CASPER G. WOODALL,
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

THERE is a bill before the Legislature to change the name of South East Creek to South East River.

WHAT a splendid, bold river the Chester is up as far as Chestertown! With a little scooping of the bottom, ocean ships could load right at our wharves. Many a great city has poorer water facilities than Chestertown. Coal can be landed here cheaper than it is unloaded in Philadelphia. That is a big item.

THE Belt annexation question was made a lively issue in Annapolis last week. Numerous prominent citizens of Baltimore discussed the question before the Belt Committee. The territory which Baltimore will acquire in the Belt is greater than that within the present city limits. Baltimore's present area is 9,000 acres. The Belt contains 13,000 acres.

MRS. JACKSON, the wife of the Governor, is already winning hearts by her social qualities. More entertaining is being done at the Gubernatorial Mansion this winter than under any previous Governor for a number of years. The Annapolis Republican says:

"Mrs. Jackson has won hosts of friends, and no lady in Maryland more heartily merits them. Her rare gifts of hospitality have brightened the social atmosphere of old Annapolis and made the city glad."

IN Pennsylvania—even in Pennsylvania—the fortified stronghold of the protective taxation evil—the chief hot-bed where great monopolies growing out of the evil system have flourished, and the great asylum, where aspiring protected industries have been nourished—even in Pennsylvania, there is an astonishing growing feeling in favor of tariff reform. The abolition of the evil system of a taxation imposed for the benefit of a favored few, must come. It is coming. It is in the air. If it does not win in the present Congress, it will go before the people at the next presidential election, and it will win then. To argue against it, is like arguing against a flood tide. The exploded theories with which Messrs. Edmunds, Sherman and Blaine are endeavoring to stem the tide, will be lost in the great sweep of the next presidential election, like so many fractured egg shells.

A NUMBER of the leading citizens of Hagerstown, Md., have formed themselves into an association to be known as the Hagerstown Improvement Association. It will be regularly incorporated and a pamphlet setting forth the advantages and inducements of Hagerstown as a manufacturing place will be issued.

The above item should give a very large hint to the progressive element of Chestertown. Hagerstown is one of the most wide-awake, pushing towns of the State. It is building up a number of thrifty industries and its population is rapidly increasing. It has fine railroad facilities, but it lacks entirely the splendid water facilities which Chestertown has the advantage of. Every citizen of the town would undoubtedly like to see the town grow and prosper. Why should not the leading business men of Chestertown form an organization that will look to the building up of the town? The centering of population is the centering of wealth. There are numerous small industries in the large cities which are looking for better and cheaper facilities in the smaller towns. Why should not Chestertown look out for this class of industries?

THIRD ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE MOORE has recently submitted a report to the State Department at Washington in the case of A. K. Cutting, an American citizen arrested in Mexico in 1886 and held by the Mexican authorities for a crime which the State Department at Washington denied to be punishable outside the United States. It will be remembered that the case at the time attracted the widest attention and threatened for a time to cause serious complications between the two countries. The suit was finally withdrawn against Cutting, and he was released. The report of Mr. Moore gives a full history of the case, with extracts from the correspondence bearing upon it. The report then takes up the discussion of all the points involved, and is a very clear and able digest of international law in so far as Learing upon international crimes. Mr. Moore is a native of Delaware and is not yet in his thirties. His report, it is said, has received the warm commendation of Mr. Bayard and has attracted general attention as an unusually able and comprehensive document.

Let the Centreville Record Go Slow.

The Centreville Record of Saturday quotes what the Transcript said last week concerning the free bridge over Chester river at Chestertown, and then comments as follows:

"There is a diversity of opinion in Queen Anne's as to investing the public funds in the bridge. If the good people of Kent desire closer business relations with the people of Queen Anne's, let the commissioners of that county buy out the stockholders and invite us of Queen Anne's to come over and trade with them without exacting a tariff charge. That seems to us to be the proper thing to do. But don't let us pay for the privilege of taking our trade to Chestertown. Better bring it to Centreville and Church Hill, where tariffs are not exacted of producers."

