JUDGE GARRISON, in the Camden courts, recently gave the following instructions to the grand jury regarding the complicated system of liquor laws of New Jersey:

That an indictment may be found against any person who, after May 20, shall sell liquor in quantities of a quart or over without a wholesale license. A single sale of liquor on Sunday in cities having ordinances for the punishment of such offenses is not indictable, but habitual sales on Sunday will permit of indictment for disorderly house. Wholesalers connot permit liquor they sell to be drunk upon the premises. Liquor cannot be sold in any other place of business than that of a restaurant or tobacco shop. An indictment connot lie against a dealer for selling to minors only when he habitually so sells, or three times within six months.

RAILROAD DIRECTORS ELECTED.

Affairs Getting in Working Order.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Baltimore and Delaware Bay Railroad Company, met at the office of the general agent, J. R. Franklin, in Chestertown, Saturday, May 11, and elected the following directors for the ensuing year:

J. Rogers Maxwell, president of the New Jersey Central Road; R. W. DeForest, E. Helin, George S. Jones, S. M. Williams, F. L. Hall and J. W. Watson. F. L. Hall was elected president; George Jones, secretary and treasurer, and E. P. Stacey, superintendent. J. R. Franklin, general agent, located for the present at Chestertown.

Says a dispatch to the Baltimore Sun:

"They have a force of carpenters and from fifty to a hundred track men now at work. Mr. Bingham, Jay Gould's lawyer who was here yesterday, says the road will be completed to Tolchester Beach at an early day. The moving spirit in the new road is to all appearances, Emil Thelin, but behind him is the Central Railroad of New Jersey. Mr. Thelin has visited Smyrna several times and is meeting with the encouragement of the people in that vicinity.

"It is understood that Thelin, who is a Philadelphia merchant, has made a contract with the New Jersey road. It is proposed to spend $100,000 in repairing the road. An entire new track is to be laid, and work will be commenced May 1. The Diamond State Iron Works will furnish the iron supplies. It is expected to have the new road in running order by July 1. Fruit and passengers can then be carried from Chestertown to Boston by train from Bombay Hook, and thence by floaters to Bay Side, New Jersey, there connecting with the New Jersey Southern road, and then by way of the Central of New Jersey to New York city. It is apparent that the Jersey Central intends to make an effort to cut into the P., W. & B. freight traffic, and the new road claims that they can land fruit in New York several hours earlier than the Pennsylvania. The latest map of the New Jersey Central places the new road as one of the branches. The name of the old Bombay Hook line has not as yet been changed."

Two new coaches have been received, 10,000 ties purchased and 1000 tons of steel rails received on the road.

TRUSTS AND THE LAW.

The Great Economic Question Reported Upon.

ALBANY, N.Y.—The Senate committee on general laws, to which was entrusted the investigation into the various trusts in the State, have reported to the Senate. The Republican members of the committee (four in number) make the majority report and the three Democratic members the minority report. An immense amount of testimony was taken, mainly with regard to the following trusts: Copper, sugar, jute bagging, milk, elevator and wholesale grocers. The majority say these trusts were all formed for the purpose of regulating the price and production of certain commodities, and in some cases in total disregard to law. They therefore call the attention of the attorney-general to the facts. Several of the trusts are described as simply "corners" and combinations.

POPULAR ALARM.

The majority say: "Whether these forces can exist in the State, unrestricted by the legislative enactment and subject only to those natural laws which govern commercial intercourse among men, without danger to the interests of the people or the existence of the State itself, is the greatest economic question of the time. Certain it is that no peaceful device, invention or discovery ever occasioned greater alarm or anxiety on the part of the people of the State and nation than the subjects of this inquiry, the combinations commonly known as trusts.

EFFECTS OF COMPETITION.

"Whoever has studied this question must have learned that competition, which is called 'the life of trade,' is not without its evils, and that combination, which is commonly considered its antithesis, is not without its advantages. The aid of laws for the prevention of trusts is usually invoked to protect the weak individual against the strong combination, and yet every day in the world of commerce the weak individual is overcome by his strong competitor, who has more money, better credit, and other greater advantages than he.

CAUSE OF TRUSTS.

"That combination is the natural result of excessive competition there can be no doubt. The history of the copper trust or synidcate, the sugar trust, the Standard Oil trust, the American Cotton Oil trust, the combination of railroads to fix the rates of freight and passenger transportation, all prove beyond question or dispute that combination grows out of and is a natural development of competition, and that in many cases it is the only means left to the competitor to escape absolute ruin. The laws against combinations were abolished in England in 1844. It is claimed, with some degree of assurance, that there are still misdemeanors in this State."

LIBERTY OF CONTRACT.

The majority quote history to show that public policy justifies and requires the [illegible]est liberty of contract with the law, un[illegible] legislative and judicial interfer[illegible]. Combinations to regu[illegible] the necessaries of life are [illegible] the recent utter fail[illegible] is referred to as [illegible] that trusts are no[illegible]ssful in all the[illegible]

[illegible]Y PLAN.

