HARBORPLACE

Listening Pleasure

Soon there will be a new suburban Washington radio station that will play non-stop comedy: anything from Bill Cosby, George Carlin or Richard Pryor to The Smothers Brothers, Bob Hope, or Flip Wilson.

WJOK, with a logo that has a red-nosed W.C. Fields poking his face out of the "O" in the call letters, also will have news and traffic reports. But otherwise disc jockeys will just try to keep listeners laughing.

"Comedy is therapeutic," said operations manager Ron Lewis. "When you're sitting in traffic on the beltway and you're hot and sweaty, just punch up 'the funny button' and we'll make the drive more enjoyable."

Cobbins, 52, who spent most of his career in radio advertising, said he got the idea for all-comedy radio about 18 years ago when he heard of a pay telephone service called "Dial-A-Joke." "I had a feeling that if they were willing to pay for it, they might listen to it," he said.

Cobbins and Lewis said an all-comedy format has never been tried, but that other stations already have expressed interest in WJOK syndications if the new programming proves successful. "There are a lot of failing AM stations just looking for a new format," said Lewis.

WJOK has a collection of more than 8,000 comedy recordings, the oldest dating back to an Edison Cylinder, circa 1890. The station even hired a "Discographer" to find out-of-print or obscure comedy recordings. It also plans to broadcast comedy taped at local clubs.

Cobbins said he already has sold about $500,000 in advertising and hopes to do about $1 million of business the first year.

He readily admits advertising sales will be the true measure of WJOK's all-comedy format. That may explain why the floor tiles in the station's restroom spell out the word "sell!"

To Cobbins and the rest of the WJOK staff, that's not a joke.

Can Blacks Fly Planes? Lt. Andrew D. Marshall (above), a Tuskegee Airman, was shot down over Greece. He miraculuosly evaded evaded Nazi troops after being hidden by the Greeks. The exploits of Black fighter pilots during WWII are chronicled on "The Black Eagles", a four-part Black History Month tribute to America's only Black Air Force. The program opens with the question: "Why is the story of the Tuskegee Airmen not in the history books?" Blacks at the beginning of WWII, one report concluded, were racially inferior and unable to master technical pursuits such as flying airplanes. TONY BROWN'S JOURNAL, the top-ranked and longest running national Black Affairs television series, has been funded by Pepsi-Cola Company for eight consecutive weeks. Check the following listing for correct day, time and channel.