Our esteemed contemporary will do well to go slow in opposing the co-operation of Queen Anne's in the making of the Chester river bridge a free bridge. The people of the upper part of Queen Anne's county are thoroughly in earnest on the bridge question. It is not a Kent issue alone, it is a Queen Anne's issue as well, and a very prosperous and intelligent portion of Queen Anne's is interested in the matter. A prominent Queen Anne's citizen was in Chestertown on Saturday, and he had a petition signed with a yard and a-half of closely-written names, embracing a great number of the prominent tax-payers of the upper district of Queen Anne's county. He said that the people of the upper part of the county mean to insist that Queen Anne's county do her fair part toward making the bridge a free bridge. The Record should remember, that trade between Kent and Queen Anne's is not by any means one-sided. The Queen Anne's farmer finds here a market for his berries, vegetables, poultry, butter, eggs, &c. The home consumption of such things in Chestertown is considerable, as we have a population approximating 3,500. Even in the matter of straw, the trade in favor of Queen Anne's would be something considerable. The straw-board mill keeps eight large wagons running constantly, and they buy out the farmers' straw crop clean and clear at figures that frequently overbalance the fertilizer bill. There would undoubtedly be an increased interflow of communication, that would benefit Queen Anne's as well as Kent. The Record, we think, should be slow to oppose a matter in which a large and prosperous portion of the county is directly interested.

AT the annual banquet given by the merchants and manufacturers of Baltimore, on Thursday evening of last week, Senator Vance responded to the toast, "The effort to get rich by law." The speech was a witty and effective demonstration of some of the evils and follies of a protective tax. Senator Vance said:

"The idea never occurred to me of selecting a bank that I could trust, but one that would trust me." [Laughter.] After many witty allusions to the remarks of Mr. Thompson and Mr. Butterworth, Senator Vance continued: "I know no lawful way to get rich. It is a way I long have sought. I do not mean that there are any people in Baltimore who are trying to get rich by unlawful means. I mean that there are some people in the country who always have and always try to obtain legislation which will give them an advantage over others. Selfishness and greed are the causes of this. The history of the attempts to secure a legal advantage over one another is the history of the human race. The force of the old barbarism has yielded to chicanery, patriotism, love for the laborer and fraud. [Laughter.] All attempts to cramp human intercourse have been nefarious. We hear beautiful stories of the great increase of wealth through our restrictive measures upon trade, shipbuilding, &c. All the advantages we possess came through the tariff, but they were paid for by the consumers of manufactures. If you can show me how three men can sit down to play a game of seven-up and at the end one has won $10 and the other two haven't lost it, then I will give up the argument. I have heard a story that the three Hebrew children in the fiery furnace to pass away the time swapped knives and each made $1.50 and had the best knife. That illustrates growing rich by protection. [Laughter.] I beg you all to return from the errors of the dark ages and ignorance, and come to the times of trade absolutely free except as far as the interests of the Government are concerned."

State Legislative Notes.

Mr. White, of Wicomico, has got his eel bill in shape. It provides for the destruction of eels by the State fish commissioners and the State fishery forces. They are to employ humble labor for catching and killing eels by fish pots and other appliancies. The flesh is to be sold in market and the proceeds used for meeting the cost of killing the eels, which Mr. White says are the worst enemies of the young food fishes, including shad and herring.

***

The signers to the first temperance petition received in the Senate this session include Miss Annie Mills, Mrs. Mrry W. Merrill, Miss Winnie Scott and 125 other citizens of Pocomoke City, who ask permission "to submit to the voters of the State at the next general election a proposed amendment to the constitution of the State prohibiting the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors for beverages."

***

Mr. Percy, of Dorchester, is granted leave to introduce a bill providing for the teaching in the public schools of the elements of the form of government as existing in the United States, the State of Maryland and the counties of the State. The object of the bill is to enable pupils unable to pursue an academic or collegiate course to become familiar with the workings of the several forms of government.

