—Judge Wickes will hold the January term of court, begining to-morrow.

—$300 was cleared at the fair at Galena for the benefit of St. Dennis' congregation.

—A brief season of skating on the mill pond was afforded by the recent cold snap.

—One hundred and thirty wild ducks,—65 pairs—mostly red-heads, were brought to Chestertown in one lot on Tuesday.

—Chicken thieves and turkey thieves seem to be doing an uninterrupted run of business around Chestertown this winter.

—The Emma A. Ford was kept in Baltimore by the storm of Saturday, and did not reach Chestertown until Sunday morning.

—Mr. W. R. Archibald had an overcoat stolen from his carriage while at the rack in front of Stam's drug store one night recently.

—Bear in mind the supper to be held Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week by the ladies of the Worton Presbyterian Church.

—A social organization of Kennedyville, known as the "White Mountain Boys," will hold a ball at the Kennedyville hall next week.

—Rev. Dr. Hamel, of the "Church of the Beloved Disciple," Philadelphia, has accepted a call to St. Luke's Church, Church Hill, including the charge of the chapel at Sudlersville.

—J. D. Urie, Esq., publishes his law card in this issue. Mr. Urie was admitted to the Kent county bar last fall, after passing a very creditable examination.

—It is too early to talk about the prospect for peaches. There are plenty of peach buds yet, according to best information, but the peach crop when it is killed meets its death later than January.

—Prof. Theo. Ascherfeld, assisted by his daughter, gave a musical entertainment at Market Hall on last Friday evening. The music was on piano, guitar and accordeon. The audience was small.

—Capt. Edward S. L. Young of the steamer George Law, and one of the oldest steamboat captains in this State, is now dangerously ill at his residence 147 Hanover street, Baltimore. He is suffering from a complication of diseases. He has been visited by many friends during his illness, being very popular with the traveling public.

—Mr. W. D. Straughn, of Dorchester county, who graduated at Washington College last year, has been on a visit to Chestertown this week. Mr. Straughn has a position in the Baltimore post office. He talks, however, of going West to grow up with the country. He is reading law, and expects eventually to put out his shingle somewhere in the big West country.

—Mr. Henry T. Jump, an aged and highly respected citizen of Kent county, died at his home near Stanley on last Friday night. Mr. Jump was in the 74th year of his age, and his death resulted from a general breaking down of the system. No man had the respect and confidence of the community in which he lived more thoroughly than Mr. Jump. He has been a citizen of this county for forty-seven years, and was well known in all parts of the county. He has been in feeble health for several years back.

—The body of an unknown colored man was found upon the shore of Mr. James L. Beck, in Eastern Neck, Saturday week. He was supposed to be about thirty-five years of age, and was five and a-half feet high. John A. Rollison, Esq, held a jury of inquest, with B. R. Darding foreman, which rendered a verdict of "died from cause unknown to the jury." The man evidently had fallen or been knocked overboard from some vessel and drowned, and the body washed ashore where found. The body was interred on the premises.

—A large number of Kent county business men who want job printing done, send to the city for it, probably under the idea that it can be done there better or cheaper. We have seen some very mean printing come from Baltimore, printing indeed that the Transcript office would have been ashamed to turn out. Those who have job work to do should at least give a home office an opportunity of making a bid on it. It doesn't cost any money to make inquiries, and if you inquire at the Transcript office and then get your work done elsewhere, there will be no particular harm done.

—The libel suit of John Charles Wilson, colored, of Centreville, against the steamer Corsica of the Chester River Steamboat Company, came up for trial in the United State's court in Baltimore last week. Mr. W. Shepard Bryan, Jr, appeared for Wilson and Hon. John. H. B. Latrobe appeared for the company. Wilson claimed that he was ejected from the saloon of the steamer on account of color, &c., and sued for $2,000 damages. The company showed that Wilson came aboard as a passenger; that he was drunk and behaved in a rude and disorderly manner, and that the captain ejected him from the saloon on petition of other passengers and for their quiet and protection. The Corsica being a night steamer it would be impossible for passengers to enjoy the use of the staterooms they had paid for if other passengers were allowed to sit in the saloon and make noise that would make sleep impossible. The court, Judge Morris presiding, after hearing the testimony, dismissed the libel.

