting held on Monday last because I had no way of getting there at the hour named. We will have a called meeting soon, and the Sun shall be fully advised as to what is done. I am gathering much useful and interesting information in my visits to the tidewater counties.

Yours, &c., WM. HENRY LEGG.

The Peach Season of 1883.

A despatch from Wilmington, Del., to the Philadelphia Ledger of Monday says: The peach season of 1883 is now practically ended, only a few car-loads a day passing over the Delaware Railroad, and most of these to supply the canneries. Before the peaches were fully grown Mr. Mills, the Superintendent of the road, estimated that the peaches likely to pass over the road would amount to about 3,000,000 baskets, but so far the number carried will reach 3,250,000 baskets, and of these the canneries and evaporating establishments along the line the of Delaware Road purchased about 1,000,000 baskets, and paid for them a higher price than ever before. This was owing to the fact of the extra quality and dryness of the fruit. Last year but three pounds of evaporated fruit could be obtained from a basket, but during the present season the average was from 5½ to 6 pounds. The evaporators were, therefore, enabled to pay sixty cents per basket, and make a larger profit than when they paid only from twenty to thirty cents in 1882, and at the same time furnishing a better article. During the season just closed the peach trains, during August and part of September, aggregated from 100 to 175 per day, each car holding over 500 baskets. The business this year was also somewhat different from previous years, and the fact that most of the peaches were purchased at the station, at prices that afforded the growers a larger profit than has been realized for many years. There were also purchasers from the West as far as Chicago and Indianapolis, and from these two points peaches were sent to places that have not heretofore been reached. The same was the case in the shipments made East. The prices obtained were unusually high, but few selling at the shipping stations for less than sixty cents per basket, while some of Reeve's Favorite brought $1.50 per basket, and which were on several occasions sold as high as $5.00 per basket in Boston. The shipment of berries over the Delaware Road, early in the season, was also very large, in one day 125 car-loads of strawberries having been sent to various parts of the country.