***

Mr. Preston, of Harford, has introduced for the board of public works a bill to provide for the adjustment, compromise and settlement of the arrears of interest due to the State by the Susquehanna and the Tidewater Canal Companies. The bill authorizes the comptroller to adjust and settle, with the approval of the Governor and treasurer, the amount of interest due to the State, or for its benefit, by the Susquehanna Canal Company and by the Tidewater Canal Company to the first of January, 1888, under their respective bonds and mortgages, made to the State or for its benefit, and to receive from the respective companies, in compromise and full satisfaction of the claims of the State, such sums of money less the amount of interest so in arrear as may be agreed upon between the parties to be so received; and upon such payment full releases and acquittances for the interest in arrears to the date mentioned. The board of public works, or a majority of them, shall make the agreements and settlements with the canal companies, and when the amount stipulated by the companies is paid into the State treasury the bonds and mortgages shall be extended, and the board shall give full effect to the reduction of the rate of interest under the agreement. It is understood that the Reading Railroad Company, which is the lessee of the canals, is negotiating for a settlement with the board of public works by the payment of $150,000 in satisfaction of the $500,000 of overdue interest, and to fix the future rate of interest on the $1,000,000 bonded debt at two per cent.

***

The Baltimore Sun's Annapolis correspondence of Saturday, says: The joint committee on elections did not do much work on the new election law this week. Notice was given that they would hold a meeting Friday night and the House members remained over, but the Senate committee did not have a quorum. No one can forecast the shape in which the proposed bill will finally come out of committee and be passed by both houses. The county delegations are sensitive to a fault in discussing the law so far as it relates to the counties. They say the counties do not want new registration except at long intervals, and every 10 years has been a favorite idea with them, with annual revision. The party doctors are said to be much concerned about the election law case. One or two leading lawyers are said to be engaged in shaping up drafts of bills in addition to those now before the committee. The claim is made that the counties would smash either and all of the election bills that have been presented in the Legislature. All the Democrats say that a good law will be finally passed.

Death of W. Hollingsworth Whyte.

[From the Balt. Sun.]

Mr. Wm. Hollingsworth Whyte, eldest son of Attorney-General Wm. Pinkney Whyte, and a popular member of the bar of Baltimore city, died at five o'clock Saturday afternoon, at his residence, No. 20 East Preston street, of pneumonia, in the fortieth year of his age. Mr. Whyte became ill on Tuesday last during the trial of Timothy W. Seward for violation of the oleomargarine laws, in the United States District Court, and was compelled to leave court while the jury was out. He went home at once, and symptoms of acute pneumonia developed rapidly, both lungs being affected. Dr. Alan P. Smith attended him, and Thursday Dr. Wm. T. Howard was called into consultation. Dr. James Carey Thomas was called in on Friday. In spite of all that medical skill could accomplish the disease progressed, and the sufferer passed away quietly, in the presence of his father and family. Mr. Whyte was born August 30, 1848. His earlier education was received at the school of Dr. Robert Atkinson, in Baltimore. In 1865 he went to Geneva, Switzerland, where he remained about two years under the instruction of private tutors. His first employment was in the office of Gilmor, Meredith & Co., coal dealers. Later he entered his father's office as a law student, and was admitted to the bar July 3, 1871. He rapidly became prominent as a criminal lawyer and acquired a large practice. His social acquaintanceship was very wide, his genial qualities and ready wit making him a favorite, and it might be said that nearly everybody knew "Holly" Whyte, as he was familiarly called. He was a member of the Maryland Club, the Society of the Cincinnati, the Maryland Jockey Club, the Bar Association and the Manhattan Club of New York. Mr. Whyte was twice married, his first wife being Mary Gilmor, daughter of Charles S. Gilmor, of Baltimore. She presided at the Executive Mansion at Annapolis during Attorney-General Whyte's term as Governor (the elder Mrs. Whyte being an invalid), and died in April, 1880, leaving three children, Wm. Pinkney, Charles Gilmor and Mary Whyte. In June last Mr. Whyte was married to Miss Caroline Hartshorn, of West Chester, Pa.

COTTON manufacture is gravitating steadily southward, where the cotton grows. The Baltimore Manufacturers' Record publishes statistics as follows:

"The number of cotton mills south of the Ohio river, and including Maryland and Virginia, in 1880 was 179, with 713,989 spindles and 15,222 looms. On January 1, 1888, in the same territory, there were 294 mills, with 1,495,149 spindles and 34,008 looms. . . . Mills now under contract and those for which money has been secured, and upon which work will shortly be begun, and additions to plants of old mills, will require, as shown by the Record's report, 242,000 spindles and 38,800 looms."