[illegible]clusion, frankly [illegible] which is a new [illegible]known principle, [illegible]uld be repressed [illegible]aw, they do not believe it is of necessity a monopoly nor inconsistent with the public advantage within certain reasonable limitations; that every combination in trade has greater power either for good or evil than the individual members of which it is composed; that its power to fix prices or so unduly increase them is indeed greater, but that the danger arising from its exercise is greatly lessened by the inventions and discoveries of this age; that steam and electricity are factors of the greatest consequence in the adjustment of wrongs and differences which in former times would have been without a remedy; that the new elements on which the principle of combination seizes are balanced and offset by other and, if possible, more powerful forces of modern civilization, and that, as a general rule, society can rely upon these opposing elements and compensations to keep the peace between it and the conflicting interests and influences of the world of trade, no matter how great their interests and influences may be, and that such balancing forces are far more potent to that end than any arbitrary rules of legislative enactment.

COMBINATIONS AMONG LABORERS.

Combination among laborers or the right to unite for protection is a principle justly recognized by law. The limits within which such rights may be exercised are plainly designated, and sharp penalties are prescribed for all who overstep them. The principles upon which such rights were formerly denied bear a remarkable resemblance to those which are now urged to deny absolutely the right of combination to capital.

THE DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE.

The members of the minority concur in many of the propositions contained in the foregoing report, and acquiesce in the result to this extent: We are of the opinion that at the present time it is almost impossible to obtain any legislation more favorable to the interests of the people than is the common law, as the same was declared by Judge Barnett in his opinion in the action brought by the attorney-general against the North River Sugar Refining Company. The decision in that case stands unreversed and may be assumed to be the law of this State. If it shall be affirmed by the appellate courts the investigation with which the committee on general laws was charged will have borne ample fruits to constitute its justification.

GOVERNMENTAL RESTRAINT NECESSARY.

We cannot ascribe to the doctrine that gigantic combinations of capital, constituting virtual monopolies in dealing with the necessaries of life, and exercising corporate powers without being subject to the governmental restraints ordinarily imposed on corporations, and harmless or beneficent, nor to the proposition that it is safe to trust entirely to the corrective action of time and the law of supply and demand to eradicate the abuses incident to such colossal combinations of money and power. While the copper syndicate succumbed to weakness inherent in the instrument by it was formed, the Standard Oil trust has thrived and grown great under the manipulations of the extraordinary talent by which it has been controlled.

TRUSTS DESTROY COMPETITION.

Although for one cause and another minor attempts to form trusts have proved abortive the Sugar Refineries Company contests inch by inch the power of the State to attack illegitimate combinations, and the powerful associated elevator interests deny the right and defy the authority of courts and legislatures alike in attemps to make and enforce reasonable regulations of commerce. The trusts succeed where destruction of competition is possible; it fails of its purpose and bows to natural laws when the purses or the skill of its rivals or enemies prove superior to its own.

Fast Trains to Chicago via B. & O.

Under the summer schedule taking effect May 12, the B. & O. R. R. Co. places in service a new fast express train to Chicago. This train will leave Baltimore at 8.00 P. M. daily, Washington at 9.00 P. M. and reaching Chicago the next evening at 9.40. The entire train, Baggage Cars, Coaches and Pullman Sleepers, will run through to Chicago without change via Grafton. Breakfast will be taken in Dining Car as the train approaches the Ohio river; dinner in Dining Hall at Chicago Junction and supper in Dining Car on Chicago Division.

The Chicago Vestibuled Limited will leave Baltimore at 10.20 A. M. daily, Washington at 11.20 A. M. and arrive Chicago the next morning at 10.55. All cars on the Limited are Vestibuled, including Baggage Cars, Day Coaches, Pullman Sleepers and Dining Car. Dinner is served between Washington and Martinsburg; supper in Dining Hall at Grafton and breakfast in Dining Car as train approaches Chicago.

The vestibule appliance effectually prevents the swaying motion imparted to ordinary trains in rounding curves and, as the Limited passes over the mountain division of the line in daylight, travelers can enjoy the beautiful scenery for which picturesque B. & O. is famed, without suffering the slightest discomfort or fear of mal de mer.

Don't Be a Clam

In this day of money scarcity—when one silver dollar appears as large as a cart-wheel—it becomes a necessity as well as good business to place that dollar with the merchant who offers the best inducements. 2. DIRECT HITCH. A perfectly simple device for keeping the teeth uniformly deep in heavy and light soils. No springs, no clap trap devices to break and wear out.
3. SIMPLICITY. Simplest in construction—entirely free from cumbersome appliances, which in other makes require a farmer to keep a machine shop to repair. Any change can be made with a wrench.
4. ADJUSTABILITY. Can be instantly adjusted for width, for depth, for furrowing, a Harrow, a Plow, a Cultivator, a Double Shovel or a Marker in five minutes. Widest range of adjustment, and all with a wrench.
5. DURABILITY. Steel axle, tempered steel plates, malleable, high grade bar iron, seasoned lumber. Will last a life time. Strongest cultivator made and lightest.
6. WORK. Tills both sides of row at once and does it better than it can be done by hand. The highest kind of cultivation. It don't scratch, it pulverizes. As a plow it cannot be excelled.

D. M. OSBORN'S

BINDER AND MOWER!

are Standard Machines, which are fully up to the times. The Huber Engine and Thresher is a new departure in threshing machines. Saving at least one-half the fuel and water necessary to work the old style fire-box engines, besides a perfect traction, and will pass over soft ground without burying, making them the coming engine. I will personally attend to all these goods, and guarantee them to fill the bill.

Thanking you for past favors, solicit a fair share of your patronage.
