Bishop J. W. Martin dies of hemorrhage

By REV. J. W. FINDLEY

CHICAGO — Bishop John W. Martin, 76, of the AMEZ Church died suddenly here at Provident Hospital Sunday morning from a cerebral hemorrhage after a four-day illness.

Funeral services were held Thursday at the Greater Walters AMEZ Church with Senior Bishop William J. Walls in charge.

Assisting the bishop were Dr. D. D. Thomas, pastor; Bishop Herbert B. Shaw, Wilmington, N. C. and the Rev. R. H. C. Lee, pastor of Martin Temple AMEZ Church, Chicago, which bears the deceased's name.

BISHOP MARTIN, a long-time resident of this city, was born in Lebanon, Va. and later moved with his parents to Nashville, Tenn., where he attended high school.

He earned the B. A., M. A. and S. T. M. degrees at Lincoln Pa. University and holds honorary degrees from Livingstone College and Lincoln University.

Active in the schools and college of the AMEZ Church, he was chairman of the board of Christian education and on the board of trustees of Livingston and Clinton Colleges.

SURVIVORS ARE his wife, Mrs. Ola Martin; three sisters: Mesdames Minnie Spurgeon, Johnson City, Tenn.; Cynthia Waff, Philadelphia; and Melinda Carson of Marion, N.C.

Also many nieces and nephews —one of whom is Dr. F. Claude Spurgeon, general secretary of the denomination, of Washington.