This difference in the cotton industry distinctly indicates the advantage of cheap raw material. The closer the mill and the cotton field are together the cheaper will be the output of cotton goods. The South ought to make cotton stuffs for the whole world.

A New and Powerful Iceboat Needed.

Mr. Charles D. Fisher, president of the Board of Trade, says he has received much encouragement from the city and county members of the Legislature in reference to the proposed new iceboat to take the place of the Maryland. The city members all favor the proposition, and the county members recognize the necessity for it. The bill has been introduced by Delegate Gaither appropriating $150,000 for a new iceboat, one-half the expense to be borne by the State and one-half by the city. The old Maryland will be sold, probably for towing purposes. Experts are of the opinion that a wooden boat, sheathed in iron, is the best kind of an iceboat, and all agree that a new boat should have more power than any of the present boats. The Maryland has done good service in her time, but has grown too old. The boat was built in 1867, twenty-one years ago. She has twice been burned to the water's edge and rebuilt.—Balt. Sun.

Chinese Pheasants in Oregon.

About six years ago the experiment of stocking Oregon with Chinese pheasants was tried. A number of these beautiful birds were imported from China, and they were turned out in Lane county. At the same time a law was made protecting foreign game for a period of ten years. The success of the venture seems to be now unprecedented. The hen birds raise two big broods every year and never loose a chick. The result has been that the birds have increased in marvelous numbers. It is said that there are thousands of them in Willamette Valley, and that they destroy so much game that the farmers will attempt to have the protective law repealed this winter. The farmers say that one pheasant will destroy more wheat than four lively wild geese.—Iyyo Index.

ESTABLISHED 1846 MUNN & Co. PATENTS New York

After Forty years' experience in the preparation of more than One Hundred Thousand applications for patents in the United States and Foreign countries, the publishers of the Scientific American continue to act as solicitors for patents, caveats, trade-marks, copyrights, etc., for the United States, and to obtain patents in Canada England, France, Germany, and all other countries. Their experience is unequaled and their facilities are unsurpassed.

Drawings and specifications prepared and filed in the Patent Office on short notice. Terms very reasonable. No charge for examination of models or drawings. Advice by mail free.

Patents obtained through Munn & Co. are noticed in the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN, which has the largest circulation and is the most influential newspaper of its kind published in the world. The advantages of such a notice every patentee understands.

This large and splendidly illustrated newspaper is published WEEKLY at $3.20 a year, and is admitted to be the best paper devoted to science, mechanics, inventions, engineering works, and other departments of industrial progress, published in any country. It contains the names of all patentees and title of every invention patented each week. Try it four months for one dollar. Sold by all newsdealers.

If you have an invention to patent write to Munn & Co., publishers of Scientific American, 361 Broadway, New York.

☞Handbook about patents mailed free.

THE BALTIMORE WEEKLY SUN

THE PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

A. S. ABELL & CO., PUBLISHERS, BALTIMORE.

A. S. ABELL. GEORGE W. ABELL.
EDWIN F. ABELL. WALTER W. ABELL.

The Baltimore Weekly Sun continues to preserve its position, maintained for many years, as a model Family Newspaper. During the past year, in order to accommodate the great variety of matter seeking admission to its columns, it has been found necessary to issue a Supplement almost every week, presenting a home newspaper unequaled for freshness and variety. Its literary features are selected with discriminating taste and with special reference to the entertainment and instruction of the family circle. Its Agricultural and Veterinary Departments, edited by specialists, have been of great value to the Farmer, while its Fashion Articles, Household Recipes, etc., have continued to be a source of weekly interest and instruction to ladies. The latest news up to the hour of publication is given in its correspondence and telegraphic dispatches, while its editorials, besides discussing current events in an impartial spirit afford much wholesome advice and suggestion on social, economic and other topics. The proceedings of Congress, the Maryland and other Legislatures, the National Political Conventions and the Presidential and Congressional elections are among the important features that will be promptly and copiously presented in its columns during 1888.

Full Commercial, Financial, Cotton, Cattle Market and Stock Reports up to the hour of going to press. The Baltimore Weekly Sun, one dollar a year. Terms invariably Cash in Advance. Postage prepaid by publishers to Subscribers in the United States, Canada and Mexico.