—A business letter from a high authority in such matters says that "The Kent National Bank will in all probability go into liquidation in a few weeks, as the charter will expire by limitation June 17, 1885." This strikes us as a capital place to start a new bank. The Kent bank has been unusually successful, paid large dividends and made money fast. A few thousand dollars of unemployed capital will well be invested in starting a new bank at that point. Why should not the Centreville National bank send over a branch bank?—Centreville Observer.

The charter of the "Kent National bank of Maryland" expires shortly, and the charter will be re-issued to the "Chestertown National bank of Maryland." Though by the change of name the old bank will cease to exist and a new bank take its place, yet virtually the new bank will be but a continuation of the old. Its stock will be held by the same parties, and its affairs will be managed by the same officers and board of directors. The Observer's remark about the Centreville bank sending a branch over to Chestertown is slightly humorous. If it were a well-managed institution, the branch would probably soon be bigger than the trunk. It would soon develope into a case of the tail wagging the dog. Does the Observer know that the deposits in the Chestertown bank will average twice as large as in both the Centreville banks together?

The Voyage of the Bull Pup.

The Chestertown gun club started on last Monday morning on their annual ducking expedition. The club steamed away at about 9:30 A. M. on the good ship, popularly known as "The Bull Pup" classically known as the "A. J. Whitney." The Whitney or the "Bull Pup" is a steam barge belonging to the Enterprise Transportation Company, and is used altogether for freighting. The gun club however fixed beds, tables and chairs in her ample holds, and stowed provisions &c, &c., enough to last a week. The club was bound for Eastern bay, where black heads, red heads and canvas back ducks are said to be plentiful. The following sportsmen composed the party,—J. K. Aldridge, J. W. Lambert, J. F. Howard, Capt. J. H. Thompson, H. L. Boyd, T. S. Bordley, W. C. A. Thompson, J. Strattner, Wm. A. Elliott, Harry Lambert, and Henry Thompson. Capt. J. H. Thompson was the admiral of the ship, and other positions of honor and trust were filled after the "Bull Pup" got to sea. The party expect to get back on Friday or Saturday, and on their trip back the sportsmen will probably be compelled to roost on deck, as the holds will most likely be full of ducks. It is possible that we may have more to say of the voyage of the "Bull Pup" next week.

How to Tell Good Beef.

A Baltimore butcher, when interviewed a few days ago by an enterprising reporter of one of the dailies of that city, gave the following directions for judging of the quality of beef, which may be of service to some of our readers. In the general selection of beef, said he, the housekeeper will do well to remember that if young, it will have a fine, smooth, open grain, a good, wholesome redness of color, and will feel tender, while the fat should be white rather than yellow—the whiter and firmer the better. Indeed, when the fat of beef is of a dull color the meat is seldom good, and should be systematically avoided. When fed with oil cakes the fat of beef will be usually of this color, and the flesh flabby. In the selection of any cut of beef whatever, a strict observance of these simple rules will suffice to insure even the most inexperienced buyer against imposition. Then, again, if beef is over fresh, the fact will make itself apparent by the smell which will be suggestive of excessive bloodiness, quite as readily as in the case of overkept or tainted beef, whose odor is sickening. The last precaution will apply to every other kind of meat as well as to beef.

Hurlock—Archibald.

Married at Grace Presbyterian Church, Kennedyville by Rev. W. W. Reese on the afternoon of January 14th, 1885, Mr. Wm. S. Hurlock and Miss Anna M., daughter of Mr. Wm. Archibald, of this county. The bridal party, headed by the ushers, entered the church, which had been brilliantly illuminated and handsomely decorated for the occasion, amid the strains of a wedding march beautifully rendered by Miss Mattie Murphy, daughter of Rev. R. H. Murphy. Seated in the chancel were the Rev. W. W. Reese and Rev. J. Martin. The beautiful service of the Presbyterian church was rendered by the pastor in his usual impressive manner. The responses of the bride and groom were clear and distinct. The bride was dressed in white satin en traine, front of brocaded satin and trimmings of lace and illusion; veil of illusion fastened with orange blossoms. First bridesmaid and groomsman, Miss Aggie Boyd, of Philadelphia, and Mr. James Archibald, 2d, Miss Racie Archibald; and Mr. John Hurlock. Bridesmaids dressed in cream-colored cashmere; trimmings damassin and lace. Ushers, John Archibald, C. B. Warrer, Wesley Moffett and Geo. Jones. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents and was a very enjoyable affair. There were about seventy-five present, friends and relatives of the bride and groom. After the happy couple had received the congratulations of the friends, an elegant repast was served. The remainder of the evening until nine o'clock was spent in social intercourse enlivened with strains of sweet music from the organ, accompanied with some very fine singing. The bride's presents were numerous and beautiful and were much admired by the company.—From communication of "Charley" in News.

