grated" in the armed forces and praised him for his fight for fair employment practices and for directing Howard McGrath, former Attorney General, and Philip B. Perlman, former Solicitor General, to participate in the arguments before the Supreme Court in the racial restrictive covenant cases and the cases involving racial segregation in graduate or professional education in Texas and Oklahoma.

Text Of Statement

The text of Mr. Murphy's statement presenting the plaque in behalf of the publishers follows:

"Mr. President:

"Directors of the National Newspaper Publishers Association met their annual board meeting in Washington this week, knowing that you would soon be going back to Independence.

"They asked for this opportunity to come in, shake your hand, say hello and God bless you.

"They have also asked me to place in your hands this plaque as a remembrance.

"It is inscribed to you, the 33rd President of the United States, who has awakened the conscience of America.

New Charter of Freedom

"When we wrote that, we thought of that magnificent report of the President's Committee on Civil Rights, a new charter of freedom for little people.

"You did not simply accept it, you adopted it, you advocated it, in season and out, as the program of your administration.

"Out of your courageous efforts, to which this plaque refers, has come among us:

"1. A new freedom from fear and intimidation.

"2. A new opportunity for millions of our fellow citizens to register and vote for the first time in 50 years.

"3. Our first chance since the Revolution and the War of 1812 to become entirely integrated in the Army and Navy.

Back To Principles

"The colored men who fought in the Continental Army at Bunker Hill or with Commodore Perry in the Battle of Lake Erie, Mr. President, were not in Jim crow units. You brought us back to first principles.

"4. You have pricked the conscience of the nation by your insistence that all Americans have jobs and a chance for promotion without discrimination.

"5. When we write here of your courageous battle for democracy at home, we think of the appearance of Philip Perlman or Howard McGrath before the Highest Court of the nation, at your direction, to say that an end of restrictive covenants and the opening of state institutions of higher learning to all citizens are in the national interest.

Unforgettable Scenes

"All of these and many others are to us unforgettable scenes in your fine administration.

"We publishers want you to know it and just one thing more:

"We think we speak for our readers when we say that no President has retired from public office with a more real and, we hope, more abiding affection of the humbler Americans than yourself.

"The publishers ask you to take this plaque as an evidence of our regard."

The plaque read: "To: Harry S. Truman, 33rd President of The United States, Who Has Awakened the Conscience of America and given New Strength to Our Democracy by His Courageous Efforts in Behalf of Freedom and Equality for All Citizens. NNPA 1952."

Represent 40 Papers

The National Newspaper Publishers Association represents forty colored newspapers, including republican, democratic and independent publications.

The presentation of the plaque to Mr. Truman had no political significance. It had human significance. The publishers voted at their annual meeting in St. Louis last June to give the plaque to Mr. Truman.

Publishers present at the presentation were:

Louis E. Martin, the Michigan Chronicle, Detroit, and president of the NNPA; William O. Walker, Cleveland Call and Post, Cleveland, Ohio; John O. Sengstacke, Defender Publications, Chicago; Dowdal H. Davis, general manager, the Kansas City Call, Kansas City, Mo.; Frank L. Stanley, the Louisville Defender, Louisville, Ken.

C. A. Scott, the Atlanta Daily World; C. C. Dejoie, the Louisiana Weekly, New Orleans; T. C. Jervay, Wilmington Journal, Wilmington, N.C.; N. A. Sweets, St. Louis American; Frank W. Mitchell, St. Louis Argus; Thomas W. Young, Norfolk Journal and Guide; Charles P. Browning, the Chicago Defender; Carl Murphy, the AFRO-AMERICAN Newspapers, and John Kirkpatrick, East St. Louis Crusader, East St. Louis, Ill.

Business transacted by the publishers included setting the date and approving the program for their mid-winter meeting at New Orleans, Jan. 30 and 31; adopting a program for public relations and a discussion of new methods of improving their news service.

Judge James A. Cobb was an informal speaker at the closing luncheon.

lass and Milburn, passengers in the car, were then arrested.

Shot In Hip

During a fracas while the man was trying to escape Douglass was shot in the hip by Special Agent Riley, the government operative testified.

According to assistant United States District Attorney Thomas J. Gray, almost 2,000 pounds of sugar, 2 tons of coke—for fuel for the stills—and 83 gallons of whiskey were found in the truck driven by Ruffin.

Ruffin testified an unidentified white man approached him on a Philadelphia street corner and offered him $20 to drive the truck.

Hunting "Bird Dogs"

Milburn and Douglass testified they knew nothing of the bootleg whiskey, but were only hunting "bird dogs."

Special Investigators Henry Thompson, Frederick Travers, and Edward J. Muller, who participated in the raid, corroborated Agent Riley's testimony.

Government officials estimated the stills as capable of producing 150 to 200 gallons of whiskey daily. The current price of bootleg whiskey is estimated at $8 per quart.

Jerry Wilkes, 1800 block Lorman st., is the lone colored juror on the panel trying the case.

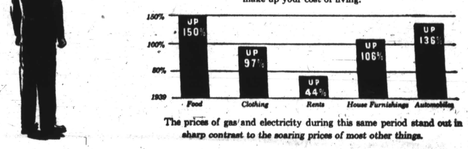
Two things haven't gone sky-high, gas and electricity
Soaring prices have been so general since prewar days that there is a natural tendency to assume that everything has gone way up. We would like to remind you that gas and electricity in the territory we serve are outstanding exceptions to this trend.
The figures below give a general idea of how great the increase has been since 1939 in the prices of most of the things that make up your cost of living.



The prices of gas and electricity during this same period stand out in sharp contrast to the soaring prices of most other things.
In the average home — Gas is up only 15% — Electricity is down 4%!
With the increased rates being proposed, electricity will be up only 2% over 1939.
Add up the many uses of gas and electricity in your home. Then take a look at your monthly bills. We think you'll agree that gas and electricity are by far the biggest bargains in your family budget.
