Bishop Jordan finds stay in Rhodesia 'rewarding'

BULAWAYO, Southern Rhodesia (ANP) — Bishop Fred erick D. Jordan of the African Methodist Episcopal church told reporters last week that he has found his stay in Southern Rhodesia very rewarding and pleasant.

The churchman said his visit was quite a contrast to last year when he was barred from entering Southern Rhodesia because he did not have a visa allowing him to pass through Northern Rhodesia.

After winding up his business on a 30-day visa here in Bulawayo on Friday, Bishop Jordan plans to make a few steps in Northern Rhodesia, then return to the United States on Feb. 15 or 16.

The bishop, who is accompanied by his wife, conducted an annual conference covering AME church work in the Central African Federation. More than 500 Africans attended the meeting.

Bishop Jordan expressed hope that in the future AME bishops may have free access to Central Africa. He said:

"We have concentrated on seeing government and church officials with a view of making possible my early return for an extended stay to complete the quardremdam and at the same time secure assurances that our bishops in the future might expect free access into the country."

Fourth quarterly tax report due

Employers are advised by District Director of Internal Revenue J. A. Chambliss to file their fourth quarterly withholding and social security taxes, Form 941, by Jan. 31.

The taxes are for October, November and December, 1953. The report should be accompanied by Form W-2A, withholding statement, along with Form W-3, reconciliation of the fourth quarter for 1953.

ROCK HILL PIONEER

ROCK HILL, S.C.—Mrs. Ella White of Haggin st., here, was admitted to St. Phillips hospital recently, where she is reported resting nicely. She is one of the city's oldest citizens. She is 92.