State Politics Ahead.

As the next General Assembly will elect a United States Senator great interest will be taken by the politicians in the Legislative nominations. The Western Shore has several distinguished Democrats who would accept with thanks such an election. Senator Gorman has said that all he wants in politics now is to be returned to the Senate; his Excellency, the present Governor is said to be willing, though his candidacy has not been announced; and there are those who believe that neither of the distinguished ex-Governors and ex-Senators, Whyte or Hamilton would frown down a movement looking towards the senatorship. There is no intimation, however, at this writing, of any crystallization of opposition to the re-election of Senator Gorman, and probably he will go through in 1866 as easily as he did in 1880. It is always less trouble to elect a Western Shore than an Eastern Shore Senator. Somebody gets the thing mixed by the time the Legislature meets. In 1880 Mr. Gorman got the caucus nomination on the 1st ballot; in 1873, Mr. Whyte had it dead sure in the beginning; and in 1868, Mr. Hamilton had it easy. But there is generally great squabbling over the Eastern Shore Senators. Last year there were five bona fide Democratic candidates, and Judge Wilson made it on the 12th ballot, in the midst of a bitter struggle. Six years before that, the contest which wound up in the election of Mr. Groome still more protracted; and in 1872, Dr. Dennis was elected after a wearisome and much mixed course of balloting.—Easton Ledger.

Death of Col. R. C. Hollyday.

Col. R. C. Hollyday, ex-secretary of State of Maryland, died Sunday at half past 5 o'clock, at his home near Easton. He leaves a widow and a son and daughter. He was a most hospitable and warm-hearted gentleman, and had the friendship of all who knew him.

Hon. R. C. Hollyday was born in Talbot county in 1811. He was a son of Hon. Henry Hollyday, who represented the country in the State Senate for a number of terms, and was a cousin and brother-in-law of Judge Carmichael. He graduated at Princeton, and studied law with Wm. Carmichael, father of Judge Carmichael, in Centreville, He practiced law in Talbot county, and subsequently in Alleghany county. He removed to Cecil county in 1835 or 1836, and practiced law at Elkton until 1852. He represented Cecil county in the Legislature for two terms, 1844-45 and 1845-46. He was Secretary of State from 1848 to March, 1849, under Governor P. F. Thomas, who also appointed him clerk of the Cecil County Court, where he remained until November, 1851. He left Cecil county in 1852 and returned to Talbot. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1867 from that county. He served as secretary of State during Governor Bowle's term, and upon the death of Judge Mason in April, 1873, was appointed to the same office by Governor Whyte. He was reappointed by Governors Groome and Carroll, and after an interval of four years, during Governor Hamilton's administration, was again made secretary of State by Governor McLane in January, 1884. He only held office a few months, however, retiring in May, 1884, on account of ill-health. He has been living for many years on the old Hollyday estate, on Tread Avon river, in Talbot county.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE DELAWARE HOMŒOPATHS.

INTERESTING PROCEEDINGS—A BED IN A HOSPITAL ENDOWED—BUREAUS APPOINTED.

The regular annual meeting of the Homœopathic Medical Society of Delaware and Peninsula was held on Saturday in the rooms of the Young Men's Republican Club. The attendance was unusally large, prominent physicians being present from all parts of the State and Peninsula. The morning session was opened at 11 o'clock, L. Kittinger, M.D., presiding, and Dr. J. Homer Rile as secretary. After roll call the minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, and several new members were elected. The society agreed to endow a bed in the new Homœopathic Hospital of Philadelphia for the use of the indigent sick of Delaware and the Peninsula. After the regular order of business the society adjourned. The afternoon session was called to order at 3 o'clock, L. A. Kittinger of Wilmington, and W. F. Kennedy of Middletown, were elected delegates to the American Institute of Homœopathy, which meets June, 1885, at St. Louis, and L. W. Flinn of Wilmington, and T. H. Cooper of Chestertown, Md., were named as alternates. The following officers were elected:

Peninsula Items.

The Cambridge Chronicle says the gross earnings of the Cambridge and Seaford Railroad during 1884 were $17,517.00. Owing to extensive repairs, the expenses during the year exceeded the income.

The gross earnings of the Delaware railroad for year ending October 31st, 1884, were over $639,000, and the net earnings were something over $191,000. This sum paid the interest on bonds, dividends on stock, and left a surplus of over $60,000. A road down the Maryland side of the peninsula would pay quite as handsome dividends.

It is reported that a glass factory is about to be established at Sharptown, a village on the Nanticoke river, Wicomico county, Md. Messrs. John Robinson & Bro. have now in operation in that town a tack factory, which is said to be prospering. Captain George W. Parsons has nearly completed a large ice house in Salisbury. It is situated on the edge of an artificial pond, which can be flooded at any time. The house will hold over 1,000 tons, and will be filled with ice by means of machinery driven by steam power.

John B. Thomas, Esq., a prominent young farmer of the 6th election district of Queen Anne's county was married in Baltimore Thursday of last week to Miss Hannah, the daughter of Mr. James B. Scott, cashier of the National Mechanics bank of Baltimore. A reception was held at the home of the groom in Queen Anne's county on Friday evening, at which a number of relatives and friends of the bride and groom from Delaware, Baltimore and various parts of Queen Anne's and Kent counties were present. The bride was the recipient of numerous handsome bridal presents

The Harlan and Hollingsworth Co. launched at Wilmington last week the new side-wheel steamer for the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, and designed to transfer passengers between Norfolk and Cape Charles City. The boat is expected to attain a speed of eighteen miles per hour. She is 250 feet in length. On her main deck she can carry two Pullman sleeping cars, a combination mail and baggage car and an express car. The dining-room will be located on this deck, and this will be fitted up in the best manner. There will also be a social hall on the main deck. The promenade deck will contain the saloon cabin, with bathrooms, wash-rooms, state-rooms, toilets, etc. All these salons and rooms will be illuminated by electric lights and will be handsomely furnished. It is expected that she will take her place on the line about March 15. She is christened the Charles City.

A WICOMICO COUNTY OPHELIA.

A YOUNG LADY NEAR SALISBURY DROWNS HERSELF, IT IS THOUGHT FOR LOVE.

SALISBURY, MD., Jan. 19.—News was brought here this morning of the suicide of Miss Maggie Pryor, aged 16 years, daughter of the late Wm. P. Pryor. The scene of the sad event is about 4½ miles from Salisbury, and the particulars are distressing from the fact that everything had been planned by the young lady to successfully take her life. Miss Pryor left her home on Friday evening last, ostensibly to visit some of her neighbors. Not returning home the next day, inquiry was made as to her whereabouts, but none of the neighbors could tell where she was. From that time until Sunday afternoon her whereabouts was a mystery. Mack Malone, who was on his way to Union Church to attend service, in passing the old Burnt Mill, about three-quarters of a mile from the church, saw a bonnet hanging on a stick at the foot of the mill. He took the bonnet to the church, where it was identified by a sister of the unfortunate girl as being the one she wore from home. A searching party at once left the church and repaired to the spot where the bonnet was found. With the aid of a rake the body was fished from the water. The water was about twelve feet deep. No marks were found upon the body, and it was evident the girl had taken her own life. A jury of inquest was summoned, and rendered a verdict of suicide. Within the last few weeks the young lady had often asked her brothers and sisters which they thought was the easiest way to die, and expressed a desire to die. No attention was paid to her talk, and it was not believed that she would commit suicide. The spot where she made the fatal plunge is surrounded by a high embankment on either side, and in descending the hill plainly showed the marks of her shoe heels. Reaching the bottom she stuck a tall stick in the ground and hung her bonnet upon it, after which it is supposed she made the fatal plunge. The spot is a very secluded one and not frequented by many, and it is the opinion that she hung the bonnet up high, knowing that it would possibly be seen and her body recovered. No cause is assigned for the rash act by her family, but some of the neighbors think that disappointment in love led to the act.

Exchange Notes.

The Salisbury Advertiser has enlarged, and is printed in new type.

The Middletown Transcript proposes to put in steam power this week, and will furnish its office with two new job presses. Opposition does not seem to have the effect of discouraging Bro. Way.

How those down-the-shore papers do blow. The Wicomico Record has set up a claim that all the pretty women who get off the train at the Broad Street Station, Philadelphia, come from Wicomico county.

The Snow Hill Messenger made its first appearance on last Saturday under the management of Mr. S. H. Willey. The first number under the new management is very creditable, and the Mr. Willey promises better things in future.

The Port Tobacco editors, who were recently erroneously reported to be gunning for each other, are now arguing the question of "To what extent did Mr. Posey apologize to Mr. Cox, and was it a good, sufficient and all satisfactory apology."

The Greensboro Free Press has just closed its most prosperous year. The editor has just got married, the paper has moved into bigger quarters, and begins business with the well-founded hope of increasing prosperity.

The Prohibitionist, published at Wilmington, calls the little Diamond State, "Poor rum-soaked Delaware." People who live over the Maryland line have not hitherto been aware of the rum-soaked condition of Delaware. Emigration will probably immediately begin to flow across the Delaware line.

Literary Notes.

Harper's Magazine for February is an unusually interesting number, beautifully illustrated. The Frontispiece is an engraving by King from F. S. Church's painting, 'The Mermaid and the Sea-wolf.' The illustrated articles embrace a wide variety of subjects—interesting to the student of history, of biography, of science, and of art, as well as to the general reader.

The February ('Midwinter') number of the Century, the first edition of which is 180,000 copies (the largest number of Centuries ever published), contains—besides such notable contributions as General Grant's article on Shiloh—the beginning of a novel by Henry James, entitled 'the Bostonians,' which introduces the reader to a characteristic group of the 'strong-minded' of both sexes. Mr. Howells's descriptive papers, entitled 'A Florentine Mosaic,' also begin in this number, with their accompaniment of etchings and sketches by Pennall, reproduced by wood-engravings and the 'actinic' process. Among the strong papers of a more serious and weighty cast may be instanced 'A Faithless World' by Francis Power Cobbe; 'The Democratic Victory in America' by William Henry Hurlburt; and 'John Wycliffe, His Life and Work' (from Blackwood's Magazine).

Lippincott's Magazine for February opens with the second instalment of the amusing international story 'On this Side,' introducing Sir Robert Heathcote and his party on their arrival in New York and while gaining their first impressions of American manners and customs.

The Art Interchange of January 1 may be called a china painting number, so many designs suitable for this branch of art work are given in it.

St. Nicholas for February opens with the first chapters of a new serial by E. P. Roe, autnor of 'The Opening of a Chestnut-burr,' and 'Barriers Burned Away.'

First Class Work
GUARANTEED
BY THE OLD RELIABLE FIRM,
CHAPMAN & LAMBERT.

We are manufacturing some of the best work that was ever built in this State. We sell First-Class Work. If you want a Good Carriage it will be to your interest to buy of us as we are now—after Twenty years' experience—better able to suit you in every respect. Call and see our Light Phætons, Brewster Spring Buggies, Dayton and Jump-Seat Carriages.

We do not offer this work in competition with the common shoddy work, but sell it on its merits, and our reputation.

All Kinds of Repairing Done Neatly and with dispatch. We give special attention to painting up second-hand jobs. Those wanting a nice job of painting should give us a call.

CHAPMAN & LAMBERT.

Our WAGONS,
CARTS & DEARBORNS

Have a reputation throughout this Peninsula. We have sold them in New Castle county, Del., and in Cecil county, Md., and as far as Salisbury, Md. We have over ONE THOUSAND of these running to-day, and as far as our personal knowledge extends we do not know of twelve set of tyres cut in the whole of them. This is evidence enough of what kind of lumber we use in making them.

We could give you testimonials enough to fill one side of the Chestertown Transcript to establish this fact if it were necessary, but the public already knows of the standing of these goods.

We have justly earned the high reputation we hold as manufacturers by our manner of doing business—

We give our own personal supervision to every minutia in building;

We see that all lumber is well seasoned before it is used, and every other part is what it should be.

We do all kinds of

JOB-WORK & REPAIRS

furnish estimates for Bridge work, and repair all kinds of machinery.
We also sell

Plow Castings and Plows,

such as Wiley's, Concaves, and Minor & Hoyton's. These Castings are all ground and polished and sold cheap.

We also have on hand and make to order all kinds of

HARROWS,

Such as Twin and Double, and Single A's.
You will find a large lot of Single, Double and Three-horse Trees of the best hickory, well ironed; also, Plow Hames.
You will see by calling at our works that we have too much at stake to do mean or shoddy work.
Thankful for past patronage and hoping for a continuance of the same,
We are respectfully,
CHAPMAN & LAMBERT.
